Naturalistic Epistemology A Symposium Of Two Decades:

Naturalistic Epistemology A. Shimony, Debra Nails, 1987-03-31 1 AIMS OF THE INTRODUCTION The systematic assessment of claims to knowledge is the central task of epistemology According to naturalistic epistemologists this task cannot be well performed unless proper attention is paid to the place of the knowing subject in nature All philosophers who can appropriately be called naturalistic epistemologists subscribe to two theses a human beings including their cognitive faculties are entities in nature interacting with other entities studied by the natural sciences and b the results of natural scientific investigations of human beings particularly of biology and empirical psychology are relevant and probably crucial to the epistemological enterprise Naturalistic epistemologists differ in their explications of theses a and b and also in their conceptions of the proper admixture of other components needed for an adequate treatment of human knowledge e.g. linguistic analysis logic decision theory and theory of value Those contributors to this volume who consider themselves to be naturalistic epistemologists the majority differ greatly in these respects It is not my intention in this introduction to give a taxonomy of naturalistic epistemologies I intend only to provide an overview which will stimulate a critical reading of the articles in the body of this volume by facilitating a recognition of the authors assumptions emphases and omissions be of interest to students of philosophy in general Quine aficionados and most particularly to those working in the areas of epistemology ontology philosophies of language of logic and of science

The Evolutionary Biology Papers of Elie Metchnikoff H. Gourko,D. Williamson,A.I. Tauber,2013-04-17 Elie Metchnikoff 1845 1916 winner of the Nobel Prize in 1907 for his contributions to immunology was first a comparative zoologist who working in the wake of Darwin's On the Origin of Species made seminal contributions to evolutionary biology His work in comparative embryology is best known in regard to the debates with Ernst Haeckel concerning animal genealogical relationships and the theoretical origins of metazoans But independent of those polemics Metchnikoff developed his phagocytosis theory of immunity as a result of his early comparative embryology research and only in examining the full breadth of his work do we appreciate his signal originality Metchnikoff's scientific papers have remained largely untranslated into English Assembled here annotated and edited are the key evolutionary biology papers dating from Metchnikoff's earliest writings 1865 to the texts of his mature period of the 1890s which will serve as an invaluable resource for those interested in the historical development of evolutionary biology

E.A. Burtt, Historian and Philosopher D. Villemaire, 2013-04-17 Burtt's book The Metaphysical Foundations of Modern Physical Science is something of a puzzle within the context of twentieth century intellectual history especially American intellectual history Burtt's pioneering study of the scientific revolution has proved to be prophetic in its rejection of both scientism and positivism Published in 1924 Burtt's book continues to be read in educated circles and remains both the rose and the thorn on university reading lists raising skeptical questions about science methods and science knowledge just as it did seventy five years ago This book examines Burtt's public academic and personal life From his politics of conscience after World War I on through the Cold War Burtt is shown to be a man of unparalleled integrity whose relentless search for philosophic understanding drove his more quixotic philosophical quests and steered his personal life including its tragic dimension toward simple virtue The many who have been affected by The Metaphysical Foundations will be especially interested in this new perspective on the life and thought of its author Those who have not read Burtt's books might be inspired to study this unusual American thinker
