The Dog Linda P. Case, 2023-03-09. The Dog: In-depth coverage of canine domestication, breeding behavior, and cognition, training, health care, and nutrition. Now in its third edition, The Dog remains a definitive textbook regarding dogs and their care, written in clear, accessible language. The text provides updated and expanded coverage of selective breeding, training principles, solutions to common behavior problems, diet and nutrition, and preventive health care. New sections in this edition include information about dog breeds and selective breeding practices, genetic testing programs, canine social cognition and communication, manners training, and common behavior problems. Popular dog sports and new information regarding health care and disease prevention. Enhanced with distinctive figures and tables, the text provides current references, suggested readings, updated tables and references, and a thorough glossary to aid in comprehension. In The Dog, readers can expect to find detailed information about Canine behavior, reward-based approaches to training, health care, and disease prevention, new information about pet foods and nutrition, and a review of research regarding the unique social cognition of the domestic dog. Breed-specific diseases and their genetic testing, canine infectious viruses, and atopic disease and new vaccines and vaccination schedules. Interspecies communications between dogs and humans, prevention and management of common behavior problems in dogs, and pet food selection and recommended feeding practices. More detailed and comprehensive than many other dog books, The Dog is an indispensable tool for veterinarians, veterinary technicians, trainers, behaviorists, breeders, animal shelter and rescue group staff, and dog owners. Academically, The Dog is a useful textbook for second or third year students who have completed at least one college-level biology course.

Innovative Food Processing Technologies, 2020-08-18. Food process engineering, a branch of both food science and chemical engineering, has evolved over the years since its inception and still is a rapidly changing discipline. While traditionally the main objective of food process engineering was preservation and stabilization, the focus today has shifted to enhance health aspects, flavour, and taste, nutrition, sustainable production, food security, and also to ensure more diversity for the increasing demand of consumers. The food industry is becoming increasingly competitive and dynamic and strives to develop high-quality, freshly prepared food products. To achieve this objective, food manufacturers are today presented with a growing array of new technologies that have the potential to improve or replace conventional processing technologies to deliver higher quality and better consumer-targeted food products which meet many, if not all, of the demands of the modern consumer. These new or innovative technologies are in various stages of development, including some still at the R & D stage and others that have been commercialised as alternatives to conventional processing technologies. Food process engineering comprises a series of unit operations traditionally applied in the food industry. One major component of these operations relates to the application of heat, directly or indirectly, to provide foods free from pathogenic microorganisms but also to enhance or intensify other processes such as extraction separation or modification of components The last three decades have also witnessed the advent and adaptation of several operations processes and techniques aimed at producing high quality foods with minimum alteration of sensory and nutritive properties Some of these innovative technologies have significantly reduced the thermal component in food processing offering alternative nonthermal methods Food Processing Technologies A Comprehensive Review Three Volume Set covers the latest advances in innovative and nonthermal processing such as high pressure pulsed electric fields radiofrequency high intensity pulsed light ultrasound irradiation and new hurdle technology Each section will have an introductory article covering the basic principles and applications of each technology and in depth articles covering the currently available equipment and or the current state of development food quality and safety application to various sectors food laws and regulations consumer acceptance advancements and future scope It will also contain case studies and examples to illustrate state of the art applications Each section will serve as an excellent reference to food industry professionals involved in the processing of a wide range of food categories e g meat seafood beverage dairy eggs fruits and vegetable products spices herbs among others
