Sentimental Travelogue Volume 7:

Re-Reading the Eighteenth-Century Novel Jakub Lipski, 2021-08-12 Re Reading the Eighteenth Century Novel adds to the dynamically developing subfield of reception studies within eighteenth century studies Lipski shows how secondary visual and literary texts live their own lives in new contexts while being also attentive to the possible ways in which these new lives may tell us more about the source texts To this end the book offers five case studies of how canonical novels of the eighteenth century by Daniel Defoe Henry Fielding and Laurence Sterne came to be interpreted by readers from different historical moments Lipski prioritises responses that may seem non standard or even disconnected from the original appreciating difference as a gateway to unobvious territories as well as expressing doubts regarding readings that verge on misinterpretative appropriation The material encompasses textual and visual testimonies of reading including book illustration prints and drawings personal documents reviews literary texts and literary criticism The case studies are arranged into three sections visual transvaluations reception in Poland and critical afterlives and are concluded by a discussion of the most recent socio political uses and revisions of eighteenth century fiction in the Age of Trump 2016 2020

Women Writing the Home Tour, 1682-1812 Zoë Kinsley, 2016-12-05 Between the late seventeenth and the early nineteenth century the possibilities for travelling within Britain became increasingly various owing to improved transport systems and the popularization of numerous tourist spots Women Writing the Home Tour 1682 1812 examines women s participation in that burgeoning touristic tradition considering the ways in which the changing face of British travel and its writing can be traced through the accounts produced by the women who journeyed England Scotland and Wales during this important period This book explores female authored home tour travel narratives in print as well as manuscript works that have hitherto been neglected in criticism Discussing texts produced by authors including Celia Fiennes Ann Radcliffe and Dorothy Wordsworth alongside the works of lesser known travellers such as Mary Morgan and Dorothy Richardson Kinsley considers the construction and also the destabilization of gender class and national identity through chapters that emphasize the diversity and complexity of this rich body of writings

Political Affairs of the Heart Linda Van Netten Blimke, 2022-07-15 By examining four sentimental travelogues written by British women travelers during the American and French Revolutions Political Affairs of the Heart argues that this genre by combining eyewitness authority with the language of sensibility constitutes a significant site of women s engagement in national and gender politics

Laurence Sterne's A Sentimental Journey W. B. Gerard, M-C. Newbould, 2021-03-12 Laurence Sterne s A Sentimental Journey through France and Italy continues to be as widely read and admired as upon its first appearance Deemed more accessible than Sterne s Life and Opinions of Tristram Shandy Gentleman and often assigned as a college text A Sentimental Journey has received its share of critical attention but unlike Tristram Shandy to date it has not been the subject of a dedicated anthology of critical essays This volume fills that gap with fresh perspectives on Sterne s novel that will appeal to students and critics alike

Together with an introduction that situates each essay within A Sentimental Journey's reception history and a tailpiece detailing the culmination of Sterne's career and his death this volume presents a cohesive approach to this significant text that is simultaneously grounded and revelatory Handbook of British Travel Writing Barbara Schaff, 2020-09-07 This handbook offers a systematic exploration of current key topics in travel writing studies It addresses the history impact and unique discursive variety of British travel writing by covering some of the most celebrated and canonical authors of the genre as well as lesser known ones in more than thirty close reading chapters Combining theoretically informed astute literary criticism of single texts with the analysis of the circumstances of their production and reception these chapters offer excellent possibilities for understanding the complexity and cultural relevance of British travel writing The Missionary Sydney Owenson, 2002-02-05 Set in seventeenth century India The Missionary focuses on the relationship between Hilarion a Portuguese missionary to India and Luxima an Indian prophetess Both are aristocratic devoted to their religions bound by vows of chastity and begin the novel biased against other cultures This Broadview Literary Texts edition also includes extensive primary source appendices that situate the novel in relation to Irish Portuguese and Indian history as well as to the literature of sensibility and travel writing English Literature and the Wider World: All before them, 1660-1780 Michael Cotsell, John McVeagh, 1990 Censorship Derek Jones, 2001-12-01 Censorship A World Encyclopedia presents a comprehensive view of censorship from Ancient Egypt to those modern societies that claim to have abolished the practice For each country in the world the history of censorship is described and placed in context and the media censored are examined art cyberspace literature music the press popular culture radio television and the theatre not to mention the censorship of language the most fundamental censorship of all Also included are surveys of major controversies and chronicles of resistance Censorship will be an essential reference work for students of the many subjects touched by censorship and for all those who are interested in the history of and contemporary fate of freedom of expression All Before Them John McVeagh, 1989 Women's Travel Writings in India 1777-1854 Carl Thompson, 2020-02-27 The memsahibs of the British Raj in India are well known figures today frequently depicted in fiction TV and film In recent years they have also become the focus of extensive scholarship Less familiar to both academics and the general public however are the eighteenth and early nineteenth century precursors to the memsahibs of the Victorian and Edwardian era Yet British women also visited and resided in India in this earlier period witnessing first hand the tumultuous expansionist decades in which the East India Company established British control over the subcontinent Some of these travellers produced highly regarded accounts of their experiences thereby inaugurating a rich tradition of women's travel writing about India In the process they not only reported events and developments in the subcontinent they also contributed to them helping to shape opinion and policy on issues such as colonial rule religion and social reform This new set in the Chawton House Library Women's Travel Writing series assembles seven of these accounts six by British authors Jemima Kindersley Maria Graham

Eliza Fay Ann Deane Julia Maitland and Mary Sherwood and one by an American Harriet Newell Their narratives here reproduced for the first time in reset scholarly editions were published between 1777 and 1854 and recount journeys undertaken in India or periods of residence there between the 1760s and the 1830s Collectively they showcase the range of women s interests and activities in India and also the variety of narrative forms voices and personae available to them as travel writers Some stand squarely in the tradition of Enlightenment ethnography others show the growing influence of Evangelical beliefs But all disrupt any lingering stereotypes about women s passivity reticence and lack of public agency in this period when colonial women were not yet as sequestered and debarred from cross cultural contact as they would later be during the Raj Their narratives are consequently a useful resource to students and researchers across multiple fields and disciplines including women s writing travel writing colonial and postcolonial studies the history of women s educational and missionary work and Romantic era and nineteenth century literature This volume includes 2 texts Jemima Kindersley Letters from the Island of Teneriffe Brazil the Cape of Good Hope and the East Indies 1777 and Maria Graham Journal of a Residence in India 1812
