Migration And The New Europe:

Migration and Welfare in the New Europe Emma Carmel, Alfio Cerami, Theodoros Papadopoulos, 2012 Providing innovative insights this book moves the debate on migration and integration policies in the enlarged European Union and its member states onto new terrain

Polish Migration to the UK in the 'New' European Union Kathy Burrell, 2016-04-22 Since the 2004 enlargement of the European Union over half a million Polish migrants have registered to work in the United Kingdom constituting one of the largest migration movements in contemporary Europe Drawing on research undertaken across a wide range of disciplines history economics sociology anthropology film studies and discourse analysis and focusing on both the Polish and British aspects of this phenomenon both emigration and immigration this edited collection investigates what is actually new about this migration flow what its causes and consequences are and how these migrants lives have changed by moving to the United Kingdom As the first book to deal with Polish migration to the United Kingdom Polish Migration to the UK in the New European Union will appeal to scholars across a range of social sciences whose work concerns migration and the migration process

Immigration and Politics in the New Europe Gallya Lahav, 2004-04-22 With almost a quarter of the world's migrants Europe has been attempting to regulate migration and harmonize immigration policy at the European level The central dilemma exposed is how liberal democracies can reconcile the need to control the movement of people with the desire to promote open borders free markets and liberal standards Gallya Lahav's book traces ten years of public opinion and elite attitudes toward immigration cross nationally to show how and why increasing EU integration may not necessarily lead to more open immigration outcomes Empirical evidence reveals that support from both elite and public opinion has led to the adoption of restrictive immigration policies despite the requirements of open borders Unique in bringing together original data on European legislators and national elites longitudinal data on public opinion and institutional and policy analyses this 2004 study provides an important insight into the processes of European integration and globalization more broadly

The New European Frontiers Milan Bufon, Julian Minghi, Anssi Paasi, 2014-04-11 This book offers a substantial and up dated discussion and presentation of the new European frontiers related to complex and controversial social and spatial re integration issues in multicultural and border regions It represents an inter disciplinary endeavour from human geographers social and political scientists and linguists to understand and interpret the current developments of the European unity in diversity paradigm based on simultaneous and continuous processes of social and spatial convergence and divergence changing territorialities and identities particularly in the wider EU's inner and outer border regions These studies convincingly display the prominence of context in understanding the regional and local geo histories and in making sense of the meanings of borders for social communities and wider societies They also show how re integration potentials of border and multicultural regions are strongly dependent on the creation of a viable multi level social and spatial planning and cooperation system within which both conflict to harmony processes and common cause behaviours and practices may become effective and thus give a new role to local communities in the numerous borderlands across Europe The book offers both a synthesis of current theoretical methodological approaches and an analysis of selected case studies provided by internationally acknowledged scholars It represents a valuable instrument for researchers and students of social and spatial integration human and political geographers social anthropologists and social and political scientists as well as language planners

Migration in the New Europe A. Górný,P. Ruspini,2004-09-21 Migration in the New Europe East West Revisited responds to demand for a study on migration and policy developments in the light of European Union enlargement The innovative character of the book is its approach to the emerging European migration space The editors argue that the concept of a common European migration space will replace the traditional division into East and West because of two simultaneous processes The ongoing European Union enlargement and the creation of a common European Union immigration policy

Shaping the New Europe M. Landesmann,D. Rosati,2004-04-30 This volume brings together contributions on the major economic policy issues which have opened up as a result of the immanent process of European Union Enlargement The issues analyzed range from modelling and analyzing the costs and benefits of enlargement to challenges for macroeconomic policy both at the EU level and in the new member countries to the state of affairs in the new member countries with respect to sectoral policy reforms such as those undertaken in the financial sector and in competition policy and the impact of enlargement on Europe's trade policy agenda

Tourism in the New Europe Derek R. Hall,Melanie K. Smith,Barbara Marciszewska,2006-01-01 This book examines the implications of EU enlargement for tourism in the region It provides a country by country examination of each of the new member states in terms of their current patterns and trends of tourism development and the impacts of EU accession on them Topics include historical trajectories of the European tourism development process new structural and geographical patterns of European tourism the politics of EU enlargement and implications for tourism policy regional national and local economic development trends social and cultural implications of transition and accession tourism education in the new Europe and the marketing and re branding of accession countries

