Lal,2014-03-13 The book Going back to Gettysburg will be bought like hot cakes in intellectual circles in both America and India because it is a light presentation of the uniqueness of the American Civil War 1861 1965 in which 6 00 000 American soldiers mostly White laid down their lives to secure the release of four million Black slaves in America It has no parallel in the history and mythology of the world It is the only war where combatants fought over the Rights of other oppressed beings and is one of the starting point of the Human Rights movements in the world This book shows quoting authorities like a secret note from the U S Embassy to the American State department leaked by Wikileaks and numerous reports in American and British Press of how the middle class has enriched itself The author has given numerous shady deals of his own Besides the book contains his own studies of middle class corruption which no newspaper would publish because they are themselves huge beneficiaries of the general loot The book the contrasts between the Indian habit of quietly submitting to injustice and the Western habit of staging street demonstrations on public issues literary form a similar collectively authorized linguistic performance the real in realism comes from representing facts not as they are in themselves but as they are produced and rejected in society In the course of illuminating readings of three central realist works Balzac's Pere Goriot Stendhal's The Red and the Black and Zola's Germinal Petrey takes the position that the dilemmas of representation far from being one of realism's blind spots figure among its major narrative subjects

From the 1930s to the 1960s the Popular Front produced a significant era in African American literary radicalism While scholars have long associated the black radicalism of the Popular Front with the literary Left and the working class Christin Marie Taylor considers how black radicalism influenced southern fiction about black workers offering a new view of work and labor At the height of the New Deal era and its legacies Taylor examines how southern literature of the Popular Front not only addressed the familiar stakes of race and labor but also called upon an imagined black folk to explore questions of feeling and desire By poring over tropes of black workers across genres of southern literature in the works of George Wylie Henderson William Attaway Eudora Welty and Sarah Elizabeth Wright Taylor reveals the broad reach of black radicalism into experiments with portraying human feelings These writers grounded interrelationships and stoked emotions to present the social issues of their times in deeply human terms Taylor emphasizes the multidimensional use of the sensual and the sexual which many protest writers of the period such as Richard Wright avoided She suggests Henderson and company used feeling to touch readers while also questioning and reimagining the political contexts and apparent victories of their times Taylor shows how these fictions adopted the aesthetics and politics of feeling as a response to New Deal era policy reforms both in their successes and their failures In effect these writers some who are not considered a part of an African American protest tradition illuminated an alternative form of protest through poignant paradigms
