Proust And Emotion The Role Of Affect In A La Recherche Du Temps Perdu:

Proust and Emotion Inge Crosman Wimmers,2003-01-01 In Proust and Emotion Inge Crosman Wimmers proposes a new approach to A la recherche du temps perdu that centres on the role of affect Through close reading of the hero narrator's personal history the author shows how emotional paradigms especially separation anxiety involuntary memory and other compelling impressions give focus and structure to Proust's novel Drawing on reader oriented and emotion theories she shows how affect commands the attention of the motivated reader and is crucial to the process of self understanding for both the narrator and the reader This is the first extensive study in English to take fully into consideration the drafts esquisses published in the new Pléiade edition of the novel the Mauriac edition of Albertine disparue and material from the unpublished Proust manuscripts all of which shed further light on the importance of affect in A la recherche Proust and Emotion will appeal to readers interested in an approach to Proust that combines insights from philosophy psychology and literary aesthetics and in a poetics of reading that pays particular attention to emotion

Reading in Proust's A la recherche Adam Watt,2009-06-18 Through close textual analysis of the scenes of reading in Proust's A la recherche du temps perdu Adam Watt offers an invigorating new study of the novel and previously unacknowledged paths through it After considering key childhood Primal Scenes which mark the act of reading as revelatory and potentially traumatic the book then identifies and examines the interwoven strands of the novel's narrative of reading showing that scenes where the narrator reads and where others provide lessons in reading are intricately connected within the narrator's ever unfolding considerations of intelligence sense experience knowledge and desire These acts of reading often bewildering the narrator with their mix of illuminations wrong turns and over determinations lead us to interrogate our own understanding of the act we accomplish as we read A la recherche This book emphasizes the complexities and contradictions with which reading always inescapably an engagement of both mind and body is riven and which connect it repeatedly to the experience of involuntary memory Reading is shown to be frequently fraught with heady instability and of a highly revealing sort from which narrator and readers alike have much to learn The book's final chapter shows how the narrator's critical energies turned contemplatively inwards in the Guermantes library are subsequently turned outwards for a final interpretive effort the reading of his now aged acquaintances at the Bal de têtes in a shift that provides the narrator not only the confidence to begin his work of art but also the humility to face undeterred the approach of death

Mourning and Creativity in Proust Anna Magdalena Elsner,2017-03-09 This study explores Proust's answers to some of the fundamental challenges of the inevitable human experience of mourning Thinking mourning and creativity together allows for a fresh approach to the modernist novel at large but also calls for a reassessment of the particular historical and social challenges faced by mourners at the beginning of the twentieth century The book enables the reader to acknowledge loss and forgetting as an essential part of memory and it proposes that this literary topos has seminal implications for an understanding of the ethics aesthetics and erotic in Proust's

A la recherche du temps perdu Drawing on the works of Sigmund Freud and Jacques Derrida Anna Magdalena Elsner develops an original theory of how mourning and creativity are linked by emphasizing that ethical dilemmas are central to an understanding of the novel's final aesthetic apotheosis This sheds new light on the enigmatic and versatile nature of mourning but also pays tribute to those fertile tensions and paradoxes that have made Proust's novel captivating for readers since its publication Marcel Proust in the Light of William James Marilyn M. Sachs, 2013-11-29 For a century now scholars have searched for the source of Marcel Proust's startlingly innovative novel la recherche du temps perdu Some have pointed to Henri Bergson Sigmund Freud or Paul Sollier Others have referenced the novels of Henry James But no one has focused on the more significant influence of the writings of Henry's older brother the psychologist and Harvard professor William James A close comparison reveals the degree to which Proust's novel stems from James's psychological and philosophical theories William James was a prominent member of the scientific medical and philosophical communities in Proust's Paris and was close friends with two men well known to Proust His works were translated into French and reviewed in French journals and newspapers This book discloses how Proust likely became familiar with William James and illustrates how James's writings were key to Proust's ability to craft the book he had been trying to write extending even to his use of similar language and imagery and a narrative schema that arguably mimics James's descriptions of consciousness perception and memory Proust's hero assiduously explores the vague uncertain relational aspects of experience the trials and comforts of habit the salvational potential of memory the moral aspects of personal history teeming with impression and desire these are the truths of human psychology and behavior theorized by William James and made fictional flesh in Proust's rendition of lived experience A Reader's Guide to Proust's 'In Search of Lost Time' David Ellison, 2010-02-18 A detailed analysis of Proust's masterpiece aimed at students coming to the work for the first time Proust in Love William C. Carter, 2008-10-01 The acclaimed Proust biographer William C Carter portrays Proust's amorous adventures and misadventures from adolescence through his adult years supplying where appropriate Proust's own sensitive intelligent and often disillusioned observations about love and sexuality Proust is revealed as a man agonizingly caught between the constant fear of public exposure as a homosexual and the need to find and express love In telling the story of Proust in love Carter also shows how the author's experiences became major themes in his novel In Search of Lost Time Carter discusses Proust's adolescent sexual experiences his disastrous brothel visit to cure homosexual inclinations and his first great loves He also addresses the duel Proust fought after the journalist Jean Lorrain alluded to his homosexuality in print his flirtations with respectable women and high class prostitutes and his affairs with young men of the servant class With new revelations about Proust's love life and a gallery of photographs the book provides an unprecedented glimpse of Proust's gay Paris Exploring Text and Emotions Patrizia Lombardo, Lars Sætre, Julien Zanetta, 2014-02-21 Exploring Text and Emotions investigates the functions values and effects of emotions in literature and the arts fostering the affective turn in textual theory and analysis Fifteen essays on various art works analyse how modern fiction drama theatre poetry and film as well as Greek tragedy succeed in both expressing and suggesting a vast and nuanced array of emotions while provoking affective responses in readers and spectators The volume focuses on the exemplary way in which literature and the arts act upon our minds and have a strong impact on our understanding of aesthetic political and moral values challenging shaping and transforming culture The volume also intends to show how seminal writers and works have anticipated contemporary theories of emotions and can contribute to their growth Linking formal aesthetic and cultural studies approaches and combining the latest developments in the affective sciences with the close reading of texts the volume puts forward a new direction for the study of literature arts media and culture

