Trauma and Memory Paul S. Appelbaum, Lisa A. Uyebara, Mark R. Elin, 1997-05-29 The authenticity of memories of childhood sexual abuse has become one of the major social controversies of the 1990 s As persons who report histories of abuse have sought remedies in civil and criminal proceedings in the courts the accuracy of their memories particularly when they have been recalled after a period of time has been subject to intense scrutiny This volume brings together many of the leading participants in the debate to provide a comprehensive picture of the psychological physiological and legal aspects of trauma Beginning by defining the opposing positions in the debate the contributors then offer a variety of perspectives on the nature of memory including reviews of some of the most exciting recent developments in this fast growing area of investigation Next consideration is given to the impact of trauma on memory both in adults and in children With this framework in place the authors turn to an examination of the variety of treatment approaches available to victims of trauma who are trying to cope with the painful consequences of those events The book argues against a unidimensional approach to trauma calling instead for a multidisciplinary synthesis that includes developmental neurobiological cognitive and psychodynamic perspectives Chapters address the legal dilemmas for patients mental health professionals and society as a whole that have arisen from the trauma and memory controversy Most importantly the editors shift the focus of their discussion from the laboratory to the courtroom and from the research journal to the psychotherapist s office looking at the issues from every relevant angle This is the only book in the field to treat the trauma and memory controversy comprehensively from basic research on memory processes through clinical approaches to legal and policy issues Trauma and Memory is a valuable tool for clinicians treating patients with traumatic memories It is also intended for psychologists physicians social workers and lawyers who need a comprehensive reference on trauma and sexual abuse during childhood

The Trial Process Bruce Dennis Sales, 2013-11-11 As noted in the Preface to Volume 1 in this series the goal of Perspectives in Law and Psychology is to provide a forum for books aimed at systematically interfacing the two disciplines Toward this end Volume 1 presented a collection of original writings focused on the criminal justice system that grew out of a conference held at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln Because that volume was based on conference proceedings however an attempt was not made to provide thorough coverage of all law psychology issues in the criminal justice system rather it highlighted a select few issues that were currently being investigated by some of the outstanding people in the field This volume differs substantially from the first in that it attempts to bring together those psycholegal scholars who are doing the major research on the trial process today and provides broad coverage of critical research on the trial. Thus the chapters not only provide an extensive review of existing literature in this field but also present new contributions by these scholars. Processing of Visible Language Paul A. Kolers, 2013-11-21

The second symposium on processing visible language constituted a different mix of participants from the first. Greater emphasis was given to the design of language both in its historical development and in its current display and to practical questions associated with machine implementation of language in the interactions of person and computer and in the characteristics of the physical and environmental objects that affect the interaction. Another change was that a special session on theory capped the proceedings. Psychologists remained heavily involved, however, both as contributors to and as discussants of the work presented. The motivation of the conferences remains one of bringing together graphic designers, engineers, and psychologists concerned with the display and acquisition of visible language. The papers separately tended to emphasize the one of the three disciplines that mark their authors' field of endeavor but are constructed to be general rather than parochial. Moreover, within the three disciplines, papers emphasized either the textual or the more pictorial aspects. For example, a session on writing systems ranged from principles that seem to characterize all such systems to specific papers on ancient Egyptian writing, modern Korean, and English shorthand. The complementary session on the nontextual media opened with a discussion of general principles of pictorial communication and included papers on communicating instructions, general information, or religious belief through designs and other pictorial forms as well as a discussion of misrepresentation.

The Death of Aztec Tenochtitlan, the Life of Mexico City Barbara E. Mundy, 2018-03-22 Winner Book Prize in Latin American Studies Colonial Section of Latin American Studies Association LASA 2016 ALAA Book Award Association for Latin American Art Arvey Foundation 2016 The capital of the Aztec empire, Tenochtitlan, was in its era one of the largest cities in the world. Built on an island in the middle of a shallow lake, its population numbered perhaps 150,000, with another 350,000 people in the urban network clustered around the lake shores. In 1521, at the height of Tenochtitlan's power, which extended over much of Central Mexico, Hernando Cortés and his followers conquered the city. Cortés boasted to King Charles V of Spain that Tenochtitlan was destroyed and razed to the ground. But was it? Drawing on period representations of the city in sculptures, texts, and maps, The Death of Aztec Tenochtitlan, the Life of Mexico City builds a convincing case that this global capital remained through the sixteenth century very much an Amerindian city. Barbara E. Mundy foregrounds the role the city's indigenous peoples, the Nahuas, played in shaping Mexico City through the construction of permanent architecture and engagement in ceremonial actions. She demonstrates that the Aztec ruling elites, who retained power even after the conquest, were instrumental in building and then rebuilding the city. Mundy shows how the Nahuas entered into mutually advantageous alliances with the Franciscans to maintain the city's sacred nodes. She also focuses on the practical and symbolic role of the city's extraordinary waterworks, the product of a massive ecological manipulation begun in the fifteenth century to reveal how the Nahua struggled to maintain control of water resources in early Mexico City Guildhall Memories Alfred George Temple,1918 Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office ,2002 Fleeting Memories Veronika Coltheart,1999 The investigation of what people understand and remember from rapidly presented sequences of visual stimuli began in the late 1960s In this book prominent researchers approach the topic from psychological neuropsychological and electrophysiological perspectives The investigation of what people understand and remember from rapidly presented sequences of visual stimuli began in the late 1960s In this book prominent researchers approach the topic from psychological neuropsychological and electrophysiological perspectives Specific issues include RSVP rapid serial visual presentation attentional blink repetition blindness and scene perception The contributors review recent research on our ability to comprehend and remember pictures of objects and scenes written words and sentences when the visual stimuli are presented sequentially at rates of up to ten items per second In short the book is about our remarkably developed abilities to understand and remember the contents of very briefly presented material Contributors Daphne Bavelier Veronika Coltheart Helene Intraub Nancy Kanwisher Steven J Luck Nadine Martin Mary C Potter Eleanor M Saffran Kimron L Shapiro Ewa Wojciulik Jeremy M Wolfe Carol Yin Handbook of Perception and Action: Perception Wolfgang Prinz, Bruce Bridgeman,1995 This volume combines the classical fields of perception research with the major theoretical attitudes of today's research distinguishing between experience versus performance related approaches transformational versus interactional approaches and approaches that rely on the processing versus discovery of information Perception is separated into two parts The first part deals with basic processes and mechanisms and discusses early vision and later yet still basic vision The second covers complex achievements with accounts of perceptual constancies and the perception of patterns objects events and actions Report of the California State Agricultural Society ,1873 Transactions of the California State Agricultural Society California State Board of Agriculture,1873 Appendix to the Journals of the Senate and Assembly California.
