Times of the Technoculture Kevin Robins, Frank Webster, 2003-09-02 Times of the Technoculture explores the social and cultural impact of new technologies, tracing the origins of the information society from the coming of the machine with the industrial revolution to the development of mass production techniques in the early twentieth century. The authors look at how the military has controlled the development of the information society and consider the centrality of education in government attempts to create a knowledge society. Engaging in contemporary debates surrounding the internet, Robins and Webster question whether it can really offer us a new world of virtual communities and suggest more radical alternatives to the corporate agenda of contemporary technologies.

Come of Age Stephen Jenkinson, 2018-07-03 In his landmark provocative style, Stephen Jenkinson makes the case that we must birth a new generation of elders, one poised and willing to be true stewards of the planet and its species. Come of Age does not offer tips on how to be a better senior citizen or how to be kinder to our elders. Rather, with lyrical prose and incisive insight, Stephen Jenkinson explores the great paradox of elderhood in North America: how we are awash in the aged and yet somehow lacking in wisdom, how we relegate senior citizens to the corner of the house while simultaneously heralding them as sage elders.

simply by virtue of their age Our own unreconciled relationship with what it means to be an elder has yielded a culture nearly bereft of them Meanwhile the planet boils and the younger generation boils with anger over being left an environment and sociopolitical landscape deeply scarred and broken Taking on the sacred cow of the family Jenkinson argues that elderhood is a function rather than an identity it is not a position earned simply by the number of years on the planet or the title parent or grandparent As with his seminal book Die Wise Jenkinson interweaves rich personal stories with iconoclastic observations that will leave readers radically rethinking their concept of what it takes to be an elder and the risks of doing otherwise Part critique part call to action Come of Age is a love song inviting us imploring us to elderhood in this time of trouble That time is now We re an hour before dawn and first light will show the carnage or the courage we bequeath to the generations to come
