Language, Memory, and Identity in the Middle East Franck Salameh, 2010-04-12 Since the West's very early flirtations with the modern Near East and especially in the past 100 years of East West relations there has been considerable difficulty in understanding and defining the Middle East the Arab world pan Arabism Arab nationalism and Middle Eastern identities in general The Western impulse of conflating national identity with language state and ethnicity often subsuming Arabic language into Arab ethnicity has contributed to this misunderstanding and misreading of the region For while the Middle East can be accurately referred to by way of the generic Arab world label the appellation itself is a misleading oversimplification that conceals an inherent diversity and multiplicity of Middle Eastern cultures ethnicities languages and nationalities And while there is certainly a dominant Arab ethnos there are also significant numbers of Middle Eastern peoples and nationalities with historical memories and ethno cultural bonds that challenge the dominant Arabist paradigm Language Memory and Identity in the Middle East proposes a new reading of modern Middle Eastern history and suggests alternate solutions to the region's problems The book is an attempt to rehabilitate and bring back to the fore of Middle East Studies the issue of language as a key factor in shaping and misshaping the region with the hope of rediscovering a broader more honest and less ideologically tainted discussion on the Middle East Language Memory and Identity in the Middle East has a special focus on Lebanon a Christian homeland because Lebanon has traditionally acted as the region's template for change and a barometer gauging its problems and charting its progress      The Place of the Mediterranean in Modern Israeli Identity Alexandra Nocke, 2009-03-25 This book offers new perspectives on Israel's evolving Mediterranean identity which centers around the longing to find a natural place in the region It explores Mediterraneanism as reflected in popular music literature architecture and daily life and analyzes ways in which the notion comprises cultural identity and political realities      Resurrecting the Past Sarah Griswold, 2025-09-15 In Resurrecting the Past Sarah Griswold shows how the Levant became a crucial front in a post 1918 fight over the French past a contingent and contradictory but always hard charging struggle over a forgotten heritage mandate Many scholars clergy pundits politicians and investors perceived the moment Allied forces entered Jerusalem in December 1917 to be a once in a lifetime opportunity to expand French influence evoking the vision of a new colony in the territory a French Levant But what transpired for the French state in the Levant after World War I and why does that ill conceived venture still matter today Resurrecting the Past investigates how heritage politics led to a new form of empire a French mandate for Syria and Lebanon and with it a tide of regional and international critique Against such opposition the heritage mandate leaned heavily on spectacle and science generating a sprawling set of sites and objects Ottoman mansions crusader castles Umayyad mosques Roman arches buried synagogues and Sumerian ziggurats As Griswold traces how French heritage efforts cycled through multiple ideal pasts in the Levant from 1918 to 1946 she reveals how each one though grounded in realities also complicated those constructs and the work of French heritage makers Resurrecting the Past offers a parable of how efforts in heritage politics aimed to construct a union of ideologies and objects deemed the best past for France's uncertain future but struggled as much as they succeeded Eventually those same heritage politics ironically helped officials justify the end of the French Levant      Winning Lebanon Dylan Baun, 2020-10-22 By the mid twentieth century youth movements around the globe ruled the streets In Lebanon young people in these groups attended lectures sang songs and participated in sporting events their music tastes clothing choices and routine activities shaped their identities Yet scholars of modern Lebanon often focus exclusively on the sectarian makeup and violent behaviors of these socio political groupings obscuring the youth cultures that they forged Using unique sources to highlight the daily lives of the young men and women of Lebanon's youth politics Dylan Baun traces the political and cultural history of a diverse set of youth centric organizations from the 1920s to 1950s to reveal how these youth movements played significant roles in the making of the modern Middle East Outlining how youth movements established a distinct type of politics and populism Winning Lebanon reveals that these groups both encouraged the political socialization of different types of youth and through their attempts to win Lebanon physically and metaphorically around the 1958 War helped produce sectarian violence      Civilization and the Making of the State in Lebanon and Syria Andrew Delatolla, 2021-02-01 This book argues that the modern state from the nineteenth century to the contemporary period has consistently been used as a means to measure civilizational engagement and attainment This volume historicizes this dynamic examining how it impacted state making in Lebanon and Syria By putting social political and economic pressure on the Ottoman Empire to replicate the modern state in Europe the book examines processes of racialization nationalist development continued imperial expansion and resistance that became embedded in the state as it was assembled By historicizing post imperial and post colonial state formation in Lebanon and Syria it is possible to engage in a conceptual separation from the modern state abandoning the ongoing reproduction of the state as a standard or benchmark of civilization and progress

