The Socio-Economic Impacts of Artisanal and Small-Scale Mining in Developing Countries G.M.

Hilson,2003-01-01 The purpose of this book is to examine both the positive and negative socioeconomic impacts of artisanal and small scale mining in developing countries In recent years a number of governments have attempted to formalize this rudimentary sector of industry recognizing its socioeconomic importance However the industry continues to be plagued by

Mining and Engineering World ,1908 Tanzania Investment and Business Guide Volume 1 Strategic and Practical Information IBP USA,2013-08 Tanzania Investment and Business Guide Strategic and Practical Information Gender Inequalities in Africa's Mining Policies Francis Onditi,2022-04-17 This book develops a discursive equalitarian theoretical framework for studying African mining ecosystem issues and policy interventions The theory of equalitarianism is developed as an alternative to the reductionist approach that has dominated post colonial debates about the classical jus ad bellum requirements to empower women in development spaces However the classical approach narrows the debate down to women issues rather than the whole of society As a consequence of this reductionism women continue to be devalued in the mining sector characterized by poverty traps power struggles and a lack of capacity to engage in large scale mining LSM activities This book advances principles for a holistic approach and spells out the implications for women across the mining value chain Drawing on moral scholarship the book poses that for women to gain access to strategic spaces in the mining sector the drive for empowerment must be embedded within whole of society principles This book is of interest to scholars researching gender policy public policy political philosophy conflictology and human geography It also offers practitioners a guide for evaluating their policy work on mainstreaming gender in the mining sector presenting options for financing forging partnership and planning for an inclusive economic development in Africa and beyond Mining Science ,1907

Liberalised Development in Tanzania Peter Gibbon,1995 Presents two studies which examine economic and political developments in Tanzania in relation to the mining industry the expansion of the informal sector and the rise of community development and of local non governmental organizations Covers the period from 1960 to 1992 Includes a history of the mining industry from 1918 to 1992 and profiles of mining areas and mining villages Describes the role of the state and of non governmental organizations in the provision of education and health care in nine districts

Sustainable Minerals

Operations in the Developing World Geological Society of London, 2005 The sustainable development of minerals which are non renewable resources is a major challenge in today's world In this regard the true definition of sustainability is a debating point in itself can such a concept exist with respect to non renewable resources Perhaps the ideal sustainability model is one that minimizes negative environmental impact and maximizes benefits to society the economy and regional national development Developed and near developed economies rely for commodity supplies on developing countries where major mining operations are often a mainstay of the domestic economy Limited environmental regulation and low wages lead to charges of exploitation Also large numbers of people have no alternative to living by informal often dangerous artisanal mining This Special Publication gives examples from developing countries from all scales of mineral extraction The volume reviews environmental economic health and social problems and highlights the need to solve these before sustainability can be achieved The better solutions require mutual understanding through full involvement of all stakeholders education training and investment so that small scale and artisanal mines can grow into well managed operations At larger scales most major international mining companies have now improved their practices and are monitoring their progress although there is no room for complacency in this rapidly changing area Mining American, 1904
