Prose And Ideals:

Prose & Ideals Angelo Georgiou, 2005 In Prose and Ideals Australian author Angelo Georgiou applies his witty common sense philosophies to subjects ranging from religion and politics to society and family life Images and Ideas in Chinese

Classical Prose Youshi Zhen, 1988 The classical prose essay ku wen of the T'ang and Sung dynasties is one of the major Chinese literary genres of far greater significance in the Chinese literary tradition than the comparable essay form is in Western literature This first comprehensive study of Ku wen in English focuses on its four most important writers Han Yu and Liu Tsung-yuan of the T'ang and Ouyang Hsiu and Su Shih of the Sung With this work the author hopes to restore a balance to Western study of the literature of the T'ang and Sung which tend to be regarded as ages of poetry The four masters all of them major poets as well took their prose writings in ku wen very seriously leaving a heritage of masterpieces as models to be emulated by all subsequent Chinese writers In treating the individual writers the author emphasizes the relationship between a writer's ideas, his literary temperament and his stylistic practices in the process showing how each writer attempted to create a ku wen that would serve as a multi-faceted medium of literary discourse The Cambridge

Introduction to Russian Literature Caryl Emerson, 2008-07-10 Russian literature arrived late on the European scene Within several generations its great novelists had shocked and then conquered the world In this introduction to the rich and vibrant Russian tradition Caryl Emerson weaves a narrative of recurring themes and fascinations across several centuries Beginning with traditional Russian narratives saints' lives folk tales epic and rogue narratives the book moves through literary history chronologically and thematically juxtaposing literary texts from each major period Detailed attention is given to canonical writers including Pushkin Gogol Dostoevsky Tolstoy Chekhov Bulgakov and Solzhenitsyn as well as to some current bestsellers from the post-Communist period Fully accessible to students and readers with no knowledge of Russian the volume includes a glossary and pronunciation guide of key Russian terms as well as a list of useful secondary works The book will be of great interest to students of Russian as well as of comparative literature The Atlantic Monthly, 1901

Romancing Treason Megan G. Leitch, 2015 Romancing Treason examines English literature written during the Wars of the Roses Focusing on the theme of treason Megan Leitch suggests that the idea of a literature of the Wars of the Roses offers a way of understanding an understudied period Art, Psychoanalysis, and Adrian Stokes Janet

Sayers, 2018-03-21 Illustrated with Barbara Hepworth's abstract stone carving with other works of art and with fascinating vignettes from Adrian Stokes's writing this biography highlights his revolutionary emphasis on the materials-led inspiration of architecture sculpture painting and the avant-garde creations of the Ballets Russes In also detailing Stokes's role as catalyst of the transformation of St Ives in Cornwall into an internationally acclaimed centre of modern art and his falling in love again in his early forties this biography shows how Stokes used all these experiences together with his many years of psychoanalytic treatment by Melanie Klein in forging insights about ways the outer world gives form to the inner world of fantasy and imagination T. S. Eliot's Ascetic Ideal Joshua Richards, 2020-09-07 In T S Eliot's Ascetic Ideal Joshua Richards charts an intellectual history of T S Eliot's interaction with asceticism. This history is drawn from Eliot's own education in the topic with the texts he read integrated into detailed textual analysis. Eliot's early encounters with the ascetic ideal began a lifetime of interplay and reflection upon self-denial, purgation and self-surrender. In 1909 he began a study of mysticism, likely in George Santayana's seminar, and thereafter showed the influence of this education. Yet his interaction with the ascetic ideal and his background in mysticism was not a simple thing; still, his early cynicism was slowly transformed to an embrace.

Moral Authority in Seamus Heaney and Geoffrey Hill Bridget Vincent, 2022-02-17 How do poems communicate moral ideas? Can they express concepts in ways that are unique and impossible to replicate in other forms of writing? This book explores these questions by turning to two of the late twentieth century's most important poets, Seamus Heaney and Geoffrey Hill. Their work shows that a poem can act as an example of a moral concept rather than simply a description or discussion of it. Exploring these two poets via their shared preoccupation with poetry's moral exemplarity opens up new perspectives on their work. The concept of exemplarity is shown to play an important role in these poets' most significant preoccupations: from moral complicity to the nature of lyric speech to literary influence to memorialisation, responsibility and aesthetic autonomy. Through this new analysis of poetry, critical prose, drama and archival materials, this book offers a major new study of ethics in the later period of these two writers, including recent underexplored posthumous works. In turn, the book also makes an important intervention in larger debates about literature and morality and about the field of ethical criticism itself: this is the first book-length study to expand ethical criticism beyond its customary narrative focus. The ethical criticism of fiction is often an exercise in methodological advocacy, urging the use of more literary examples in moral philosophy. As this book shows, including poetry among these examples introduces new lyric-inflected caveats about the use of literature as a form of moral example, caveats which remain invisible in narrative-centred ethical criticism.

Crossing Boundaries John A. McCarthy, 2016-11-11 Crossing Boundaries focuses on the intellectual and social factors that led to the emergence and first flowering of the German essay. John McCarthy challenges traditional ways of thinking about literature by concentrating on the impact of Enlightenment philosophy, rhetoric, genre theory and literary life on the evolution of essayistic writing in German. Taking issue with the commonly held view that the German essay did not evolve until after 1750 and then only under the influence of French and British models, McCarthy argues that Enlightenment skepticism and the social ideas of the galant homme spawned an early native form. Varieties of that form, a kind of writing the author terms essayism, were pervasive, extending into a variety of genres in the hands of writers such as Leibniz, Lessing, Goethe, Schiller and Schlegel. He combines in-depth analyses of representative essays with unique adaptations of recent developments in literary theory, intellectual history, literary history and social history. McCarthy's argument is centrally concerned with the critical reexamination of the categories of knowledge and of the means of disseminating information that characterized eighteenth century thought The essay an experimental form that crosses boundaries of discipline and genre is derived from this new emphasis and is the clearest reflection of the dialectic interplay among thinking writing and reading It is also as such the genre or mode most closely related to Enlightenment philosophy itself The Standard Dictionary of Facts Henry Woldmar Ruoff,1909 The American Ideal Peter C. Carafiol,1991 This work argues that American literary scholarship enshrines a reactionary vision of history of narrative and of America itself Carafiol examines the way idealist assumptions have been essential to doing American literary history and unwraps the implications of that symbiosis for current debates about the aims and methods of literary history in general Carafiol directs his critique not only at traditional approaches to American literature but also at the most influential recent efforts by New Historicists and cultural critics to revise that tradition Reconsidering the debate between ahistorical and historical models of literary study he argues that works by such writers like Emerson and Thoreau subvert the claims of critics on both sides Such writing is important he proposes not as timeless art or as social document but as a voice that can speak powerfully in contemporary conversations challenging literary critics in all fields to reconsider their critical assumptions and professional practices Catalogue Swarthmore College,1929 Annual Catalogue ... with Minutes of the ...
