Multiculturalism In New Orleans:

Multiculturalism in New Orleans Jeremy DuQuesnay Adams, 2001-10 Tourism, Ethnic Diversity and the City Jan Rath, 2007-05-07 Tourism Ethnic Diversity and the City fills a gap in existing research in terms of how immigration relates to urban tourism and investigates the new theoretical insights and challenges for empirical research using informative case studies drawn from several advanced economies in Europe North America and Australia This enlightening book clearly explores the frontiers of knowledge on the interrelationship between tourism migration ethnic diversity and place Exploring further the manifestations of ethnic diversity that have been commodified by immigrants in gateway cities questioning how these expressions of culture can be transformed into vehicles for further developing the urban tourism economy Tourism Ethnic Diversity and the City presents a multidisciplinary approach drawing on key names from the field of geography sociology planning and political science and will appeal to those with an interest in any of these areas Desire and Disaster in New Orleans Lynnell L. Thomas, 2014-08-25 Most of the narratives packaged for New Orleans s many tourists cultivate a desire for black culture jazz cuisine dance while simultaneously targeting black people and their communities as sources and sites of political social and natural disaster In this timely book the Americanist and New Orleans native Lynnell L. Thomas delves into the relationship between tourism cultural production and racial politics She carefully interprets the racial narratives embedded in tourism websites travel guides business periodicals and newspapers the thoughts of tour guides and owners and the stories told on bus and walking tours as they were conducted both before and after Katrina She describes how with varying degrees of success African American tour guides tour owners and tourism industry officials have used their own black heritage tours and tourism focused businesses to challenge exclusionary tourist representations Taking readers from the Lower Ninth Ward to the White House Thomas highlights the ways that popular culture and public policy converge to create a mythology of racial harmony that masks a long history of racial inequality and structural inequity New Orleans Louise McKinney, 2006 With its antebellum mansions above ground cemeteries and ghostly moss bearded oaks New Orleans is certainly the most un American of american cities creating its own laid back Big Easy attitude from the customs of the people who founded it French and Spanish colonists gens de couleur libres NOthern adventurers riverboat men pirates and Cajuns From this eclectic mix of influences has evolved a distinctive Creole culture expressed in language architecture and cuisine Back cover The Crises of Multiculturalism Alana Lentin, Gavan Titley, 2011-07-14 Across the West something called multiculturalism is in crisis Regarded as the failed experiment of liberal elites commentators and politicians compete to denounce its corrosive legacies parallel communities threatening social cohesion enemies within cultivated by irresponsible cultural relativism mediaeval practices subverting national ways of life and universal values This important new book challenges this familiar narrative of the rise and fall of multiculturalism by challenging the existence of a coherent era of multiculturalism in the first place The authors argue that what we are witnessing is not so much a rejection of multiculturalism as a projection of neoliberal anxieties onto the social realities of lived multiculturalism. Nested in an established post-racial consensus, new forms of racism draw powerfully on liberalism and questions of values and unsettle received ideas about racism and the far right in Europe. In combining theory with a reading of recent controversies concerning headscarves, cartoons, minarets, and burkas, Lentin and Titley trace a transnational crisis that travels and is made to travel and where rejecting multiculturalism is central to laundering increasingly acceptable forms of racism.

Selling EthniCity Olaf Kaltmeier, 2016-04-01 Bringing together a multidisciplinary team of scholars, this book explores the importance of ethnicity and cultural economy in the post-Fordist city in the Americas. It argues that cultural, political, and economic elites make use of cultural and ethnic elements in city planning and architecture in order to construct a unique image of a particular city and demonstrates how the use of ethnicized cultural production, such as urban branding based on local identities by the economic elite, raises issues of considerable concern in terms of local identities as it deploys a practical logic of capital exchange that can overcome forms of cultural resistance and strengthen the hegemonic colonization of everyday life. At the same time, it shows how ethnic communities are able to use ethnic labelling of cultural production, ethnic economy, or ethno-tourism facilities in order to change living conditions and to empower its members in ways previously impossible. Of wide-ranging interest across academic disciplines, this book will be a useful contribution to Inter-American studies.

