Tindall,Ronald Trosper,Pamela Perreault,2013-02-11 Aboriginal people in Canada have long struggled to regain control over their traditional forest lands Aboriginal Peoples and Forest Lands in Canada brings together the diverse perspectives of Aboriginals and non Aboriginals to address the political cultural environmental and economic implications of forest use This book discusses the need for professionals working in forestry and conservation to understand the context of Aboriginal participation in resource management It also addresses the importance of researching traditional knowledge and traditional land use and examines the development of co management initiatives and joint ventures between government forestry companies and Aboriginal communities Politics and the Past John Torpey,2004-09-01 Politics and the Past offers an original multidisciplinary exploration of the growing public controversy over reparations for historical injustices Demonstrating that reparations politics has become one of the most important features of international politics in recent years the authors analyze why this is the case and show that reparations politics can be expected to be a major aspect of international affairs in coming years In addition to broad theoretical and philosophical reflection the book includes discussions of the politics of reparations in specific countries and regions including the United States France Latin America Japan Canada and Rwanda The volume presents a nuanced historically grounded and critical perspective on the many campaigns for reparations currently afoot in a variety of contexts around the world All readers working or teaching in the fields of transitional justice the politics of memory and social movements will find this book a rich and provocative contribution to this complex debate

Freedom and Indigenous Constitutionalism John Borrows, 2016-05-12 Indigenous traditions can be uplifting positive and liberating forces when they are connected to living systems of thought and practice Problems arise when they are treated as timeless models of unchanging truth that require unwavering deference and unquestioning obedience Freedom and Indigenous Constitutionalism celebrates the emancipatory potential of Indigenous traditions considers their value as the basis for good laws and good lives and critiques the failure of Canadian constitutional traditions to recognize their significance Demonstrating how Canada's constitutional structures marginalize Indigenous peoples ability to exercise power in the real world John Borrows uses Ojibwe law stories and principles to suggest alternative ways in which Indigenous peoples can work to enhance freedom Among the stimulating issues he approaches are the democratic potential of civil disobedience the hazards of applying originalism rather than living tree jurisprudence in the interpretation of Aboriginal and treaty rights American legislative actions that could also animate Indigenous self determination in Canada and the opportunity for Indigenous governmental action to address violence against women

Innovation and Entrepreneurship in Western Canada James J. Chrisman, J. Adam Holbrook, Jess H. Chua, 2002 A collection of articles by Canadian scholars that examines the nature of the entrepreneurial process at the national and regional levels The book presents emerging research and scholarly perspectives on the roles of innovation entrepreneurship and family business in western Canadian economic development Includes conceptual pieces theory building exercises based on field research literature reviews large scale empirical studies and presentations of new methodological advancements that further research in the field of business Toward a New Mission Statement for Canadian Fiscal Federalism Harvey Lazar, 2000 Canada State of the Federation 1999 2000 identifies and explains major threads in Canadian fiscal federalism Set against the cacophony over domineering and arrogant centralization from supporters of Quebec sovereignty on the one hand and fears that excessive decentralization is fuelling an obsessively neo liberal agenda on the other these essays replace much of this heat with new light The authors begin with an examination of recent developments in the theoretical literature surrounding fiscal federalism They then examine some of the major issues facing the federation Is there a vertical imbalance between federal and provincial governments Does Ottawa collect more revenues than are needed relative to its spending responsibilities while the provinces are under funded How do federal provincial struggles over money and jurisdictional power affect local government or the para public sector emerging aboriginal governments and citizens Federal government actions in 1999 suggest that Ottawa has not lost all of its interest in social outcomes It is however seeking to influence the well being of citizens by transferring money to them directly rather than through transfers to provinces The authors suggest that if this trend continues the approach to the millennium will be seen as a watershed in public policy given that current trends in Canadian fiscal federalism are as much about re balancing the federation as they are about decentralization

Intercultural Dispute Resolution in Aboriginal Contexts Catherine Bell, David Kahane, 2007-10 In the last twenty years there has been a growing interest in alternative dispute resolution ADR as scholars and practitioners seek more effective context sensitive approaches to conflict Where formerly conflict was tackled and resolved in formal legal settings and with an adversarial spirit more conciliatory approaches negotiation mediation problem solving and arbitration are now gaining favour These new methods are proving especially appropriate in intercultural contexts particularly for Aboriginal land claims self government and community based disputes The essays collected here by Catherine Bell and David Kahane provide a balanced view of ADR exploring its opportunities and effectiveness alongside its challenges and limits The essays are international in scope with examples of efforts at dispute resolution involving Inuit and Arctic peoples Dene Gitksan and Wet suwet en Tsuu T ina Cree Metis Navajo Maori Aboriginal Australians and Torres Strait Islanders With contributions from Aboriginal and non Aboriginal theorists and practitioners Intercultural Dispute Resolution in Aboriginal Contexts presents an array of insightful perspectives This book will appeal to students and scholars of Aboriginal law and alternative dispute resolution legal and political theorists dispute resolution practitioners and anyone involved in struggles around land claims treaty and self government agreements in Canada or abroad

