Ensminger, 2011-06-16 Visual Vitriol The Street Art and Subcultures of the Punk and Hardcore Generation is a vibrant in depth and visually appealing history of punk which reveals punk concert flyers as urban folk art David Ensminger exposes the movement's deeply participatory street art including flyers stencils and graffiti This discovery leads him to an examination of the often overlooked presence of African Americans Latinos women and gays and lesbians who have widely impacted the worldviews and music of this subculture Then Ensminger the former editor of fanzine Left of the Dial looks at how mainstream and punk media shape the public's outlook on the music's history and significance Often derided as litter or a nuisance punk posters have been called instant art Xerox art or DIY street art For marginalized communities they carve out spaces for resistance Made by hand in a vernacular tradition this art highlights deep seated tendencies among musicians and fans Instead of presenting punk as a predominately middle class white male phenomenon the book describes a convergence culture that mixes people gender and sexualities

Contemporary ,2003 Art vs. TV Francesco Spampinato,2021-12-02 While highlighting the prevailing role of television in Western societies Art vs TV maps and condenses a comprehensive history of the relationships of art and television With a particular focus on the link between reality and representation Francesco Spampinato analyzes video art works installations performances interventions and television programs made by contemporary artists as forms of resistance to and appropriation and parody of mainstream television The artists discussed belong to different generations those that emerged in the 1960s in association with art movements such as Pop Art Fluxus and Happening and those appearing on the scene in the 1980s whose work aimed at deconstructing media representation in line with postmodernist theories to those arriving in the 2000s an era in which through reality shows and the Internet anybody could potentially become a media personality and finally those active in the 2010s whose work reflects on how old media like television has definitively vaporized through the electronic highways of cyberspace These works and phenomena elicit a tension between art and television exposing an incongruence an impossibility not only to converge but at the very least to open up a dialogical exchange The Fader ,2002
