The Search for Peking Man Christopher George Janus, William Brashler, 1975 An account of the search for the onehalf million year old fossil remains of Peking Man which were discovered in China in 1926 and lost in 1941 when the Japanese invaded China

Peking Man Harry Lionel Shapiro, 1975 The discovery disappearance and mystery of a priceless scientific treasure Jacket subtitle The Story of Peking Man Penny Van Oosterzee, 2001-10-01 At the end of the nineteenth century in China amateur fossil hunters knew that a ready supply of fossils could be found in backstreet Chinese apothecaries They were sold as dragon bones to be ground down and made into powerful medicines When the sources of these fossils were tracked down they revealed sites rich with the remains of horses rhinoceroses elephants and the ancestors of mankind Set against a background of squabbling Chinese warlords and the Japanese occupation

The People's Peking Man Sigrid Schmalzer, 2024-05-31 In the 1920s an international team of scientists and miners unearthed the richest evidence of human evolution the world had ever seen Peking Man After the communist revolution of 1949 Peking Man became a prominent figure in the movement to bring science to the people In a new state with twin goals of crushing superstition and establishing a socialist society the story of human evolution was the first lesson in Marxist philosophy offered to the masses At the same time even Mao's populist commitment to mass participation in science failed to account for the power of popular culture represented most strikingly in legends about the Bigfoot like Wild Man to reshape ideas about human nature The People's Peking Man is a skilled social history of twentieth century Chinese paleoanthropology and a compelling cultural and at times comparative history of assumptions and debates about what it means to be human By focusing on issues that push against the boundaries of science and politics The People's Peking Man offers an innovative approach to modern Chinese history and the history of science

Struggle for Freedom' 2008 Ed. Cecilio D. Duka, 2008

The Peking Man is Missing Claire Taschdjian, 2008 In the 1920s on a hill near Peking now Beijing a team of scientists discovered a huge cache of human bones some more than half a million years old Collectively dubbed Peking Man they were one of the most important finds in the history of paleontology And in 1941 in the chaos of World War II they disappeared No one knows what happened but there are plenty of theories many with political implications Claire Taschdjian's speculation as to what might have become of the priceless fossils could represent just another theory but for one intriguing fact Claire Taschdjian was one of the last people in the world known to have seen Peking Man With newly commissioned material on the true story of the Peking Man The Story of Peking Man Lanpo Jia, Weiwen Huang, 1990 Once a forlorn village fifty kilometers south of Beijing Zhoukoudian formerly Choukoutien is today a virtual shrine to archaeology a bustling community with its own highway extension a major exhibit hall which attracts hundreds of thousands of tourists annually and one of the world's most famous fossil sites Still active today this site in seven decades has contributed immeasurably to our knowledge of prehistoric life It boasts one of the richest fossil deposits found anywhere ranging from the Early Pliocene to the Late Pleistocene a span of three million years It has provided some of the earliest evidence of fire usage ever uncovered And most important it is the home of Peking Man whose discovery ranks as one of the great events in modern archaeology Now in The Story of Peking Man one of China's foremost archaeologists Jia Lanpo offers a profusely illustrated history of Zhoukoudian tracing its earliest discoveries and greatest moments recounting the tragic events of World War II Japanese soldiers murdered three archaeologists and the Peking Man fossils vanished under mysterious circumstances and evaluating its overall importance Lanpo spent over half a century at Zhoukoudian and he provides many fascinating first hand accounts of scientists at work including such figures as Davidson Black Pierre Teilhard de Chardin Yang Zhongjian Pei Wenzhong and of course Lanpo himself He describes how the abundance of dragon bones fossils sold in herbal medicine shops in Zhoukoudian first attracted Johan Gunnar Andersson who began excavations there in 1918 the first major discovery a human skullcap found by Pei Wenzhong while digging by candlelight in a tiny cave and Jia Lanpo's own discovery of a beautifully preserved skullcap in 1936 He vividly conveys the great excitement of an important find as well as the pressure to make major discoveries as funding runs low And he reviews many of the theories and controversies surrounding Peking Man Were they cannibals Did they use bones as tools Did humanity originate in Asia or Africa Based on numerous unpublished sources including field reports personal letters and photographs and Lanpo's own remembrances The Story of Peking Man provides an inside look at a major archaeological site one that will fascinate anyone interested in the origins of humanity Human Evolution P. J. Andrews, C. B. Stringer, 1989-09-29 The development of our ancestors is traced by fossil evidence of various ancestral groups in a survey that expands from man's earliest beginnings through the emergence of modern humans
