Rational Landscapes and Humanistic Geography Edward Relph,2015-07-30 This book first published in 1981 explores why it is that the modern built environment while successfully providing material comfort and technical efficiency none the less breeds despair and depression rather than inspires hope and commitment The source of this paradox where material benefits appear to have been gained only at the expense of intangible values and qualities is found in humanism the persistent and powerful belief that all problems can be solved through the use of human reason But humanism has become increasingly confused rationalistic callously devoted to efficiency and authoritarian These confusions and contradictions together with the anti nature stance of humanism and its failure to teach humane behaviour lead the author to conclude that humanism is best rejected Such rejection does not advocate the inhuman and anti human but requires instead a return to the humility that lies at the origin of humanism a respect for objects creatures environments and people This environmental humility is explored in the context of individuality of settings ways of seeing landscapes appropriation and ways of building places This title will be of interest to students of human geography

The Rise of Animals and Descent of Man, 1660-1800 John Morillo, 2017-11-22 The Rise of Animals and the Descent of Man illuminates compelling historical connections between a current fascination with animal life and the promotion of the moral status of non human animals as ethical subjects deserving our attention and respect and a deep interest in the animal as agent in eighteenth century literate culture It explores how writers including well known poets important authors who mixed art and science and largely forgotten writers of sermons and children s stories all offered innovative alternatives to conventional narratives about the meaning of animals in early modern Europe They question Descartes claim that animals are essentially soulless machines incapable of thought or feelings British writers from 1660 1800 remain informed by Cartesianism but often counter it by recognizing that feelings are as important as reason when it comes to defining animal life and its relation to human life This British line of thought deviates from Descartes by focusing on fine feeling as a register of moral life empowered by sensibility and sympathy but this very stance is complicated by cultural fears that too much kindness to animals can entail too much kinship with them fears made famous in the later reaction to Darwinian evolution The Rise of Animals uncovers ideological tensions between sympathy for animals and a need to defend the special status of humans from the rapidly developing Darwinian perspective The writers it examines engage in complex negotiations with sensibility and a wide range of philosophical and theological traditions Their work anticipates posthumanist thought and the challenges it poses to traditional humanist values within the humanities and beyond The Rise of Animals is a sophisticated intellectual history of the origins of our changing attitudes about animals that at the same time illuminates major currents of eighteenth century British literary culture

Provincializing Europe Dipesh Chakrabarty, 2009-06-05 First published in 2000 Dipesh Chakrabarty s influential Provincializing Europe addresses the mythical figure of Europe that is often taken to be the original site of modernity in many histories of capitalist transition in non Western countries This imaginary Europe Dipesh Chakrabarty argues is built into the social sciences The very idea of historicizing carries with it some peculiarly European assumptions about disenchanted space secular time and sovereignty Measured against such mythical standards capitalist transition in the third world has often seemed either incomplete or lacking Provincializing Europe proposes that every case of transition to capitalism is a case of translation as well a translation of existing worlds and their thought categories into the categories and self understandings of capitalist modernity Now featuring a new preface in which Chakrabarty responds to his critics this book globalizes European thought by exploring how it may be renewed both for and from the margins

Islam in Global Politics Bassam Tibi, 2012-03-12 Reaching beyond traditionally politicised scholarship to provide a unique perspective on the place of religion and culture in global and local politics this book examines the impact of Islam on civilizational relations between different groups and polities Bassam Tibi takes a highly original approach to the topic of religion in world politics exploring the place of Islam in society and its frequent distortion in world politics to the more radical Islamism Looking at how this becomes an immediate source of tension and conflict between the secular and the religious Tibi rejects the clash of civilizations theory and argues for the revival of Islamic humanism to help bridge the gap Chapters expand on inter civilizational conflict in global politics dialogue between religious and secular East and West western concepts of Islamism euro Islam and the Islamic diaspora in Europe Islamic humanism as a tool for bridging civilizations Shedding new light on the highly topical subject of Islam in politics and society this book is an essential read for scholars and students of international politics Islamic studies and conflict resolution      Guardians of the Humanist Legacy: The Classicism of T.S. Eliot's Criterion Network and its Relevance to our Postmodern World Jeroen Vanheste, 2007-07-30 In recent scholarly work T S Eliot has usually been associated with cultural elitism and political conservatism or even with proto fascism and anti Semitism This book proposes a different view During the Interbellum Eliot and his review The Criterion were part of an international network of intellectuals that shared an open minded Europeanness Authors like T Mann Benda Ortega y Gasset Curtius and Hofmannsthal emphasized their common European roots and shared cultural legacy Their classicism stands in the European tradition of humanism and has remained highly relevant Classicist ideas about literature education and human culture in general continue to inspire contemporary humanist thinkers as the second part of this book demonstrates by discussing the work of Ferry Todorov Steiner Scruton Toulmin and others      Cultural Self-comprehension of Nations Hans Köchler, 1978
