Modern Architecture and Expressionism Dennis Sharp, 1966 Expressionist Architecture Wolfgang Pehnt, 1973

Nelson Goodman and Modern Architecture Kasper Lægning, 2024-07-19 This book orchestrates a convergence of two discourses from the 1960s Nelson Goodman's aesthetic theory on one side and critiques of modern architecture articulated by figures like Peter Blake Charles Jencks and Robert Venturi Denise Scott Brown on the other Grounded in Goodman's aesthetic theory the book explores his conceptual framework within the context of modern architecture At the heart of the investigation lies Goodman's concept of exemplification While his notion of denotation pertains to representational elements often ornaments in architecture exemplification accentuates specific formal properties at the expense of others including color spatial orientation transparency seriality and the like Supplemented by findings from phenomenology the book traces these effects in buildings notably those by Ludwig Mies van der Rohe Walter Gropius Le Corbusier and Frank Lloyd Wright all key figures in the critiques of modern architecture Employing Goodman's framework the book aims to address accusations of emptiness and alienation directed at modern architecture in the postwar era It illustrates that modern architecture symbolizes aesthetically in a fundamentally different way than architecture from earlier periods This book will be of interest to architects artists researchers and students in architecture architectural history theory cultural theory philosophy and aesthetics

The Early Sketches of German Architect Erich Mendelsohn (1887-1953) Hans Rudolf Morgenthaler, Erich Mendelsohn, 1992 Erich Mendelsohn was considered one of the most successful modern architects in Germany during the 1920s This volume contains a catalogue of his early sketches It establishes a chronological sequence of the sketches and furnishes a clear explanation of his creative background A detailed evaluation of his relationship to the Blue Rider group supplies a source for his Expressionist intentions and design theory Mendelsohn's own statements from papers and letters are also examined

Modern Architecture Henry-Russell Hitchcock, 1929 Contemporary Architecture Marta Tobolczyk, 2021-07-05 This book offers an exciting journey into the most recent architectural achievements seen in their complexity and plurality and described in the most objective and truthful way The development of contemporary architecture is presented as it commenced more than a century ago as it tried to reconcile democratic ideals with the forces of the Industrial Era In contrast to many books on the modern day art of building the development of architecture is not described chronologically here but rather independently for each selective architectural trend This allows a better explanation of some evolutionary processes and the continuity of each trend Thanks to such an approach this book will serve as a convenient tutorial for courses on history of contemporary architecture in all art and architectural schools

A World History of Architecture Marian Moffett, Michael W. Fazio, Lawrence Wodehouse, 2003 The Roman architect and engineer Vitruvius declared firmitas utilitas and venustas firmness commodity and delight to be the three essential attributes of architecture These qualities are brilliantly explored in this book which uniquely comprises both a detailed survey of Western architecture including Pre Columbian America and an introduction to architecture from the Middle East India Russia China and Japan The text encourages readers to examine closely the pragmatic innovative and aesthetic attributes of buildings and to imagine how these would have been praised or criticized by contemporary observers Artistic economic environmental political social and technological contexts are discussed so as to determine the extent to which buildings met the needs of clients society at large and future generations

Modern Architecture Since 1900 William J. R. Curtis, 1987 First published in 1982 Curtis's book has quickly achieved recognition as the standard work on the subject providing a lucid and accurate overview of modern architecture and a balanced critique of its achievements This second edition includes a new chapter on recent world architecture

Expressionist Architecture Wolfgang Pehnt, Edith Küstner, 1973

The Modern Urban Landscape (Routledge Revivals) Edward Relph, 2016-04-06 First published in 1987 this book provides a wide ranging account of how modern cities have come to look as they do differing radically from their predecessors in their scale style details and meanings It uses many illustrations and examples to explore the origins and development of specific landscape features More generally it traces the interconnected changes which have occurred in architecture and aesthetic fashions in planning in economic and social conditions and which together have created the landscape that now prevails in most of the cities of the world This book will be of interest to students of architecture urban studies and geography

