the instruments under the guidance of native experts while living among the tribesmen Firstly a study of primitive music and secondly a book of anthropological interest as it adds greatly to the knowledge of the customs of native tribes It is profusely illustrated by photographs of living subjects as well as of instruments from his own collection The Musical Instruments of the Native Races of South Africa Percival Robson Kirby, 1965 The Native Races of South Africa George William Stow, 1905 The author of this volume died before it was ready for the press The illustrations had most fortunately been carefully prepared and they are reproduced by chromolithography so that they are indistinguishable from the originals except that most of them have been reduced in size The manuscript was purchased by Miss Lucy C Lloyd from Mr Stow s widow with the intention of having it published but other work has prevented that lady from bestowing upon it the time and care needed for its arrangement In 1904 Miss Lloyd feeling that a work of such importance ought to be placed before the public without further delay did the author the honour of submitting the manuscript for the inspection and advice as to what should be done in the matter Miss Lloyd who is the greatest living authority upon the Bushmen attested the accuracy of much in Mr Stow s description of the customs and mode of life of those people though she doubted whether his division of that race into the two branches of painters and sculptors could be maintained thinking it probable that this matter was determined by locality and convenience The Musical Instruments of the Native Race of South Africa Percival

Robson Kirby, 1953 The Musical Instruments of the Indigenous People of South Africa Percival Kirby, 2013-08-01 A detailed collection of information about the playing and making of the instruments of indigenous peoples in South Africa Percival Kirby was a musician and ethnomusicologist and for many years head of the music department at the University of the Witwatersrand Johannesburg Between 1923 and 1933 he undertook more than nine expeditions as well as many shorter excursions around South Africa He was hosted by local chiefs and taught to play the instruments he encountered He managed to purchase many of them and this collection now known as the Kirby Collection is housed at the South African College of Music University of Cape Town First published as Musical Instruments of the Native Races of South Africa in 1934 the book was the culmination of research trips undertaken by Percival Kirby It became the standard reference on indigenous South African musical instruments The bulk of the material is concerned with detailed information on the making and playing of each instrument and is accompanied by a large number of musical examples This third edition contains an introduction by Mike Nixon Head of the Ethnomusicology and African Music at the South African College of Music and new reproductions of the valuable historic photographs but leaves Kirby's original text unchanged The Musical Practices of the Native Races of South Africa Percival Robson Kirby, 1937 The musical instruments of the native races of South Africa Percival Robson Kirby, 1953 , Musical Bows of Southern Africa Sazi Dlamini, 2020-12-10 Musical Bows of Southern Africa brings together current scholarly research that documents a rich regional diversity as well as cultural relationships in bow music knowledge and contemporary practices The book is framed as a critical appraisal of traditional ethnomusicological studies of the region complementing pioneering studies and charting contexts for a contemporary engagement with bow music as an exchangeable cultural practice Each contribution is written by an expert in the field and collectively demonstrates the multidisciplinary potential of bow music highlighting the several fields of knowledge that intersect with bow music including ethno organology applied ethnomusicology composition music literacy social development cultural economics history orality performance and language The Musical Instruments of the Native Races of South Africa ...
