Out of the Twilight Andrew Gottlieb, 2014-07-16 How would you react if your son told you he was gay? Out of the Twilight: Fathers of Gay Men Speak explores how fathers have dealt with discovering that their sons were gay and what effect it had on their own development as parents and people. This revealing, moving book will help you understand the difficulties and joys of a father-son relationship. Out of the Twilight draws from literary sources such as poems, fairy tales, plays, novels and movies as well as psychoanalytic theories to highlight the obstacles that a father must overcome to understand and identify with his son. In Out of the Twilight, you will discover the personal and intimate struggles of these fathers, including Mitchell whose son Jay came out at the age of twenty-one and who describes the coming-out process as a means of forging a closer father-son relationship; Juan Miguel who knew and accepted that his son was gay before his son told him and who discusses how his love and complete acceptance made the coming-out process easier for his son; Peter whose response to his son Richard was ordering him to live at home so the family could look for a cure for Richard's homosexuality; Daniel who admitted that he himself was gay after being married and who was very accepting when his son Charles came out since it provided them with a special bond; Marty whose response to his son Gary's coming out was to join PFLAG, an organization for parents of gay and lesbian children so he could find support and acceptance among other parents who were going through the same thing. Out of the Twilight allows you to see how fathers diligently to make our partnerships sound nurturing and enduring We've done this without any social innovation largely without role models in the face of official disapproval or contempt We've told our stories here to refute by the simple facts of our experience the grotesque misrepresentation of gays as being incapable of stable committed relationships From Drag Queens to Leathermen Rusty Barrett, 2017-06-01 This book examines gendered language use in six gay male subcultures: drag queens, radical faeries, bears, circuit boys, barebackers, and leathermen. Within each subculture, unique patterns of language use challenge normative assumptions about gender and sexual identity. Rusty Barrett's analyses of these subcultures emphasize the ways in which gay male constructions of gender are intimately linked to other forms of social difference. In From Drag Queens to Leathermen, Barrett presents an extension of his earlier work among African American drag queens in the 1990s, emphasizing the intersections of race and class in the construction of gender. An analysis of sacred music among radical faeries considers the ways in which expressions of gender are embedded in a broader neo-pagan religious identity. The formation of bear as an identity category for heavyset and hairy men in the late 1980s involves the appropriation of linguistic stereotypes of rural Southern masculinity. Among regular attendees of circuit parties, language serves to differentiate gay and straight forms of masculinity. In the early 2000s, barebackers, gay men who eschew condoms, used language to position themselves as rational risk takers with an innate desire for semen. For participants in the International Mr. Leather contest, a disciplined militaristic masculinity links expressions of patriotism with BDSM sexual practice. In all of these groups, the construction of gendered identity involves combining linguistic forms that would usually not co-occur. These unexpected combinations serve as the foundation for the emergence of unique subcultural expressions of gay male identity explicated at length in this book.
