Abu-Lughod, R. Jr Hay, 2013-07-04 First published in 2006 Despite the growing significance of the Third World and the critical nature of its urbanization there are few synthetic books covering more than one region of the Third World which can be used either by scholars seeking an overview of the process of world urbanization or by students in the growing number of courses now being offered in the field of comparative urbanism The most distressing problem was that the field of urbanization particularly with reference to developing countries seemed to us to have stagnated at theoretically sterile conceptualizations or even worse had deteriorated into fragmented empirical descriptive reports whether observing with sympathy or noting with alarm the rapidly declining condition of individual cities This book attempts to rectify this deficiency

Farewell to Peasant China Gregory Eliyu Guldin, 2016-09-16 Chinese urbanization including the daily life migration strategies and life choices of villagers and townspeople is the focus of this study by Chinese and North American scholars The study looks at the urbanization process and the vitality of post reform Chinese society History, Culture and the Indian City Rajnayaran Chandavarkar, 2009-09-03 Raj Chandavarkar was one of the finest Indian historians of the twentieth century He died sadly young in 2006 leaving behind a very substantial collection of unpublished lectures papers and articles These have now been assembled and edited by Jennifer Davis Gordon Johnson and David Washbrook and their appearance will be widely welcomed by large numbers of scholars of Indian history politics and society The essays centre around three major themes the city of Bombay Indian politics and society and Indian historiography Each manifests Dr Chandavarkar's hallmark historical powers of imaginative empirical richness analytic acuity and expository elegance and the collection as a whole will make both a major contribution to the historiography of modern India and a worthy memorial to a major scholar

Anthropology in the City Italo Pardo, Giuliana B. Prato, 2016-05-23 With half of humanity already living in towns and cities and that proportion expected to increase in the coming decades society both Western and non Western is fast becoming urban and even mega urban As such research in urban settings is evidently timely and of great importance Anthropology in the City brings together a leading team of anthropologists to address the complex methodological and theoretical challenges posed by field research in urban settings clearly identifying the significance of the anthropological paradigm in urban research and its centrality both to mainstream academic debates and to society more broadly With essays from experts on wide ranging ethnographic research from fields as diverse as China Europe India Latin and North America and South East Asia this book demonstrates the contribution that empirically based anthropological analysis can make to our understanding of our increasingly urban world

Motherhood, Poverty, and the WIC Program in Urban America Suzanne Morrissey, 2015-12-24 The study presented here is one of urban poverty household survival and social institutions that both enable and control the decision making of poor women in America First and foremost it is about a public health program the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women Infants and Children known more commonly as WIC and how the institution re inscribes persistent stereotypes of the urban poor on the women it eagerly wishes to serve Despite encountering opposition and occasionally humiliation at the hands of those chosen to serve many low income women throughout the United States and Puerto Rico return to WIC every month because it represents a rite of passage that characterizes pregnancy Enrolling in WIC prenatally signifies to others the importance of providing for one s family in spite of socioeconomic disadvantage Yet whether women access WIC benefits or not their lived realities include a painful and enduring connection between urban poverty and health inequalities particularly inequalities leading to poor birth outcomes and infant mortality as explored in this urban ethnography