The Anxiety of Dispossession Masha Belenky, 2008 Focusing on male authored texts Belenky demonstrates that this obsession with sexual jealousy conveys both patriarchal anxiety over disempowerment stemming from social upheaval and a male desire for social and sexual control over the female body and mind Bound up with the male prerogative of ownership jealousy was assigned an explicitly public role in guarding a man's property and propriety This book considers portrayals of jealousy by major authors such as Balzac Hugo and Zola alongside a broad range of works by medical writers journalists and moralists who wrote for popular audiences

The Oracle of the "tiny finger snap of time" Pauline Winsome Beard, 2016-08-17 Many poets playwrights and novelists have grappled with the concept of time Even more scholars have analyzed how novelists have used time for structuring organizing plotting and philosophizing This collection of essays about the use of time in the novel is unique not only because the writers cover a wide range of concepts of time but also because they locate certain novels within a specific time culture The chapters analyze novels and one film with definite time cultures providing hints as to the future of the use of time in the novel Emily Bald's chapter begins the collection in the nineteenth century with Life in the Iron Mills showing both inner time the perceptual time which fluctuates with the vicissitudes of affective experience and external time which has become known as clock time This ties in well with Rachel Kaufmann's chapter exploring felt time in contemporary women's literature Marco Caracciolo's chapter adds cosmic time to Ricoeur's monumental and mortal time with the case studies of Virginia Woolf's The Waves and Terrence Malick's film The Tree of Life Two chapters explore the effects of World War Two AJ Burgin presents the disorienting technique of Martin Amis' Time's Arrow that shows time going backwards even in dialogue Raymond Burt presents two novels of Michael Khlmeier a contemporary Austrian writer spanning the decades since the end of World War Two with his chapter drawing the link between time and morality The final chapter on Calvino's If on a winter's night a traveler shows the multiplicity of time that the previous chapters have demonstrated so clearly Terms such as affect truth haunting memory reality identity morality and mortality all resonate within these chapters as characters within the novels and their specific culture areas grapple with time recall the past and attempt to live in the present Many of the writers in this collection point towards possible new methods of dealing with time reading methods engaging with the novel writers of the future in new and interesting relationships Here Time has not been wasted The Cambridge Companion to French Literature John D. Lyons, 2016 A fresh and comprehensive account of the literature of France from medieval romances to twenty first century experimental poetry and novels Recovering Your Story Arnold Weinstein, 2007-12-18 Great art discovers for us who we are writes eminent literature professor and critic Arnold Weinstein in this magisterial new book about how we can better uncover and understand our own stories by reading five major modern writers Professor Weinstein author of the highly acclaimed A Scream Goes Through the House has spent a lifetime guiding students through the work of great writers and in a volume that crowns his career Weinstein invites us to discover ourselves our perceptions our dreams our own elusive deepest stories in the masterpieces of modernist fiction Marcel Proust James Joyce Virginia Woolf William Faulkner the very names sound intimidating Yet as Weinstein argues with wit and passion the works of these authors and of their contemporary heir Toni Morrison are in fact shimmering mirrors of our own inner world and most intimate thoughts Novels such as Remembrance of Things Past Ulysses Mrs Dalloway To the Lighthouse The Sound and the Fury Absalom Absalom and Beloved allow us to explore the inner worlds of human feeling and bring us face to face with our own deepest selves and desires Weinstein decodes these great novels and he shows how to read them to understand human beings the way our minds and hearts actually work This is what Weinstein means by recovering your story Weinstein illuminates the complex pleasures woven into these peerless narratives Beneath the slow sensual cadences of Proust he finds an edgy erotic tension as well as a remarkably crisp depiction of the timeless world inside the self Joyce's Ulysses in Weinstein's brilliantly