The Shi'ites of Lebanon Rula Jurdi Abisaab, Malek Abisaab, 2014-12-09 The complex history of Lebanese Shi'ites has traditionally been portrayed as rooted in religious and sectarian forces The Abisaabs uncover a more nuanced account in which colonialism the modern state social class and provincial politics profoundly shaped Shi'i society The authors trace the sociopolitical economic and intellectual transformation of the Shi'ites of Lebanon from 1920 during the French colonial period until the late twentieth century They shed light on the relationship of contemporary Islamic militancy with traditions of religious modernism and leftism in both Lebanon and Iraq Analyzing the interaction between sacred and secular features of modern Shi'ite society the authors clearly follow the group's turn toward religious revolution and away from secular activism This book transforms our understanding of twentieth century Lebanese history and demonstrates how the rise of Hizbullah was conditioned by Shi'ites consistent marginalization and neglect by the Lebanese state

Conflict on Mount Lebanon Rabah Makram Rabah, 2020-08-18 The Druze and the Maronites arguably the two founding communities of modern Lebanon have the reputation of being primordial enemies Makram Rabah attempts to gauge the impact of collective memory on determining the course and the nature of the conflict between these communities in Mount Lebanon He takes as his focus the War of the Mountain in 1982 reconstructing the events of this war through the framework of collective remembrance and oral history He challenges the idea that these group identities were constructed by their respective centres of power within the Maronite and Druze community providing an alternative to the prevailing meta narrative Telling the stories of the many people who took part in these events or who simply suffered as a consequence helps to expose the intrinsic motives which led to this conflict and makes a valuable contribution to the field of Lebanese historical scholarship

Mediterranean in Dis/order Rosita Di Peri, Daniel Meier, 2023-03-07 Mediterranean in Dis order reveals the connection between space and politics by examining the role that space has played in insurgencies conflicts uprisings and mobilities in the Mediterranean region With this approach the authors are able to challenge well established beliefs about the power structure of the state across different disciplines including political science history sociology geography and anthropology and its impact on the conception production and imagination of space in the broader Mediterranean Further they contribute to particular areas of studies such as migration political Islam mobilization and transition to democracy among others The book infusing critical theory unveils original and revelatory case studies in Tunisia Libya Lebanon Turkey Syria Morocco and the EU Mediterranean policy through a various set of actors and practices from refugees and migrations policies to Islamist or students movements architectural sites or movies This multidisciplinary perspective on space and power provides a valuable resource for practitioners interested in how space context and time interact to produce institutions political subjectivities and asymmetries of power particularly since the turning point of the Arab uprisings The book also helps readers understand the conditions under which the uprisings develop giving a clearer picture about various national regional and international dynamics

The Druze Community and the Lebanese State Yusri Hazran, 2014-07-11 One of the fundamental questions of Middle Eastern and Lebanese studies in particular is the history of the relationship between the Druze community and the state in modern Lebanon Arguing that the Druze community has been politically alienated from the Lebanese state this book explores the historical and political origins of this alienation The Druze Community and the Lebanese State contends that the origins of this alienation lie in the state s national ideology its political confessional system and the Druze s historical background during the medieval period Moreover this book examines the extent to which the Druze s attitude vis vis the Lebanese state has been influenced by their historical rivalry with the Maronites Particular emphasis is placed on the political and ideological practices adopted by the Druze leadership and intelligentsia as they dealt with the changes taking place in their community s political status following the political settlements of 1920 and 1943 the establishment of Greater Lebanon and the National Pact respectively A welcome addition to existing literature on Lebanon this book will be an essential reference tool for students and researchers with an interest in nationalism identity and Middle East Politics more broadly

The Ottoman Cities of Lebanon James A. Reilly, 2016-07-25 Whether defined as essentially Turkish and therefore alien to the Lebanese experience or remembered in its final years as a tyrannical and brutal dictatorship the period has not been thought of fondly in most Lebanese historiography In a far reaching and much needed analysis of this complex legacy James A Reilly looks at Arabic language history writing emanating from Lebanon in the post 1975 period focusing on the three main Ottoman administrative centres of Saida Beirut and Tripoli This examination highlights key aspects of Lebanon s current political and cultural climate and emphasises important points of agreement and conflict in contemporary historical discourse The 1989 Ta if Accords for example which ended the Lebanese Civil War were accompanied by calls for reinterpretation of how the country s history could assist in creating a sense of national cohesion The Ottoman Cities of Lebanon is invaluable to all historians and researchers working on Lebanese history and politics and wider issues of identity post imperialist discourse and nationhood in the Middle East

