Scott Norton, 2015-12-31 The primary focus of the book is to emphasize the major changes in the leadership responsibilities of the school principal and to underscore the necessity for them to gain new knowledge and skills in order to direct their leadership toward meeting the new changes in school community goals and objectives M Scott Norton emphasizes the fact that contemporary issues and problems must be viewed as symptoms of change The symptoms represent administrative tasks that must be attacked by implementing the primary reason that the school principal is hired that of leading on going change The leader s responsibility focuses on school purposes as set forth in a viable school mission statement The school s mission statement that all too often is set forth as a public relations perspective must instead set forth answers to questions such as What is our purpose Why does our school exist What is our reason for being here How do we meet the on going changes that face us educationally The leadership of the school principal attacks the symptoms of change by collaborating with the school s faculty to set forth a mission to which all members can commit Collaboration infers a unification of members commitments toward the primary purposes of the school Collaboration and opportunities to confer on an on going basis are established Although the school principal s hands are often tied by such factors as lack of resources underfunded unfunded mandates inability to hire and retain highly qualified personnel and constantly changing program requirements related to student testing and teacher performance evaluation this book places emphasis on the principal s need to become a visionary change agent in order to attack the ever changing symptoms of educational change     Reinventing Work Martin Reeves, Deborah Lovich, 2024-10-21 Organizations often declare that their biggest asset is their people As such business leaders make constant efforts to hire the best talent and to get the best out of their workers But a confluence of forces is reshaping all aspects of talent management A war for talent rages and will be exacerbated in the long term by demographic aging the half life of skills is decreasing as AI powers more parts of business workflows flexible and hybrid work models are becoming commonplace and management methods focused on measurement and efficiency are not sufficient for engaging a purpose seeking generation In these turbulent times CEOs and their entire teams not just HR need to rethink how they can create a people advantage going beyond traditional approaches to organization performance management and compensation This book a collection of recent essays written by researchers at the BCG Henderson Institute Boston Consulting Group s think tank aims to help leaders to reinvent work by providing a forward looking perspective on all aspects of talent management Across five chapters the book discusses How to attract the talent of the future How to shape the workforce in an evolving context How to embrace new models of work How to build the workplace of the future How to establish new models of leadership and culture By providing a combination of new ideas real world examples and concrete recommendations Reinventing Work serves as a guide for leaders to effectively navigate the changing nature of work     Reinventing HRM Ronald J. organizational scholar Edward Lawler identifies a comprehensive and integrated set of talent management practices that fit today's rapidly evolving workplace. The world of work has changed dramatically, says Lawler. Organizations now operate in a global environment. New technologies continue to disrupt how, when, and where work is done and should be managed. The workforce is becoming more diverse. Sustainability has joined profitability as a key business goal. All of this has dramatically accelerated the pace of change, making recruiting the best talent not simply filling positions an overriding concern. But too many organizations still use a job-based bureaucratic talent management approach that doesn't take into account how the world has changed. Indeed, a recent study showed that from 1995 to 2016 there was no significant change in the way HR spends its time. Lawler says that talent management has to be reinvented. It needs to be closely linked to the organization's overall strategy. Recruitment and talent management should be driven by the skills and competencies the organization needs for long-term growth. This means talent management requires agile systems that can respond quickly to changing conditions and that take a more individualized approach to evaluating and rewarding performance. And everything talent management does has to be based on evidence, not tradition. Lawler looks at attracting, selecting, developing, rewarding, managing, and organizing talent through this new lens. In today's world, organizations have to constantly reinvent themselves, and talent management must do the same.