original reading is a protean linguistic experiment that forces us to view both our bodies and our minds in a radically new and hilariously funny light His analysis of Virginia Woolf's Mrs Dalloway and To the Lighthouse circles back again and again on Woolf's depiction of the importance of relationships in knowing the self Faulkner argues Weinstein is at once our greatest tragedian and our darkest comedian a novelist who captures both the agony and absurdity of consciousness in a time of social and moral disintegration Finally in Toni Morrison's Beloved Weinstein explores the legacy of modernism in a contemporary novel as Morrison brings the body into the literary picture confronting how the body affects not only our fundamental concept of self but also consciousness itself In this magnificent work of literary appreciation and exploration Weinstein makes the astonishing discovery of the self as a part of the joy of reading great modernist fiction even as he makes these powerful works understandable accessible indeed imperative for all adventurous readers Cognition, Literature, and History Mark J. Bruhn, Donald R. Wehrs, 2013-11-26 Cognition Literature and History models the ways in which cognitive and literary studies may collaborate and thereby mutually advance It shows how understanding of underlying structures of mind can productively inform literary analysis and historical inquiry and how formal and historical analysis of distinctive literary works can reciprocally enrich our understanding of those underlying structures Applying the cognitive neuroscience of categorization emotion figurative thinking narrativity self awareness theory of mind and wayfinding to the study of literary works and genres from diverse historical periods and cultures the authors argue that literary experience proceeds from qualitatively heightens and selectively informs and even reforms our evolved and embodied capacities for thought and feeling This volume investigates and locates the complex intersections of cognition literature and history in order to advance interdisciplinary discussion and research in poetics literary history and cognitive science

Affect Theory, Genre, and the Example of Tragedy Duncan A. Lucas, 2018-09-08 Affect Theory Genre and the Example of Tragedy employs Silvan Tomkins Affect Script theory of human psychology to explore the largely unacknowledged emotions of disgust and shame in tragedy The book begins with an overview of Tomkins relationship to both traditional psychoanalysis and theories of human motivation and emotion before considering tragedy via case studies of Oedipus Hamlet and Death of a Salesman Aligning Affect Script theory with literary genre studies this text explores what motivates fictional characters within the closed conditions of their imagined worlds and how we as an audience relate to and understand fictional characters as motivated humans

The Art of the Text Susan R Harrow, 2013-09-15 The Art of the Text contributes to the fast developing dialogue between textual studies and visual culture studies It focuses on the processes through which writers think and readers respond visually and in essays by researchers in literature screen and visual studies the volume explores the viscosity of the literary and non literary text with a sustained focus on French material of the later nineteenth and twentieth centuries Viscosity is appraised here not as a state but as a set of processes of adaptation resistance negotiation and transformation By reading visually the contributors here reactivate the visual textual relations of canonical texts from Romanticism to Naturalism Surrealism to high Modernism from film to fan literature television to picture language

Regarding Lost Time Katja Haustein, 2017-07-05 What is autobiography and how does it transform in the age of technological reproducibility Katja Haustein discusses this question as it relates to photography and the role of emotion in Marcel Proust s In Search of Lost Time 1909 22 Walter Benjamin s Berlin Childhood around 1900 1932 38 and Roland Barthes s Roland Barthes 1977 and Camera Lucida 1980 In her close critical readings Haustein provides the first comprehensive comparative analysis of these popular works mapping them against little studied textual visual and aural material some of which has only recently become accessible In this way her book opens new avenues in scholarship dedicated to three outstanding twentieth century writers and contributes to a field of critical inquiry that is still in the making the history of autobiography in the light of a history of the gaze
