Pluriforme Patronen En Een Verschillende:

Selling Textiles in the Long Eighteenth Century J. Stobart, B. Blonde, 2014-09-16 Textiles are a key component of the industrial and consumer revolutions yet we lack a coherent picture of how the marketing of textiles varied across the long 18th century and between different regions This book provides important new insights into the ways in which changes in the supply of textiles related to shifting patterns of demand The Force of Fashion in Politics and Society Beverly Lemire, 2016-12-05 Throughout history fashion has emerged as one of the most powerful driving forces determining the political economic and social ramifications of the production distribution and circulation of goods Indeed fashion especially in relation to clothing and textiles shapes the relationship between self and society in unique ways In this light the collected papers in this volume position fashion as the lens the critical mediating force through which to analyse and understand cultural economic and political shifts within a broad spectrum of societies in Europe Asia Africa and America from the seventeenth to twenty first centuries Topics include a seventeenth century failing fashion region the material politics of marketing American abolitionist fashions the construction of a fashionable ethos for French perfumes and the use and meanings of clothing and textiles in the politics of Nigerian silk robes and early modern domestic dress in Europe This volume represents an important shift in scholarship towards a more in depth understanding of the role of fashion in early modern and modern times and will appeal to international readers interested in material culture fashion consumer studies and cultural anthropology among other areas Alternative Exchanges Laurence Fontaine, 2008 Exchanges have always had more than economic significance values circulate and encounters become institutionalized This volume explores the changing meaning of the circulation of second hand goods from the Renaissance to today and thereby examines the blurring of boundaries between market gifts and charity It describes the actors of the market official entities such as corporations recognized professions and established markets but also the subterranean circulation that develops around the need for money The complex layers that not only provide for numerous intermediaries but also include the many men and women who as sellers or buyers use these circulations on countless occasions are also examined Book Jacket Migrants and Urban Change Anne Winter, 2015-09-30 Taking the Belgian city of Antwerp as a case study this book argues that the direction of nineteenth century societal change was such as to make some groups of people better suited to reap the benefits of new opportunities The Right to Dress Giorgio Riello, Ulinka Rublack, 2019-01-17 Presents a global history of dress regulation and debates around how human life and societies should be visualised and materialised Guilds, Labour and the Urban Body Politic Bert De Munck, 2017-12-01 This book presents a new view on the relation between labour and community through a focus on craft guilds In the Southern Netherlands occupational guilds were both powerful and governed by manufacturing masters enabling the latter to imprint their mark upon urban society in an economic socio cultural and political way While the urban community was deeply indebted to a corporative spirit and guild ethic originating in medieval

Germanic and Christian traditions guild based artisans succeeded in being accepted as genuine political and hence rational actors their political identity and agency being based upon their skills and trustworthiness In the long run this corporative spirit and power inexorably waned Yet this book shows that an adequate understanding of the development of European modernity i e proletarianisation and the emergence of a modern economy and modern economic and political thinking requires taking seriously the ruins upon which it is build These histories can actually be recounted as purifications of sorts in which the economic was separated from the political the individual from the social and the transcendent from the material While the religiously inspired corporative nature of the urban body politic waned the urban artisans lost their credibility as political and rational actors

Craft Guilds in the Early Modern Low Countries Catharina Lis,Hugo Soly,2017-03-02 In the half millennium of their existence guilds in the Low Countries played a highly significant role in shaping the societies of which they were a part One key aspect that has been identified in recent historical research to explain the survival of the guilds for such a long time is the guilds continued adaptability to changing circumstances This idea of flexibility is the point of departure for the essays in this volume which sheds new light on the corporate system and identifies its various features and regional variances The contributors explore the interrelations between economic organisations and political power in late medieval and early modern towns and address issues of gender religion and social welfare in the context of the guilds This cohesive and focussed volume will provide a stimulus for renewed interest and further research in this area It will appeal to scholars and students with an interest in early modern economic social and cultural history in particular but will also be valuable to those researching into political religious and gender history

Apprenticeship in Early Modern Europe Maarten Prak,Patrick Wallis,2020 This comparative study of the European history of apprenticeship offers a comprehensive picture of occupational training before the Industrial Revolution

Guilds, Innovation and the European Economy, 1400-1800 S. R. Epstein,Maarten Prak,2008-03-31 For a long time guilds have been condemned as a major obstacle to economic progress in the pre industrial era This re examination of the role of guilds in the early modern European economy challenges that view by taking into account fresh research on innovation technological change and entrepreneurship Leading economic historians argue that industry before the Industrial Revolution was much more innovative than previous studies have allowed for and explore the different products and production techniques that were launched and developed in this period Much of this innovation was fostered by the craft guilds that formed the backbone of industrial production before the rise of the steam engine The book traces the manifold ways in which guilds in a variety of industries in Italy Austria Germany Switzerland France Belgium the Netherlands and Britain helped to create an institutional environment conducive to technological and marketing innovations

Concepts of Value in European Material Culture, 1500-1900 Bert De Munck,Dries Lyna,2016-03-09 In contemporary society it would seem self evident that people allow the market to determine the values of products and services For everything from a loaf of bread to a work of art to a simple haircut value is expressed in monetary terms and seen as determined primarily by the objective interplay between supply and demand Yet this price mechanism is itself embedded in conventions and frames of reference which differed according to time place and product type Moreover the dominance of the conventions of utility maximising and calculative homo economicus is a relatively new phenomenon and one which directly correlates to the steady advent of capitalism in early modern Europe This volume brings together scholars with expertise in a variety of related fields including economic history the history of consumption and material culture art history and the history of collecting to explore changing concepts of value from the early modern period to the nineteenth century and present a new view on the advent of modern economic practices Jointly they fundamentally challenge traditional historical narratives about the rise of our contemporary market economy and consumer society

