Playing Dolly Technocultural Formations Fantasies And Fictions Of Assisted Reproduction:

Playing Dolly E. Ann Kaplan, Susan Merrill Squier, 1999 A collection of essays that explore changing attitudes about reproductive technology They reflect the shift in public perception of topics which range from the biomedical to the sociocultural including fiction Rereading Heterosexuality Rachel Carroll, 2012-04-04 Heterosexuality in contemporary novels re examined using the frameworks of feminism and queer theory Drawing on feminist and queer theories of sex gender and sexuality this study focuses on female identities at odds with heterosexual norms In particular it explores narratives in which the conventional equation between heterosexuality reproductive sexuality and female identity is questioned Humans and Other Animals in Eighteenth-Century British Culture Frank Palmeri, 2020-07-09 Combining historical and interpretive work this collection examines changing perceptions of and relations between human and nonhuman animals in Britain over the long eighteenth century Persistent questions concern modes of representing animals and animal human hybrids as well as the ethical issues raised by the human uses of other animals From the animal men of Thomas Rowlandson to the part animal part human creature of Victor Frankenstein hybridity serves less as a metaphor than as a metonym for the intersections of humans and other animals The contributors address such recurring questions as the implications of the Enlightenment project of naming and classifying animals the equating of non European races and nonhuman animals in early ethnographic texts and the desire to distinguish the purely human from the entirely nonhuman animal Gulliver s Travels and works by Mary and Percy Shelley emerge as key texts for this study The volume will be of interest to scholars and students who work in animal colonial gender and cultural studies and will appeal to general readers concerned with the representation of animals and their treatment by humans What are the Animals to Us? David Aftandilian, 2007 In What Are the Animals to Us scholars from a wide variety of academic disciplines explore the diverse meanings of animals in science religion folklore literature and art Baby Steps Amy Agigian, 2004 Explores the controversial implications of lesbian insemination Human Cloning in the Media , 2008 Brown Bodies, White Babies Laura Harrison, 2016-09-20 Brown Bodies White Babies focuses on the practice of cross racial gestational surrogacy in which a woman through in vitro fertilization using the sperm and egg of intended parents or donors carries a pregnancy for intended parents of a different race Focusing on the racial differences between parents and surrogates this book is interested in how reproductive technologies intersect with race particularly when brown bodies produce white babies While the potential of reproductive technologies is far from pre determined the ways in which these technologies are currently deployed often serve the interests of dominant groups through the creation of white middle class heteronormative families Laura Harrison providing an important understanding of the work of women of color as surrogates connects this labor to the history of racialized reproduction in the United States Cross racial surrogacy is one end of a continuum in which dominant groups rely on the reproductive potential of nonwhite women whose own reproductive desires have been historically thwarted and even demonized Brown Bodies White Babies provides an interdisciplinary analysis that includes legal cases of contested surrogacy historical examples of surrogacy as a form of racialized reproductive labor the role of genetics in the assisted reproduction industry and the recent turn toward reproductive tourism Joining the ongoing feminist debates surrounding reproduction motherhood race and the body Brown Bodies White Babies ultimately critiques the new potentials for parenthood that put the very contours of kinship into question Liminal Lives Susan Merrill Squier, 2004-12-07 A study of the mutually constitutive relations between Western biomedicine and Anglo American literature in the 20th and early 21st centuries tracing the interwoven processes by which both fields have transformed the course of human life

The Ethics of Inheritable Genetic Modification John Rasko, Gabrielle O'Sullivan, Rachel Ankeny, 2006-01-26 Is inheritable genetic modification the new dividing line in gene therapy The editors of this searching investigation representing clinical medicine public health and biomedical ethics have established a distinguished team of scientists and scholars to address the issues from the perspectives of biological and social science law and ethics including an intriguing Foreword from Peter Singer Their purpose is to consider how society might deal with the ethical concerns raised by inheritable genetic modification and to re examine prevailing views about whether these procedures will ever be ethically and socially justifiable The book also provides background to define the field and discusses the biological and technological potential for inheritable genetic modification its limitations and its connection with gene therapy cloning and other reproductive interventions For scientists bioethicists clinicians counsellors and public commentators this is an essential contribution to one of the critical debates in current genetics

New Reproductive Technologies and Disembodiment Carla Lam, 2016-04-22 With attention to the ways in which new reproductive technologies facilitate the gradual disembodiment of reproduction this book reveals the paradox of women's reproductive experience in patriarchal cultures as being both and often simultaneously empowering and disempowering A rich exploration of birth appropriation in the West New Reproductive Technologies and Disembodiment investigates the assimilation of women's embodied power into patriarchal systems of symbolism culture and politics through the inversion of women's and men's reproductive roles Contending that new reproductive technologies represent another world historical moment both in their forging of novel social relations and material processes of reproduction and their manner of disembodiment of women in unprecedented ways a disembodiment evident in recent visual and literary popular and academic texts this volume locates the roots of this disembodiment in western political discourse A call to feminist political theory to re remember the material dimensions of bodies and their philosophical significance New Reproductive Technologies and Disembodiment will appeal to scholars of sociology gender studies political and social theory and the study of science technology and health

