Murder Walking Spirits:

Murder & Walking Spirits Robertson Davies, 1991 Anthony Burgess listed Davies The Rebel Angels among the 99 best novels of our time and declared that Davies himself is without doubt Nobel Prize material In this unusual novel Davies protagonist is murdered in the first sentence of the book but he lingers as a ghost to view the exploits of his ancestors from the American Revolution to the present Murder and Walking Spirits Robertson Davies, 1991 Murdered by his wife's lover Gil must spend his afterlife seated next to his murderer at a film festival where he views the exploits of his ancestors from the Revolutionary era to his parents time Encyclopedia of the Essay Tracy Chevalier, 1997 A hefty one volume reference addressing various facets of the essay Entries are of five types 1 considerations of different types of essay e g moral travel autobiographical 2 discussions of major national traditions 3 biographical profiles of writers who have produced a significant body of work in the genre 4 descriptions of periodicals important for their publication of essays and 5 discussions of some especially significant single essays Each entry includes citations for further reading and cross references Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Murder and Walking Spirits 8-Copy Robertson Davies, 1992-12-01 Characters and Passages from Note-books Samuel Butler, 1908 Afterlife and Narrative in Contemporary Fiction Alice Bennett, 2012-07-06 Afterlife and Narrative explores why life after death is such a potent cultural concept today and why it is such an attractive prospect for modern fiction The book mines a rich vein of imagined afterlives from the temporal experiments of Martin Amis's Time's Arrow to narration from heaven in Alice Sebold's The Lovely Bones

Aspects of Robertson Davies' Novels Victor J. Lams, 2009 Completing the survey begun in Lams Cornish Trilogy volume Aspects of Robertson Davies Novels discusses the Salterton and Deptford trilogies along with Davies last two novels Murder it is best understood as an implicit spiritual history of Canada which is adumbrated in the generational experience of a single Canadian family The Cunning Man concludes Davies career with a narrative as rewardingly complex as any of the Cornish trilogy novels Historical Dictionary of Gothic Literature William Hughes, 2013 Literary fashions come and go but some hang around longer than others like Gothic literature which has existed ever since The Castle of Otranto in 1764 During this long while it has spread from England to the rest of Great Britain and across to the continent and off to America and Australia filling in the gaps more recently Most of it is in English but hardly all and it has adopted all styles from romanticism to modernism to postmodernism and even adjusted to feminist and queer literature and science fiction We have all read some Gothic tales or if not read then seen them in the cinema since they adapt well to film treatment and it would be hard to find anyone who has not heard of ghosts and vampires let alone Count Dracula and Frankenstein On the other hand some of us are inveterate Gothic fans reading one book or story after the other The Historical Dictionary of Gothic Literature follows this long and winding path first in an extensive chronology and then a useful introduction which explains the nature of Gothic and shows how it has evolved Obviously the dictionary section has entries on major writers and some of the best known works but also on geographical variants like Irish Scottish or Russian Gothic and Female Gothic Queer Gothic and Science Fiction This is provided in over 200 often substantial and always intriguing entries More can be found in a detailed bibliography including general works but also more specialized ones on different styles and genres and also specific authors This book should certainly interest the fans but also more serious researchers A Bibliography of Robertson Davies Carl Spadoni, Judith Skelton Grant, 2014-08-01 Robertson Davies 1913 1995 one of Canada's most distinguished authors of the twentieth century was known for his work as a novelist playwright critic journalist and professor This descriptive bibliography is dedicated to his writing career covering all publications from his first venture into print at the age of nine to works published posthumously to 2011 Entries include each of Davies signed publications and those pseudonymous or anonymous writings he acknowledged having written Included are his plays novels journalism academic writing translations interviews speeches lectures unsigned articles and editorials films audio recordings and multimedia editions Also listed is a generous sampling of unsigned articles and editorials Using Davies archives and the archives of other authors organizations and publishers Carl Spadoni and Judith Skelton Grant present A Bibliography of Robertson Davies to serve the research demands of Canadian literature and book history scholars Canada from Afar David Twiston-Davies, 1996-07-25 Canada From Afar is the fruit of the remarkable flowering of obituary writing in the London Daily Telegraph during the past ten years These lively portraits of Canadians are informed witty sometimes quirky occasionally iconoclastic They include royal courtiers politicians businessmen soldiers sailors airmen scientists explorers novelists artists and even journalists Among the prominent Canadians viewed from afar are persons such as Margaret Laurence Joey Smallwood K C Irving Raymond Burr and A J Casson The Cambridge Companion to Canadian Literature Eva-Marie Kröller, 2017-06-08 A fully revised second edition of this multi author account of Canadian literature from Aboriginal writing to Margaret Atwood The Sacredness of the Person Hans Joas, 2013-02-19 What are the origins of the idea of human rights and universal human dignity How can we most fully understand and realize these rights going into the future In The Sacredness of the Person internationally renowned sociologist and social theorist Hans Joas tells a story that differs from conventional narratives by tracing the concept of human rights back to the Judeo Christian tradition or alternately to the secular French Enlightenment While drawing on sociologists such as mile Durkheim Max Weber and Ernst Troeltsch Joas sets out a new path proposing an affirmative genealogy in which human rights are the result of a process of sacralization of every human being According to Joas every single human being has increasingly been viewed as sacred He discusses the abolition of torture and slavery once common practice in the pre 18th century west as two milestones in modern human history The author concludes by portraying the emergence of the UN Declaration of Human Rights of 1948 as a successful process of value generalization Joas demonstrates that the history of human rights cannot adequately be described as a history of ideas or as legal history but as a complex transformation in which diverse cultural traditions had to be articulated legally codified and assimilated into practices of everyday life The sacralization of the person and universal human rights will only be secure in the future warns Joas through continued support by institutions and society vigorous discourse in their defense and their incarnation in everyday life and practice Preaching Judges (pct) , Robertson Davies Camille R. La Bossière, Linda M. Morra, 2001 This collection of essays on the writing of Robertson Davies addresses the basic problems in reading his work by looking at the topics of doubling disguise irony paradox and dwelling in gaps or spaces in between The essays present new insights on a broad range of topics in Davies oeuvre and represent one of the first major discussions devoted to Davies work since his death in 1995 Published in English characters and passages from note-books , The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Literature Cynthia Conchita Sugars, 2016 The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Literature provides a broad ranging introduction to some of the key critical fields genres and periods in Canadian literary studies The essays in this volume written by prominent theorists in the field reflect the plurality of critical perspectives regional and historical specializations and theoretical positions that constitute the field of Canadian literary criticism across a range of genres and historical periods The volume provides a dynamic introduction to current areas of critical interest including 1 attention to the links between the literary and the public sphere encompassing such topics as neoliberalism trauma and memory citizenship material culture literary prizes disability studies literature and history digital cultures globalization studies and environmentalism or ecocriticism 2 interest in Indigenous literatures and settler Indigenous relations 3 attention to multiple diasporic and postcolonial contexts within Canada 4 interest in the institutionalization of Canadian literature as a discipline 5 a turn towards book history and literary history with a renewed interest in early Canadian literature 6 a growing interest in articulating the affective character of the literary including an interest in affect theory mourning melancholy haunting memory and autobiography The book represents a diverse array of interests from the revival of early Canadian writing to the continued interest in Indigenous regional and diasporic traditions to more recent discussions of globalization market forces and neoliberalism It includes a distinct section dedicated to Indigenous literatures and traditions as well as a section that reflects on the discipline of Canadian literature as a whole Canadian Gothic Cynthia Sugars, 2014-01-15 This book explores the Gothic tradition in Canadian literature by tracing a distinctive reworking of the British Gothic in Canada It traces the ways the Gothic genre was reinvented for a specifically Canadian context On the one hand Canadian writers expressed anxiety about the applicability of the British Gothic tradition to the colonies on the other they turned to the Gothic for its vitalising rather than unsettling potential After charting this history of Gothic infusion Canadian Gothic turns its attention to the body of Aboriginal and diasporic writings that respond to this discourse of national self invention from a post colonial perspective These counter narratives unsettle the naturalising force of this invented history rendering the sense of Gothic comfort newly strange The Canadian Gothic tradition has thus been a conflicted one which reimagines the Gothic as a form of cultural sustenance This volume offers an important reconsideration of the Gothic legacy in Canada Robertson