Learning on the Shop Floor Bert De Munck, Steven L. Kaplan, Hugo Soly, 2007 Apprenticeship or vocational training is a subject of lively debate Economic historians tend to see apprenticeship as a purely economic phenomenon as an incomplete contract in need of legal and institutional enforcement mechanisms The contributors to this volume have adopted a broader perspective They regard learning on the shop floor as a complex social and cultural process to be situated in an ever changing historical context The results are surprising The authors convincingly show that research on apprenticeship and learning on the shop floor is intimately associated with migration patterns family economy and household strategies gender perspectives urban identities and general educational and pedagogical contexts Het verderf van Parijs Raf de Bont, Tom Verschaffel, 2004 Patronen van patronage in het zeventiende-eeuwse Antwerpen Bert Timmermans, 2008 This title can be previewed in Google Books <http://books.google.com/books/vid/ISBN9789052602479> Corporatieve middengroepen Johan Dambruyne, 2002 On the Edge of Truth and Honesty: Principles and Strategies of Fraud and Deceit in the Early Modern Period, 2021-10-25 In the early modern period deceit and fraud were common issues Acutely aware of the ubiquity and multiplicity of simulation and dissimulation people from this period made serious efforts to gain a better understanding of the phenomenon trying to distinguish between acceptable and unacceptable pleasant and unpleasant wicked and virtuous forms of deceit and seeking to unravel its principles strategies and functions The twelve case studies in this volume focus on the use of deceit by several groups of people in different spheres of life as well as on its representation in literary and artistic genres and its conceptualization in philosophical and rhetorical discourses The studies testify to the rich variety of deceitful strategies applied by people from the early modern period as well as to the subtlety and diversity of the conceptual frameworks they construed in order to grasp the many aspects of the elusive yet all pervasive phenomenon of deceit Contributors include Daniel Acke Jacques Bos Wiep van Bunge Evelien Chayes Paul J C M Franssen Paul van Heck Toon van Houdt Alfons K L Thijs Bert Timmermans Johannes Trapman Mark van Vaeck Natascha Veldhorst and Johan Verberckmoes Luxury in the Low Countries Rengenier C. Rittersma, 2010 Painting a panoramic view of conspicuous consumption in the Netherlands and Flanders from 1500 to the present this collection of essays explores the economic forces that produce a boom in luxury goods Working from disciplines such as archaeology art history historical ethnology linguistics and media studies these scholarly contributors explore both the wealth and the social display that fuels the search for rare commodities

A Taste for Luxury in Early Modern Europe Johanna Ilmakunnas, Jon Stobart, 2017-06-29 Jon Stobart and Johanna Ilmakunnas bring together a range of scholars from across mainland Europe and the UK to examine luxury and taste in early modern Europe In the 18th century debates raged about the economic social and moral impacts of luxury whilst taste was viewed as a refining influence and a marker of rank and status This book takes a fresh comparative approach to these ideas drawing together new scholarship to examine three related areas in a wide variety of European contexts Firstly the deployment of luxury goods in displays of status and how these practices varied across space and time Secondly the processes of communicating and acquiring taste and luxury how did people obtain tasteful and luxurious goods and how did they recognise them as such Thirdly the ways in which ideas of taste and luxury crossed national political and economic boundaries what happened to established ideas of luxury and taste as goods moved from one country to another and during times of political transformation Through the analysis of case studies looking at consumption practices material culture political economy and retail marketing A Taste for Luxury in Early Modern Europe challenges established readings of luxury and taste This is a crucial volume for any historian seeking a more nuanced understanding of material culture consumption and luxury in early modern Europe

Innovation and Creativity in Late Medieval and Early Modern European Cities Karel Davids, Bert De Munck, 2016-05-23 Late medieval and early modern cities are often depicted as cradles of artistic creativity and hotbeds of new material culture Cities in renaissance Italy and in seventeenth and eighteenth century northwestern Europe are the most obvious cases in point But how did this come about Why did cities rather than rural environments produce new artistic genres new products and new techniques How did pre industrial cities evolve into centres of innovation and creativity As the most urbanized regions of continental Europe in this period Italy and the Low Countries provide a rich source of case studies as the contributors to this volume demonstrate They set out to examine the relationship between institutional arrangements and regulatory mechanisms such as citizenship and guild rules and innovation and creativity in late medieval and early modern cities They analyze whether in what context and why regulation or deregulation influenced innovation and creativity and what the impact was of long term changes in the political and economic sphere

De juiste prijs in de laatmiddeleeuwse stad Raoul de Kerf, 2010 This title can be previewed in Google Books <http://books.google.com/books/vid/ISBN9789052603667>

City and Society in the Low Countries, 1100-1600 Bruno Blondé, Marc Boone, Anne-Laure Van Bruaene, 2018-10-04 The Low Countries was collectively one of the earliest and most heavily urbanised societies in European history Present day Belgium and the Netherlands still share important common features such as comparatively low income inequalities high levels of per capita income a balanced political structure and a strong civil society This book traces the origins of this specific social model in medieval patterns of urbanisation while also searching for explanations for the historical reproduction of social inequalities Access to cheap inland river navigation and to the sea generated a river delta urbanisation that explains the persistence of a decentralised urban economic network marked by intensive cooperation and competition and by the absence of real metropolises Internally as well powerful checks and balances prevented money and power from being concentrated Ultimately however the utmost defining characteristic of the Low Countries urban cultures was located in their resilient middle classes