Modern Architecture Alan Colquhoun, 2002-04-25 This new account of international modernism explores the complex motivations behind this revolutionary movement and assesses its triumphs and failures The work of the main architects of the movement such as Frank Lloyd Wright Adolf Loos Le Corbusier and Mies van der Rohe is re examined shedding new light on their roles as acknowledged masters Alan Colquhoun explores the evolution of the movement from Art Nouveau in the 1890s to the megastructures of the 1960s revealing the often contradictory demands of form function social engagement modernity and tradition

Hans Scharoun and China Liyang Ding, 2024-11-15 This book presents the first systematic overview and analysis of the deep connection between Scharoun and China offering insights into East West cultural exchange and enriching existing understandings of modernism The German architect Hans Scharoun has typically been pigeonholed as a leading figure in expressionist architecture As this book shows however this understanding oversimplifies the multifaceted nature of Scharoun's career and overlooks his central role within the tradition of Neues Bauen The book begins with Scharoun's early interactions with East Asian architects in the 1930s his active involvement in the Chinese Werkbund 1941-42 and his extensive research on Chinese architecture and urban culture in the mid 1940s and 1950s The book then examines Scharoun's postwar architectural designs and urban planning projects most notably the Kollektivplan the Volksschule Darmstadt and the Berliner Philharmonie which incorporated original spatial and urbanistic concepts such as Stadtlandschaft Raum der Mitte and a perspectival space inspired to varying degrees by Chinese architectural and urban planning traditions The book will appeal to scholars and students of modern architecture urban planning and architectural theory especially those

The Earth That Modernism Built Kenny Cupers, 2024-11-26. An intellectual history of architectural modernism for an age of rising global inequality and environmental crisis. The Earth That Modernism Built traces the rise of planetary design to an imperialist discourse about the influence of the earthly environment on humanity. Kenny Cupers argues that to understand how the earth became an object of design, we need to radically shift the terms of analysis. Rather than describing how new design ideas and practices traveled and transformed people and places across the globe, this book interrogates the politics of life and earth underpinning this process. It demonstrates how approaches to modern housing, landscape design, and infrastructure planning are indebted to an understanding of planetary and human ecology fueled by settler colonialism and imperial ambition. Cupers draws from both canonical and unknown sources and archives in Germany, Namibia, and Poland to situate Wilhelmine and Weimar design projects in an expansive discourse about the relationship between soil, settlement, and race. This reframing reveals connections between colonial officials planning agricultural hinterlands, garden designers proselytizing geopolitical theory, soil researchers turning to folklore, and Bauhaus architects designing modern communities according to functionalist principles. Ultimately, The Earth That Modernism Built shows how the conviction that we can design our way out of environmental crisis is bound to exploitative and divisive ways of inhabiting the earth.

Changing Ideals in Modern Architecture, 1750-1950 Peter Collins, 1998-07-14. Collins explains what Revivalism, Rationalism, Eclecticism, and Functionalism meant to those who practised them, examining the impact that social forces and the other arts and sciences had on architectural styles while recognizing the tectonic continuities that underlie the seeming ruptures between pre-modern, modern, and post-modern approaches to design. His work is infused with a deep sympathy for the classical spirit of the eighteenth century, and he argued rigorously and passionately that Enlightenment ideas could be of real value to the architects of his generation, particularly since technology had made it possible to use them effectively. Collins's plea for sensitivity to tradition and the urban fabric while encouraging technological innovation and unprecedented programs makes his thought just as vital today as it was ahead of its time when first published. Collins had long wished to see an affordable, fully illustrated edition of his book, and McGill-Queen's University Press and the McGill School of Architecture are proud to at long last fulfil this wish. The new edition includes a biographical sketch of Collins, a brief publication history of the work, and an introductory essay by Kenneth Frampton that discusses the importance of the work at the time it was first published and highlights its relevance for the architectural problems of today. Like the classic works of Hitchcock, Giedion, Pevsner, and Benevolo, Changing Ideals in Modern Architecture is essential reading and forms a striking contrast with other works on modernism such as Reyner Banham's. It will be pertinent to all those interested in architectural history and theory, modern history, history of ideas, and aesthetics.