Endowed Michael Thomson, 2012-08-21 Feminist legal scholars and health care lawyers have long engaged with law's responses to the female reproductive body especially on what the legal regulation of women's reproductive lives can tell us about the broader relationship between law and gender Acknowledging this work and building upon it Endowed considers the interaction of law and ideas of male reproductivity In particular it seeks to uncover what these regulatory moments can tell us about contemporary ideas and ideals of masculinity and the male sexed body Spanning topics such as male circumcision and the regulation of state access to Viagra the book uncovers recurring motifs that define masculinity and the male body in the legal imagination In looking to these understandings the book engages with broader questions regarding the relationship between law and gender and between masculinity and social organization Real Virtuality Ulrich Gehmann,Martin Reiche,2014-06-15 Increasingly the virtual became reality by a hybridization of the world as we knew it the process that went on in recent years is one of a technically assisted hybridization of both space and self the old world is becoming virtualized and functionalized to a degree never experienced before For the first time in human history we have reached a threshold where we have not only to re assert but to redefine ourselves as regards our fundamental terms of understanding what world means for us our base of existence and now an assemblage of mixed realities and connected what being human means With a Preface by Gerd Stern A Study Guide for Kazuo Ishiguro's Never Let Me Go Gale, Cengage Learning,2015-09-24 Nursing History Review, Volume 11, 2003 Patricia D'Antonio, RN, PhD, FAAN,Barbra Mann Wall, Book Rev Editor,2002-09-26 Nursing History Review an annual peer reviewed publication of the American Association for the History of Nursing is a showcase for the most significant current research on nursing history Regular sections include scholarly articles over a dozen book reviews of the best publications on nursing and health care history that have appeared in the past year and a section abstracting new doctoral dissertations on nursing history Historians researchers and individuals fascinated with the rich field of nursing will find this an important resource Encyclopedia of Medical Anthropology Carol R. Ember,Melvin Ember,2003-12-31 Medical practitioners and the ordinary citizen are becoming more aware that we need to understand cultural variation in medical belief and practice The more we know how health and disease are managed in different cultures the more we can recognize what is culture bound in our own medical belief and practice The Encyclopedia of Medical Anthropology is unique because it is the first reference work to describe the cultural practices relevant to health in the world s cultures and to provide an overview of important topics in medical anthropology No other single reference work comes close to marching the depth and breadth of information on the varying cultural background of health and illness around the world More than 100 experts anthropologists and other social scientists have contributed their firsthand experience of medical cultures from around the world Gender Scripts in Medicine and Narrative Angela Laflen,2010-06-09 Gender is an exciting area of current research in the medical humanities and by combining the study of medical narratives with theories of gender and sexuality the essays in Gender Scripts in Medicine and Narrative illustrate the power of gender stereotypes to shape the way medicine is practiced and perceived The chapters of Gender Scripts in Medicine and Narrative investigate gendered perceptions and representations of healers and patients in fiction memoir popular literature poetry film television the history of science new media and visual art The fourteen chapters of Gender Scripts in Medicine and Narrative are organized into four cohesive sections. These chapters investigate the impact of gender stereotypes on medical narratives from a variety of points of view considering narratives from diverse languages, time periods, genres, and media. Each section addresses some of the most pressing and provocative issues in theories of gender and the medical humanities: I Gendering the Medical Gaze and Pathology, II Monitoring Race through Reproduction, III Rescripting Trauma and Healing, and IV Medical Masculinities. Along with these sections, Gender Scripts: Medicine and Narrative features a preface by Rita Charon, MD, PhD, Director and Founder, The Program in Narrative Medicine, Columbia University; a foreword by Marcelline Block; and an introduction by Angela Laflen. This collection takes a truly interdisciplinary look at the topic of gender and medicine, and the impressive group of contributors to the anthology represent a wide range of academic fields of inquiry including medical humanities, bioethics, English, modern languages, women's studies, film theory, postcolonial theory, art history, the history of science and medicine, new media studies, theories of trauma, among others. This approach of crossing boundaries of genre and discipline makes the volume accessible to scholars who are concerned with narrative, gender, and/or medical ethics. When IVF Fails K. Throsby, 2004-08-19

 In spite of the fact that almost eighty percent of all IVF cycles are unsuccessful, the dominant representations of the technology are of its success. Based on extensive interviews with women and couples who have undergone IVF unsuccessfully and who have since stopped treatment, and taking an overtly feminist approach, the book explores the ways in which IVF failure is experienced and accounted for. The book argues that IVF failure and the end of treatment have to be carefully managed over time in order to construct the self as normal in the profoundly gendered context of reproductive normativity. Treatment failure is identified in the book not only as a central but largely excluded aspect of the experience of IVF, but also of a proliferating range of new, more controversial reproductive and genetic technologies.

Gender Equality and Responsible Business Kate Grosser, Lauren McCarthy, Maureen A. Kilgour, 2017-09-08
 Gender Equality and Responsible Business places gender equality at the heart of the responsible business agenda, with the aim of contributing to CSR practice as well as research. Discussion about gender issues in the field of corporate responsibility has focused on workplace issues and corporate boards, which are important areas of work. However, the great benefit of exploring gender issues through a responsible business lens is that this requires us to also examine the wider gender impacts of business in the marketplace, for example with regard to suppliers, supply chains, and consumers, and with respect to the communities where business operates and the wider ecological environment, indeed throughout corporate value chains. Through contributions from practitioners in business and civil society as well as academia, this book broadens the agenda, opening the field to new voices and facilitating dialogue among and between practitioners and researchers. Contributions within the edited collection elucidate current practice, bring new perspectives, and help us to expand the field of responsible business with regard to gender equality and beyond.
