Magic and the Mind Eugene Subbotsky, 2010-03-31 Magical thinking and behavior have traditionally been viewed as immature misleading alternatives to scientific thought that in children inevitably diminish with age In adults these inclinations have been labeled by psychologists largely as superstitions that feed on frustration uncertainty and the unpredictable nature of certain human activities In Magic and the Mind Eugene Subbotsky provides an overview of the mechanisms and development of magical thinking and beliefs throughout the life span while arguing that the role of this type of thought in human development should be reconsidered Rather than an impediment to scientific reasoning or a byproduct of cognitive development in children magical thinking is an important and necessary complement to these processes enhancing creativity at problem solving and reinforcing coping strategies among other benefits In adults magical thinking and beliefs perform important functions both for individuals coping with unsolvable problems and stressful situations and for society enabling mass influence and promoting social harmony Operating in realms not bound by physical causality such as emotion relationships and suggestion magical thinking is an ongoing developing psychological mechanism that Subbotsky argues is integral in the contexts of politics commercial advertising and psychotherapy and undergirds our construction and understanding of meaning in both mental and physical worlds Magic and the Mind represents a unique contribution to our understanding of the importance of magical thinking offering experimental evidence and conclusions never before collected in one source It will be of interest to students and scholars of developmental psychology as well as sociologists anthropologists and educators      Something to Bear in Mind Michelle

Subbotsky,2024-06-03 This book demystifies the notion of living consciousness and aims to show that far from being a mere accompaniment to brain functions living consciousness defines the features of both physical objects and human artifacts The distinction is between living consciousness which includes subjective experiences here and now e g perceptions feelings imagination and creative thinking and conforms to the laws of magic versus objectified consciousness that comprises physical

e.g. computers and symbolic e.g. languages and concepts human artifacts and conforms to the laws of nature and formal logic The magnificent success of science in the modern world has plunged many scientists into the illusion that magical events are ancient history and exist today only in art and night dreams The illusion reached its pinnacle in the middle of the 20th century when nuclear power stations flights to the Moon early computers genetic engineering and other wonders of science made some scientists believe that there is nothing in the world that cannot be explained by science But there was a price to pay for this scientific optimism the scientists became blind to their living consciousness They began looking at the world as if nature and objectified consciousness were the only things that mattered with living consciousness being viewed as a mundane thing that accompanies brain processes but has no causal powers This book examines how our living consciousness works and how our understanding of this work helps in solving key problems of modern life such as facilitating creativity protecting from magical manipulation with minds fighting certain kinds of crime managing fake reality preventing misuses in psychotherapy and other psychological practices comprehending controversial issues in science and tracing origins of totalitarian media narratives that trigger hatred and wars