Davies Nicholas Maes,2009-03-23 Born in Thamesville Ontario a student at Queen s University in Kingston in the 1930 s and editor and later publisher of the Peterborough Examiner from the 1940s to the mid 1960s playwright essayist critic professor and novelist Robertson Davies 1913 1995 was one of Canada s pre eminent literary voices for more than a half century Davies with his generous beard and donnish manner was the very epitome of the man of letters a term he abhorred Best known for his Deptford Trilogy of novels Fifth Business The Manticore World of Wonders he also wrote two other trilogies Salterton and Cornish and was at work on the third volume of another trilogy Toronto when he died With a life as rich in character and colour as that found in his fiction and essays Davies had a great fondness for magic and myth both of which are found in abundance in his work along with a prodigious streak of wry humour Robertson Davies Val Ross,2009-02-24 National bestseller and a Globe and Mail Best Book A fascinating larger than life character Davies left a treasure trove of stories about him when he died in 1995 expertly arranged here into a revealing portrait From his student days onward Robertson Davies made a huge impression on those around him He was so clearly bound for a glorious future that some young friends even carefully preserved his letters And everyone remembered their encounters with him Later in life as a world famous writer perhaps Canada s pre eminent man of letters who looked like Jehovah he attracted people eager to meet him who also vividly remembered their meetings So when Val Ross set out in search of people s memories she was faced with a wonderful embarrassment of riches The one hundred or so contributors here range very widely There are family memories of course and memories from colleagues in the academic world who knew him as a professor and the founding master of Massey College at the University of Toronto Predictably there are other major writers like Margaret Atwood and John Irving Less predictably there are people from the world of Hollywood such as Norman Jewison and David Cronenberg who remembers Davies on set peering through a camera lens as he researched his newest novel And we even hear from his barber and from his gardener Theo Henkenhaf Some speakers contribute just a lively paragraph others several pages Yet all of them through the magic of Val Ross s art help to create an intriguing full colour portrait of a complex man beloved by millions of readers around the world The Chinese Dream: China, I Love You Martin Avery,2016-02-09 The Chinese Dream China I Love You is an omnibus edition with three short novels and a short story all about love featuring a Canadian doctor who changes his name to Bethune and goes to China taking a cure for cancer with him to make millions going against the mainstream Western medication establishment and saving millions while making millions
