the best treatment Scientific Writing 3.0: A Reader And Writer's Guide Jean-luc Lebrun, Justin Lebrun, 2021-10-13

The third edition of this book aims to equip both young and experienced researchers with all the tools and strategy they will need for their papers to not just be accepted but stand out in the crowded field of academic publishing. It seeks to question and deconstruct the legacy of existing science writing, replacing or supporting historically existing practices with principle and evidence driven styles of effective writing. It encourages a reader centric approach to writing satisfying reader scientists at large but also the paper's most powerful readers: the reviewer and editor. Going beyond the baseline of well structured scientific writing, this book leverages an understanding of human physiological limitations: memory, attention time, to help the author craft a document that is optimized for readability. Through real and fictional examples, hands on exercises and entertaining stories, this book breaks down the critical parts of a typical scientific paper: Title, Abstract, Introduction, Visuals, Structure, and Conclusions. It shows at great depth how to achieve the essential qualities required in scientific writing: namely being clear, concise, convincing, fluid, interesting, and organized. To enable the writer to assess whether these parts are well written from a reader's perspective, the book also offers practical metrics in the form of six checklists and even an original Java application to assist in the evaluation.

Reading and Writing Pathways through Children's and Young Adult Literature Alicia Curtin, 2022-07-29. This thought provoking book will provide masters students, teachers, and researchers with a toolkit and theoretical framework for teaching literacy through children's literature. It features innovative ideas for developing student and teacher experiences with literature and popular culture texts in the classroom, providing practical examples and teaching aids throughout. Taking a collaborative approach, Curtin explores how teachers and learners can engage with literature and its authors for the development of literacy in classroom practice. Connecting reader and writer identities and worlds through interviews with and suggested classroom activities from authors themselves, this text combines author, teacher, and learner perspectives in the development of creative pedagogies that extend understandings of literacy beyond reading, writing, and text. Exploring fairy tales, comic books, and graphic novels, children living in literature, i.e. texts which portray children, their lives, and experiences, popular culture, young adult fiction, and non-fiction, and digital texts such as blogs, etc., this text develops a sociocultural understanding of literacy as a lived and contextually dependent practice where meaning is derived through relationships between people, settings, and culture. Different contexts for literacy are explored, including reading and writing strategically to learn about literacy and literature widely for personal purposes and deeply to transform understanding.

Short 2011. This text will be an invaluable resource for teachers, researchers, or anyone interested in reading and writing stories. The author interviews will also be of particular interest to older learners themselves as a way to develop their understanding of their own reading and writing practices. Pedagogies can be adapted to any age group ranging from the early years to young adult.
