Jesus and Magic
Richard A Horsley, 2015-04-30 It has become standard in modern interpretation to say that Jesus performed miracles and even mainline scholarly interpreters classify Jesus's healings and exorcisms as miracles Some highly regarded scholars have argued more provocatively that the healings and exorcisms were magic and that Jesus was a magician As Richard Horsley points out if we make a critical comparison between modern interpretation of Jesus's healing and exorcism on the one hand and the Gospel stories and other ancient texts on the other hand it becomes clear that the miracle and magic are modern concepts products of Enlightenment thinking Jesus and Magic asserts that Gospel stories do not have the concepts of miracle and magic What scholars constructed as magic turns out to have been ritual practices such as songs incantations medicines potions and appeals to higher powers for protection Horsley offers a critical reading of the healing and exorcism episodes in the Gospel stories This reading reveals a dynamic relationship between Jesus the healer the trust of those coming for healing and their support networks in local communities Horsley's reading of the Gospel stories gives little or no indication of divine intervention Rather the healing and exorcism stories portray healings and exorcisms

Magic in Ancient Greece and Rome Lindsay C. Watson, 2019-05-02 Parting company with the trend in recent scholarship to treat the subject in abstract highly theoretical terms Magic in Ancient Greece and Rome proposes that the magic working of antiquity was in reality a highly pragmatic business with very clearly formulated aims often of an exceedingly malignant kind In seven chapters each addressed to an important arm of Greco Roman magic the volume discusses the history of the rediscovery and publication of the so called Greek Magical Papyri a key source for our understanding of ancient magic the startling violence of ancient erotic spells and the use of these by women as well as men the alteration in the landscape of defixio curse tablet studies by major new finds and the confirmation these provide that the frequently lethal intent of such tablets must not be downplayed the use of herbs in magic considered from numerous perspectives but with an especial focus on the bizarre seeming rituals and protocols attendant upon their collection the employment of animals in magic the factors determining the choice of animal the uses to which they were put and the procuring and storage of animal parts conceivably in a sorcerer's workshop the witch as a literary construct the clear homologies between the magical procedures of fictional witches and those documented for real spells the gendering of the witch figure and the reductive presentation of sorceresses as old risible and ineffectual the issue of whether ancient magicians practised human sacrifice and the illuminating parallels between such accusations and late 20th century accounts of child murder in the context of perverted Satanic rituals By challenging a number of orthodoxies and opening up some underexamined aspects of the subject this wide ranging study stakes out important new territory in the field of magical studies
