Learning Citizenship Jenny Wales,Paul Clarke,2005 This book shows how a variety of teaching strategies can be used to teach citizenship skills across a range of curriculum subjects as well as in Citizenship lessons Citizenship Through Secondary History James Arthur,Ian Davies,David Kerr,Andrew Wrenn,2003-12-16 Citizenship through Secondary History reveals the potential of history to engage with citizenship education and includes a review of the links between citizenship education and the teaching and learning of history an analysis of how citizenship education is characterised raising key issues about what could and should be achieved a critique of the discipline and the pitfalls to avoid in teaching citizenship through history case studies offering practical teaching suggestions History teaching is at the vanguard of citizenship education the past is the springboard from which citizens learn to think and act This book offers positive and direct ways to get involved in the thinking that must underpin any worthwhile citizenship education for all professional teachers student teachers in history policy makers heads of department and principals Equality in the Secondary School Mike Cole,2009-10-22 Drawing on a wealth of knowledge from a diverse group of contributors this volume addresses the importance of going beyond equal opportunities The contributors provide a compelling argument for promoting equality in secondary schools Issues covered include social class race gender sexual orientation disability and special educational needs with reference to all subjects taught at secondary school level Citizenship Education Nader Al-Refai,Christopher Adam Bagley,2008-01-01 This important book draws together and integrates several strands in educational policy It offers a perspective on the role of Britain s increasing Muslim population and the need for Citizenship Education for all school pupils which can allow young Muslims to integrate in ways which meet their legitimate needs for expression of religious values and which fosters tolerance in both Muslim pupils and in their peers as well as responsible participation in the wider democracy The book explains clearly the meaning of education and citizenship in Islam and argues that the practice of Islam encourages its adherents both to tolerate other religions and the societies in which Islamic minorities have settled In this account there is no logic morality or theological support for violent acts against the state However increasing Islamophobia misdirected against Muslim youth in Britain has forced a reappraisal of identity This combined with increasing dissatisfaction of Muslim parents on the failure of mainstream schools to tolerate the religious aspirations of their children has led to the setting up of a number of Muslim schools in Britain Recent government actions to introduce Citizenship Education in all schools as a means of fostering tolerance and countering political apathy are evaluated in a study of five best practice Muslim schools and five similar schools serving a wider religious population Results show the general success of Citizenship Education in the Muslim schools studied and support the argument that Islamic education can support Citizenship Education in socially productive ways While focussed on Britain this book is an important comparative study of education sociology and social policy and deserves to be read by trainee teachers undergraduates and policy makers in the fields of education and social planning
