One Night Cathy Winkler, 2002-05-07 One night anthropologist Cathy Winkler awoke from a deep sleep to discover a rapist standing by her bed For the rest of that night she lived a woman's worst nightmare as she was repeatedly raped and beaten by the stranger The event changed her life into something resembling a Kafka novel a justice system that bungled the case then blamed the victim a social service system that provided no services or comfort uneasy and awkward friends exploitative media and insensitive university administrators and colleagues The pain of those four hours was dwarfed by the frustration of her decade long fight to find the rapist and bring him to justice ultimately through one of the first successful uses of DNA evidence in a rape case Winkler a brilliant observer and ethnographer chronicles this struggle here including her own growing awareness of her power to stare down district attorneys to use the media to her own ends including segments on 48 Hours and Court TV and ultimately through her persistence to put the rapist behind bars for life As a story of triumph over adversity One Night is an inspirational work And it provides a model of how researchers can turn the lens inward and incisively examine ourselves and our own world

Justice for 1971 War Rapes Tureen Afroz,2022-07-11 The history of 1971 Bangladesh War of Liberation accords the mass rape of Bangladeshi women by the Pakistan Army and their local collaborators After about 40 years of the Liberation War the matter of rape of the Bangladeshi women was brought under litigation to a certain extent in the International Crimes Tribunal of Bangladesh ICT BD However the issue of justice for the rape victims of the 1971 Bangladesh War of Liberation still lacks comprehensive social and legal attention A question remained very much unexplored as to whether legal justice through trials essentially ensures social justice for the war rape victims of Bangladesh It thus remains an unspoken narrative in Bangladesh in respect of how the war rape victims actually perceive justice Another question that arises in this regard is whether complete justice is being done in the course of ensuring legal justice to war rape victims It may be mentioned that no systematic and or comprehensive research has been conducted so far on this subject This research would endeavor to get an account from 385 Bangladeshi war rape victims and their families about the socio legal aspects of the long awaited justice