Citizenship Policies in the New Europe Rainer Bauböck,Bernhard Perchinig,Wiebke Sievers,2005-10-01 The two most recent EU enlargements in May 2004 and in January 2007 have greatly increased the diversity of historic experiences and contemporary conceptions of statehood nation building and citizenship within the Union How did newly formed states determine who would become their citizens How do countries relate to their large emigrant communities to ethnic kin minorities in neighbouring countries and to minorities in their own territory And to which extent have their citizenship policies been affected by new immigration and integration into the European Union Citizenship Policies in the New Europe describes the citizenship laws in each of the twelve new countries as well as in the accession states Croatia and Turkey and analyses their historical background Citizenship Policies in the New Europe complements two volumes on Acquisition and Loss of Nationality in the fifteen old Member States published in the same series in 2006

Social Forces in the Making of the New Europe Andreas Bieler, 2001-06-26 The main argument of this book is that the revival of European integration in the mid 1980s and the emergence of a New Europe have to be analyzed against the background of globalization and the transnational restructuring of social forces since the early 1970s and Migration in Europe Dragana Avramov, R. L. Cliquet, 2005

Integrated Policies on Gender Relations, Ageing

Migration and Religion in Europe Ester

Gallo, 2016-04-22 Religious practices and their transformation are crucial elements of migrants' identities and are increasingly politicized by national governments in the light of perceived threats to national identity. As new immigrant flows shape religious pluralism in Europe, longstanding relations between the State and Church are challenged together with majority faith traditions and societies' ways of representing and perceiving themselves. With attention to variations according to national setting, this volume explores the process of reformulating religious identities and practices amongst South Asian communities in European contexts. Presenting a wide range of ethnographies including studies of Hinduism, Sikhism, Jainism and Islam amongst migrant communities in contexts as diverse as Norway, Italy, the UK, France and Portugal, Migration and Religion in Europe sheds light on the meaning of religious practices to diasporic communities. It examines the manner in which such practices can be used by migrants and local societies to produce distance or proximity as well as their political significance in various host nations. Offering insights into the affirmation of national identities and cultures and the implications of this for governance and political discourse within Europe, this book will appeal to scholars with interests in anthropology, religion and society, migration, transnationalism and gender.

Gender, Economy and Culture in the European Union Simon Duncan, Birgit Pfau-Effinger, 2012-09-10 Providing a comprehensive analysis of comparative gender difference in the EU, this book addresses a spectrum of gender issues. From employment and households to culture, sexuality and male violence, the book transcends any economy/culture divide. This wide coverage is placed within a conceptual view of structured gender cultures which vary spatially and historically. Individual chapters are written around this common theme by an expert board of international contributors drawn from a variety of intellectual and disciplinary backgrounds, allowing the reader to compare between chapters and read across them.

The Ashgate Research Companion to Migration Law, Theory and Policy Satvinder S. Juss, 2016-03-23 The Ashgate Research Companion to Migration Law: Theory and Policy complements the already successful Ashgate series Law Migration established in 2006, which now has a number of well-regarded monographs to its credit. The purpose of this Companion is to augment that series by taking stock of the current state of literature on migration law, theory and policy and to sketch out the contours of its future long-term development in what is now a vastly expanded research agenda. The Companion provides readers with a definitive and dependable state-of-the-art review of current research in each of the chosen areas that is all-embracing and all-inclusive of its subject matter. The chapters focus on the regional and the sub-regional as well as the national and the global. In so doing, they aim to give a snapshot that is contextual, coherent and comprehensive. The contributors are both world-renowned scholars and newer voices.

and include scholars practitioners former judges and researchers and policy makers who are currently working for international organisations

Citizenship Policies in the New Europe Rainer Bauböck, Bernhard Perchinig, Wiebke Sievers, 2009 Citizenship Policies in the New Europe describes the citizenship laws in each of the twelve new countries as well as in the accession states Croatia and Turkey and analyses their historical background Citizenship Policies in the New Europe complements two volumes on Acquisition and Loss of Nationality in the fifteen old Member States published in the same series in 2006 Book Jacket

