Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1974 Thinking and Learning through Children's Literature Miriam G. Martinez, Junko Yokota, Charles Temple, 2017-04-18 Much of teachers attention these days is focused on having students read closely to ferret out the author's intended meaning and the devices used to convey that meaning. But we cannot forget to guide students to have moving engagements with literature because they need to make strong personal connections to books of merit if they are to become the next generation of readers: literate people with awareness of and concern for the diversity of human beings around them and in different times and places. Fortunately, guiding both students' personal engagement with literature and their close reading to appreciate the author's message and craft are not incompatible goals. This book enthusiastically and intelligently addresses both imperatives: first surveying what is gained when students are immersed in literature, then celebrating and explicating the main features of literature students need to understand to broaden their tastes and deepen their engagement at the same time they meet external standards, then presenting a host of active methods for exploring all major genres of children's books and finally presenting suggestions for interdisciplinary teaching units grounded in literature. Created by noted leaders in the fields of children's literature and literacy, the book is enlivened by recurring features such as suggested reading lists, issues for discussion, links to technology, and annotations of exemplary books.

Smart Play Smart Toys Stevanne Auerbach, 2006-07. We've all heard of IQ, but do you know your child's PQ or Play Quotient? A child's ability to play does more than provide for fun and diversion; it is critical for his or her emotional and intellectual growth and teaches everything from social skills to analytical thinking. For the developing mind of a child, learning to play is paramount, but is your child getting the most out of playtime? Stevanne Auerbach, Ph.D., more affectionately known as Dr. Toy, has dedicated a lifetime to the importance of play and gives you specific advice on which toys to buy and what kind of games to play to empower your child's overall development. You'll learn how to become your child's play tutor, how play can strengthen maturity levels and confidence, the pros, cons, and facts of gender-specific toys, guidance for the gifted and special needs child, plus practical advice on evaluating a toy's safety, learning which toy manufacturers Dr. Toy recommends, craft supplies you should always have on hand, Dr. Toy's 100 Best Children's Products, and many more invaluable ways to make