Hidden Histories Basem L. Ra'ad, 2010-06-04 For thousands of years Palestine and the Eastern Mediterranean have been subject to constant colonial interference which has disenfranchised the indigenous population from their own history Basem L Ra ad uncovers this history and begins the process of reconnecting it with its rightful owners Orientalist ideologies colonial projects and Zionist cultural takeovers have contributed profoundly to the revisionism of Palestine s history Drawing upon research in archaeology linguistics and history Ra ad dispels many of the myths relating to religions languages peoples and sites What emerges from this recovery is the presence of native people a forgotten submerged and subaltern who stubbornly endure from ancient Canaan to contemporary Palestine Demanding that we unlearn whitewashed colonial histories Hidden History is a process of recovery de colonization revision and inclusivity The Politics of Race and Racialisation in the Middle East Burcu Ozcelik, 2022-06-08 This book explores the extent to which race and racialisation offer us an explanatory framework to study the contemporary politics of identity in the Middle East today Most studies of the Middle East commonly presume that the race signifier is reserved for the juxtaposition of Black and White identity to which the Arab Persian and Turkish world counts itself as exterior Up until now few works on the Middle East have discussed race as central to their analysis This book works to remedy this shortcoming by extending the critical scholarship on race and racial subordination to the region s states and societies Crucially how does race interact with and confront other categories of identity such as gender religion sect and nationality What can a consideration of racialisation reveal about structures of oppression in the Middle East and evolving forms of belonging and dispossession Adopting race as the focus of enquiry allows us to unpack what we are really talking about when we talk about difference in the region the reproduction and resilience of power and the insidious harmful mutations of identity based discrimination in unequal societies The Politics of Race and Racialisation in the Middle East is a significant new contribution to racial and ethnic studies and will be a great resource for academics researchers and advanced students of sociology politics history social anthropology political and cultural geography The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies Interlopers of Empire Andrew Arsan, 2014-01-06 This work is the first comprehensive history of the Lebanese migrant communities of colonial French West Africa a vast expanse that covered present day Senegal C te d Ivoire Mali Guinea Benin and Mauritania Where others have concentrated on the commercial activities of these migrants casting them as archetypal middlemen this work reconstructs not just their economic strategies but also their social and political lives Moreover it examines the fraught responses of colonial Frenchmen to the unsettling presence of these interlopers of empire responses which with their echoes of metropolitan racism helped to shape the ways in which Lebanese migrants represented themselves and justified their place in West Africa This is a work which attempts not just to reshape broader understandings of diasporic life of Janus like existences lived in transit between distant locales and de pendent on the constant to and fro of people news and goods but also to challenge the way we think about empires and the relations between their constituent territories and diverse inhabitants The Lebanese-Phoenician Nationalist Movement Basilius Bawardi, 2016-08-08 The question of belonging has formed the basis of the political religious and cultural tensions in Lebanon to the point that sectarian conflict on the country s future contributed significantly to the outbreak of civil war in 1975 This book focuses on the development of the Phoenician Lebanese movement that struggled against the hegemonic status of Arabic language and culture The Phoenician Lebanese were a predominantly Maronite Christian group who attempted to remove themselves from the Muslim and Arab world throughout the twentieth century

Their demands for self definition as a nation and their desire to establish their own culture were rooted in the concept of their ancient Phoenician past Basilius Bawardi examines four prominent authors who formed the basis on which all engaged so called Phoenician literature was built Sharl Qurm Sa id Aql Mayy Murr and Muris Awwad The literary corpus of these writers was a critical component of the political activity that strove to distinguish the native Lebanese inhabitants from their Arab Muslim neighbours Studying these authors works in both a literary and historical way Bawardi shows how language was used to promote a specific political agenda and identifies the strong connections between language literature and nation building As well as revealing the nationalist struggle as it emerges in prose and poetry the book discusses the history and formation of modern day Lebanon and why language and literature are so crucial for members of a national minority

The Origins of Syrian Nationhood Adel Beshara,2012-04-27 The Syria idea emerged in the nineteenth century as a concept of national awakening superseding both Arab nationalism and separatist currents Looking at nationalist movements ideas and individuals this book traces the origin and development of the idea of Syrian nationhood from the perspective of some of its leading pioneers Providing a highly original comparative insight into the struggle for independence and sovereignty in post 1850 Syria it addresses some of the most persistent questions about the development of this nationalism Chapters by eminent scholars from within and outside of the region offer a comprehensive study of individual Syrian writers and activists caught in a whirlwind of uncertainty competing ideologies foreign interference and political suppression A valuable addition to the present scholarship on nationalism in the Middle East this book will be of interest to many professionals as well as to scholars of history Middle East studies and political science

Between the Ottomans and the Entente Stacy D. Fahrenthold,2019-02-18 Between the Ottomans and the Entente presents a social history of World War I in the Syrian and Lebanese diaspora in North and South America Working from the passports petitions and propaganda written by migrant activists it documents Ottoman and French imperial projects to claim Syrian migrants for state building and highlights nationalist resistance from abroad

Lebanon William Harris,2012-07-11 The book explores the affairs of Mount Lebanon and its surrounds through fourteen centuries beginning with the emergence of its Christian Muslim and Islamic derived communities between the sixth and eleventh centuries Against this backdrop it interprets the modern republic of Lebanon from Ottoman antecedents to present day crises