Feeding New Orleans Jeanne K. Firth, 2023-11-15 After Hurricane Katrina in 2005 many high profile chefs in New Orleans pledged to help their city rebound from the flooding Several formed their own charitable organizations including the John Besh Foundation to help revitalize the region and its restaurant scene A year and a half after the disaster when the total number of open restaurants eclipsed the pre Katrina count it was embraced as a sign that the city itself had survived and these chefs arguably became the de facto heroes of the city's recovery Meanwhile food justice organizations tried to tap into the city's legendary food culture to fundraise marketing high end dining events that centered these celebrity chefs Jeanne K Firth documents the growth of celebrity humanitarianism viewing the phenomenon through the lens of feminist ethnography to understand how elite philanthropy is raced classed and gendered Firth finds that cultures of sexism in the restaurant industry also infuse chef led philanthropic initiatives As she examines this particular flavor of elite celebrity based philanthropy Firth illuminates the troubled relationships between consumerism food justice movements and public private partnerships in development and humanitarian aid

The West Bank of Greater New Orleans Richard Campanella, 2020-05-06 Winner of the SESA Book Award The West Bank has been a vital part of greater New Orleans since the city's inception serving as its breadbasket foundry shipbuilder railroad terminal train manufacturer and even livestock hub At one time it was the Gulf South's St Louis boasting a diversified industrial sector as well as a riverine mercantilist and agricultural economy Today the mostly suburban West Bank is proud but not pretentious pleasant if not prominent and a distinct affordable alternative to the more famous neighborhoods of the East Bank Richard Campanella is the first to examine the West Bank holistically as a legitimate subregion with its own story to tell No other part of greater New Orleans has more diverse yet deeply rooted populations folks who speak in local accents who exhibit longstanding cultural traits and in some cases who maintain family ownership of lands held since antebellum times even as immigrants settle here in growing numbers Campanella demonstrates that West Bankers have had great agency in their own place making and he challenges the notion that their story is subsidiary to a more important narrative across the river The West Bank of Greater New Orleans is not a traditional history nor a cultural history but rather a historical geography a spatial explanation of how the West Bank's landscape formed its terrain environment land use jurisdictions waterways industries infrastructure neighborhoods and settlement patterns past and present The book explores the drivers conditions and power structures behind those landscape transformations using custom maps aerial images photographic montages and a detailed historical timeline to help tell that complex geographical story As Campanella shows there is no greater New Orleans without its cross river component The West Bank is an essential part of this remarkable metropolis

A Genealogy of Literary Multiculturalism Christopher Douglas, 2011-08-15 As an anthropology student studying with Franz Boas Zora Neale Hurston recorded African American folklore in rural central Florida studied hoodoo in New Orleans and voodoo in Haiti talked with the last ex slave to survive the Middle Passage and collected music from Jamaica Her ethnographic work would serve as the basis for her novels and other writings in which she shaped a vision of African American Southern rural folk culture articulated through an antiracist concept of culture championed by Boas culture as plural relative and long lived Meanwhile a very different antiracist model of culture learned from Robert Park's sociology allowed Richard Wright to imagine African American culture in terms of severed traditions marginal consciousness and generation gaps In A Genealogy of Literary Multiculturalism Christopher Douglas uncovers the largely unacknowledged role played by ideas from sociology and anthropology in nourishing the politics and forms of minority writers from diverse backgrounds Douglas divides the history of multicultural writing in the United States into three periods The first which spans the 1920s and 1930s features minority writers such as Hurston and D Arcy McNickle who were indebted to the work of Boas and his attempts to detach culture from race The second period from 1940 to the mid 1960s was a time of assimilation and integration as seen in the work of authors such as Richard Wright Jade Snow Wong John Okada and Ralph Ellison who were influenced by currents in sociological thought The third period focuses on the writers we associate with contemporary literary multiculturalism including Toni Morrison N Scott Momaday Frank Chin Ishmael Reed and Gloria Anzald Douglas shows that these more recent writers advocated a literary nationalism that was based on a modified Boasian anthropology and that laid the pluralist grounds for our current conception of literary multiculturalism Ultimately Douglas s unified field theory of multicultural literature brings together divergent African American Asian American Mexican American and Native American literary traditions into one story of how we moved from thinking about groups as races to thinking about groups as cultures and then back again

Art and Identity at the Water's Edge Tricia Cusack, 2017-07-05 The water s edge whether shore or riverbank is a marginal territory that becomes invested with layers of meaning The essays in this collection present intriguing perspectives on how the water s edge has been imagined and represented in different places at various times and how this process contributed to the formation of social identities Art and Identity at the Water s Edge focuses upon national coastlines and maritime heritage on rivers and seashore as regions of liminality and sites of conflicting identities and on the edge as a tourist setting Such themes are related to diverse forms of art including painting architecture maps photography and film Topics range from the South African seaside resort of Durban to the French Riviera The essays explore successive ideological mappings of the Jordan River and how Czech cubist architecture and painting shaped a new nationalist reading of the Vltava riverbanks They examine post Hurricane Katrina New Orleans as a filmic spectacle that questions assumptions about American identity and the coast depicted as a site of patriotism in nineteenth century British painting The collection demonstrates how waterside structures such as maritime museums and lighthouses and visual images of the water s edge have contributed to the construction of cultural and national identities