From Recognition to Reconciliation Patrick Macklem, Douglas Sanderson, 2016-01-01 In From Recognition to Reconciliation twenty leading scholars reflect on the continuing transformation of the constitutional relationship between Indigenous peoples and the Canadian state

Indigenous Difference and the Constitution of Canada Patrick Macklem, 2001-01-01 An investigation of the unique constitutional relationship between Aboriginal people and the Canadian state a relationship that does not exist between Canada and other Canadians

Social Differentiation Danielle Juteau Lee, Danielle Juteau, 2003-01-01 Social Differentiation examines the economic political and normatively defined relations that underlie the construction of social categories Social differentiation embedded in inequalities of power status wealth and prestige affects life chances of individuals as well as the allocation of resources and opportunities Starting with a theoretical framework that challenges many traditional analyses the contributors focus on four specific strands of social differentiation gender age race ethnicity and locality They explore the historically specific social practices policies and ideologies that produce distinct forms of inequality in turn revealing and explaining such issues as the formation and maintenance of a gendered order the privileging of prime age workers the penalties incurred by visible minorities in the labour market the highly disadvantaged position of Aboriginals and the economic decline of agriculture resource and fishing dependent regions By paying special attention to political processes norms and representations and by indicating how social policies shape economic functioning and relate to normative definitions this book will interest policy oriented researchers and decision makers

Whither Multiculturalism? Barbara Saunders, David Haljan, 2003 The attempt to make democratic processes more inclusive has led to the problematic notion of multiculturalism It is based on a new principle that all voices should be heard and equal respect has become the irreducible core of the liberal state However mere dialogue is not enough First it tends to privilege those who are already privileged To change this needs active exploratory listening that is allowed to challenge everyone's picture of the world Second since the tensions and ambiguities are here to stay practical ways to cope and negotiate have to be found although it's not at all clear what is involved The contributors to this volume explore both dimensions and in particular point to what it means when the language game of dialogicality meets its limit However as they point out the limits are not absolute but can be the entry to more complex language games The authors in this volume from Canada the Netherlands Belgium and Britain bring a vast repertoire of resources and interpretative frames to bear on the task of opening up what might be understood by the political ethical aesthetic notion of multiculturalism In these contributions one can hear a plea for an enhanced conception of democratic dialogue for the need to embrace different ontological aesthetic moral assumptions and for an ethics and politics which are more generous and receptive

The Wealth of Forests Chris Tollefson, 1998 These are turbulent unpredictable yet opportune times for Canadian forestry Never before have competing demands on Canada's forest resources been so great At the same time we are finally being forced to confront the sustainable limit of these resources Now the improbable has happened government industry First Nations and NGOs appear to be part of an emerging consensus that industrial forestry in Canada must change The Wealth of Forests is a pioneering attempt to grapple with the policy implications of the transition to sustainable forestry While much has been written on the theory and practice of sustainable forestry and on the relative merits of regulatory versus market approaches to environmental protection these literatures have not as yet been bridged Using illustrations based on recent developments in British Columbia forest policy this collection provides that bridge by analyzing the potential and limits of market regulatory and other policy instruments as means of achieving sustainability Featuring new work by many of Canada's leading forest policy scholars this interdisciplinary collection is devoted to translating the concept of sustainability into practice in key areas of forest policy including tenure timber pricing forest practices land use zoning and eco certification The Wealth of Forests also considers how domestic and international legal regimes might constrain the adoption of policies that could bring us close to the elusive goal of sustainable forestry Politics in North America Yasmeen Abu-Laban,Radha Jhappan,Francois Rocher,2007-09-01 It is no longer sufficient to examine discrete nation states in isolation from each other In Politics in North America Redefining Continental Relations prominent authors from Canada the United States and Mexico explore the politics of redefining the institutional economic geographic and cultural boundaries of North America The contributors argue that the study of politics in the twenty first century requires simultaneous attention to all levels local national and international as well as increasingly to continents This argument is explored through the historical and contemporary social and political forces that have created competing visions of what it means to belong to a North American political community In this process new debates emerge in the book concerning the appropriate role for the state as well as the meaning of sovereignty democracy and rights