The Figure of the Migrant in Contemporary European Cinema Temenuga Trifonova, 2020-07-09 The Figure of the Migrant in Contemporary European Cinema explores contemporary debates around the concepts of Europe and European identity through an examination of recent European films dealing with various aspects of globalization the refugee crisis labour migration the resurgence of nationalism and ethnic violence neoliberalism post colonialism with a particular attention to the figure of the migrant and the ways in which this figure challenges us to rethink Europe and its core Enlightenment values citizenship justice ethics liberty tolerance and hospitality in a post national context of ephemerality volatility and contingency that finds people desperately looking for firmer markers of identity The book argues that a compelling case can be made for re orienting the study of contemporary European cinema around the figure of the migrant viewed both as a symbolic figure representing post national citizenship urbanization the gap between ethics and justice and as a figure occupying an increasingly central place in European cinema in general rather than only in what is usually called migrant and diasporic cinema By drawing attention to the structural and affective affinities between the experience of migrants and non migrants Europeans and non Europeans Trifonova shows that it is becoming increasingly difficult to separate stories about migration from stories about life under neoliberalism in general

The Spanish Economy in the New Europe C. Martín, 2000-01-20 This book assesses how EU economies have fared in their project of economic and monetary union Drawing on an entirely new data bank for all fifteen member countries it takes the Spanish economy as a point of departure to compare their gains and losses It also considers the implications for the welfare state enlargement towards Eastern Europe and the political integration of Europe Combining rigorous analysis and clarity of style the book is of value to both specialists and the general reader

Transnationalizing Inequalities in Europe Anna Amelina, 2016-09-13 Unequal life chances became a key feature of cross border migration to and within the enlarged Europe Combining transnational intersectional and cultural sociological perspectives this book develops a conceptual tool to analyse patterns contexts and mechanisms of these cross border inequalities This book synthesizes the theories of social boundaries and of intersectionality approaching cross border relations as socially generated and as an inherent element of contemporary social inequalities It analyses the mechanisms of cross border inequalities as regimes of intersection relating spatialized cross border inequalities to other types of unequal social relations in terms of gender ethnicity race class etc The conceptual arguments are supported by empirical research on cross border migration in Europe migration of scientists and care workers between Ukraine and Germany This book integrates the analysis of space including cross border categories of global and transnational into intersectionally informed studies of social inequalities Broadly it will appeal to scholars and students in the areas of sociology political sciences social anthropology and social geography In particular it will interest researchers concerned with transnational and global social inequalities the interplay of the categories gender ethnicity and class on the one hand and global and transnational relations on the other theories of space and society and migration and mobility in Europe

Polish Families and Migration Since EU Accession Anne White, 2011 In a vivid account of every stage of the migration process this topical book presents new research that looks in depth at Polish migration to the UK in particular the lives of working class Polish families in the West of England

Europe, Migration and Identity Jan Logemann, Donna Gabaccia, Sally Gregory Kohlstedt, 2015-10-14 This volume explores connections between migration studies and research in the history of Europeanization and Europeaness areas which have generated much interest in recent years Beyond histories of European political integration and the intellectual and elite movements that have supported this process scholars increasingly pay attention to the constructed nature of Europeaness and European identities and to the multiplicity of ways in which this construction happens Migrants can be a particularly useful lens on Europeanization processes as they provide a perspective from the periphery in two ways by providing a view literally from the outside as in the case of those who left the continent or by providing a view from the margins of the European societies within which they live The collection asks what Europe meant to migrants abroad particularly within the transatlantic context and within the continent during the twentieth century Contributions from a variety of disciplinary perspectives reflect both on the broader historical context and theoretical implications and highlight specific cases such as those of European labor migrants to the United States of transatlantic exiles and migrants of Latin American immigrants in present day Europe as well as the experience of highly skilled migrants within the context of the European Union Can we trace the emergence of European identities among different groups of migrants and if so what forms did they take This book was originally published as a special issue of National Identities

The British on The Costa Del Sol Karen O'Reilly, 2013-08-06 Brits in Spain first achieved notoriety during the 1980s popularly imagined as a group made up of exiled criminals drunken hooligans and leathery looking pensioners welcome to Little England The British on the Costa Del Sol is the very first book to study this British expatriate community in any great depth and through use of interviews with members of this community paints a far more complex picture of its members In doing so the author explodes the popularly held stereotype of Brits in Spain What emerges is a rich account of who migrates their reasons for migration and the day to day realities of expatriate life
