Prostate Cancer New Approaches To Endocrine Therapy:

Prostate Cancer Philip H. Smith,1990-01-01 Endocrine Management of Cancer: Contemporary Therapy B. A. Stoll,1988-02-18 Biological and Hormonal Therapies of Cancer Kenneth A. Foon,Hyman B. Muss,2012-12-06 This volume Biological and Hormonal Therapies of Cancer which is part of the series Cancer Treatment and Research presents selected new information concerning biologic and hormonal therapy of cancer We have attempted to provide the reader with topics of major interest in a timely fashion There is renewed interest in biologic therapy of cancer Two chapters review the role of interferon in the hematologic malignancies and in solid tumors Vaccine therapies have come to the forefront of cancer therapy recently and two chapters approach different strategies of vaccine therapies one reviews the cellular vaccine therapies and another the anti idotype approach The hormonal therapy chapters focus on current uses of endocrine therapy in endometrial breast and prostate cancer In addition hormonal strategies for the prevention of breast cancer and endometrial cancer including exciting information relating to phytochemicals are presented The effects of tamoxifen on endometrium is a topic of major interest and is discussed in detail Finally there is a chapter on estrogen receptor expression and regulation in human breast cancer These chapters are all written by experts in the field and contain timely and relevant information of interest to laboratory and clinical scientists and practitioners alike Biologic and endocrine therapies represent major areas of cancer research interest The advent of newer biologic therapies including new antibody targeted treatments and the use of biologics as tumor modulators to enhance the effects of other treatment regimens is an exploding avenue of research NCI Monographs ,1988 Cancer Treatment Reports ,1984 Advancements in Tumor Immunotherapy and Cancer Vaccines Hilal Arnouk,2012-02-03 Harnessing the potential of the human body's own immune system to attack malignant tumor cells has been the goal of many scientific investigators in recent years with advances in cancer biology and immunology enabling cancer immunotherapy to become a reality World class bench and clinical researchers have joined forces to collaborate and review current developments and trends in cancer immunology for the purposes of this book and the result is a promising review of contemporary clinical treatments In each chapter the authors present the scientific basis behind such therapeutic approaches including cancer vaccines with special focus on prostate cancer melanoma and novel approaches utilizing both innate and adaptive immune responses Peptides and Non Peptides of Oncologic and Neuroendocrine Relevance E.E. Müller,2012-12-06 Describes the ability of a series of endocrine derived compounds i.e. CHRH LHRH somatostatin anti androgens and aromatase inhibitors to exert a direct anti neoplastic activity or to potentiate the activity of traditional chemotherapeutic agents on neuroendocrine and solid tumors In addition a new class of potent GH releasers GSHs Ghrelin endowed with important endocrine and extra endocrine action is presented Therefore in addition to traditional chemotherapy characterized by high toxicity and non selective action on tumoral cells the reader can find a new approach with more selective less cytotoxic endocrine derived compounds Novel Approaches to Cancer

Chemotherapy Prasad S. Sunkara, 2013-10-22 Novel Approaches to Cancer Chemotherapy compiles theories in tumor biology emphasizing their potential use in developing therapeutic approaches to cancer therapy This book emphasizes the unique property of a cancer cell and describes in detail how a novel therapeutic approach can be developed This compilation consists of 11 chapters Chapters 1 2 5 6 and 7 deal with emerging areas of cancer therapy such as the use of interferon monoclonal antibodies liposomes lymphokines and immunomodulators The rest of the chapters cover some of the biochemical and enzyme targets in cancer cells such as polyamines prostaglandin thromboxane leukotrienes 5 α reductase aromatase cell membrane glycoproteins and sodium flux The developments in relation to cancer therapy are mentioned in chapters dealing with biochemical approaches This book is valuable to biologists biochemists immunologists and molecular biologists intending to exploit the unique properties of cancer cells

Cumulated Index Medicus, 1976 Endocrine Therapies in Breast and Prostate Cancer C. Kent Osborne, 2012-12-06 It has been recognized for many years that cancers originating in the breast and prostate gland are frequently endocrine dependent Traditional therapies included surgical endocrine ablative procedures or pharmacologic hormone administration both designed to antagonize the stimulatory effects of sex steroid hormones In the past decade several new treatment strategies for these tumors have emerged from basic studies in reproductive biology and mechanisms of action of steroid hormones In some instances these new treatments have eliminated or reduced the need for major surgical ablative procedures or for toxic hormone therapy The clinical role for other new treatments has not yet been clearly defined although exciting preliminary data from recent clinical trials are now available Thus an objective review of the current status of these new therapeutic approaches is of interest In this volume we have attempted to provide an in depth review of both basic and clinical research involving several new treatment strategies for breast and prostate cancer The first three chapters summarize preclinical and clinical studies of the luteinizing hormone releasing hormone analogues which can be used effectively to induce medical castration Chapters 4 5 and 6 review the rationale and clinical use of the compounds known collectively as the aromatase inhibitors which can also be used to suppress sex steroid hormone levels Antiestrogen mechanism of action and its clinical implications for the design of innovative treatment approaches is considered in chapters 7 and 8

Beger,Markus Büchler,Ralph A. Reisfeld,Gregor Schulz,2012-12-06 A variety of new cancer therapy modalities are discussed and evaluated in this book It aims to demonstrate that the combination of classical chemo and radiotherapy with new approaches in the field of immunotherapy can result in an improved treatment modality Immunotherapy in this context consists of therapy with monoclonal antibodies hematopoietic growth factors and other lymphokines Results of early clinical trials with IL 2 GM CSF and monoclonal antibodies against gastrointestinal tumors and melanoma are included The progress in regional chemotherapy strategies for example of the liver is shown In addition the development of new chemotherapeutic agents with a different mode of action as well as better tolerability is presented The use of hormones such as LH RH agonists allows hormone dependent tumors such as prostatic and breast cancer to be treated without strong adverse reactions These recent findings give the reader insight into exciting therapeutic directions made possible by such combined rather than single modalities Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 1993: National institutes of health: overview United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies,1992 Drug Resistance William N. Hait,2012-12-06 Resistance to treatment represents the final common outcome for far too many patients with cancer Even our most promising new drugs fall victim to drug resistance Hormones and newer biological therapies though safe and active also lose their activity over time In this volume of Drug Resistance leading investigators in the field have reviewed the most basic mechanisms of drug resistance and have proposed ways to modulate resistance This comprehensive volume should be of value for basic and clinical scientists who wish to delve more deeply into this intriguing problem in the laboratory and devastating problem in the clinic
