book presents a new approach to the study of nationalism and war in South Asia in general This book will be of interest to students and scholars of politics history anthropology and South Asian studies Decolonization in South Asia Sekhar Bandyopadhyay,2009-06-03 This book explores the meanings and complexities of India s experience of transition from colonial to the post colonial period It focuses on the first five years from independence on 15th August 1947 to the first general election in January 1952 in the politics of West Bengal the new Indian province that was created as a result of the Partition The author a specialist on the history of modern India discusses what freedom actually meant to various individuals communities and political parties how they responded to it how they extended its meaning and how in their anxiety to confront the realities of free India they began to invent new enemies of their newly acquired freedom By emphasising the representations of popular mentality rather than the institutional changes brought in by the process of decolonization he draws attention to other concerns and anxieties that were related to the problems of coming to terms with the newly achieved freedom and the responsibility of devising independent rules of governance that would suit the historic needs of a pluralist nation Decolonization in South Asia analyses the transitional politics of West Bengal in light of recent developments in postcolonial theory on nationalism treating the nation as a space for contestation rather than a natural breeding ground for homogeneity in the complex political scenario of post independence India It will appeal to academics interested in political science sociology social anthropology and cultural and Asian studies The Politics of Nuclear Weapons in South Asia Dr Bhumitra Chakma,2013-04-28 An important and critical re evaluation of South Asia s post tests nuclear politics in contrast to other books this volume emphasises the political dimension of South Asia s nuclear weapons explains how the bombs are used as politico strategic assets rather than pure battlefield weapons and how India and Pakistan utilise them for politico strategic purposes in an extremely complex and competitive South Asian strategic landscape Written by a group of perceptive observers of South Asia this volume evaluates the current state of Indo Pakistani nuclear deterrents the challenges that the two countries confront in building their nuclear forces the post test nuclear doctrines of the two strategic rivals the implications of Indo Pakistani politics for regional cooperation the role of two systemic actors USA and China in the region s nuclear politics and the critical issues of confidence building and nuclear arms control The Politics of Nuclear Weapons in South Asia Bhumitra Chakma,2016-02-24 An important and critical re evaluation of South Asia s post tests nuclear politics in contrast to other books this volume emphasises the political dimension of South Asia s nuclear weapons explains how the bombs are used as politico strategic assets rather than pure battlefield weapons and how India and Pakistan utilise them for politico strategic purposes in an extremely complex and competitive South Asian strategic landscape Written by a group of perceptive observers of South Asia this volume evaluates the current state of Indo Pakistani nuclear deterrents the challenges that the two countries confront in building their nuclear forces the post test nuclear doctrines of the two strategic rivals the implications of Indo Pakistani politics for regional cooperation the role of two systemic actors USA and China in the region's nuclear politics and the critical issues of confidence building and nuclear arms control South Asia from the Margins Asad ur Rehman, Muhammad Shoaib Pervez, 2025-02-18 This edited volume brings together a group of scholars examining the effects of social change on the politics in South Asia. It cobbles an inductive analytical framework of South Asian margins to comparatively study the political transformations across the region. This book envisages politics encompassing interests, imaginations, activities and actions of numerous actors. Individual contributors analyze the collective choices made by national elites over the past few decades and their implications for development, democracy and security of their respective country and the region. The resulting analytical framework provides a comparative political matrix of analysis that prioritizes the margins over the center. The matrix compares different countries around the axis of 1 Political Contestations and Engagements, 2 Decoloniality and Populism, and 3 Policy Frames and Visions. It is a contrapuntal analysis that establishes margins as a legitimate place to approach social scientific study of South Asia. An important and timely contribution to the field, this book will be of interest to researchers studying Asian politics, comparative politics, area studies in particular South Asia and Pakistan and international relations.
