Tuszewicki,2021-03-05 Winner of the 2021 Gierowski Shmeruk Prize Shortlisted for the Folklore Society s Katharine Briggs Award 2021 Jews have been active participants in shaping the healing practices of the communities of eastern Europe Their approach largely combined the ideas of traditional Ashkenazi culture with the heritage of medieval and early modern medicine Holy rabbis and faith healers as well as Jewish barbers innkeepers and pedlars all dispensed cures purveyed folk remedies for different ailments and gave hope to the sick and their families based on kabbalah numerology prayer and magical Hebrew formulas Nevertheless as new sources of knowledge penetrated the traditional world modern medical ideas gained widespread support Jews became court physicians to the nobility and when the universities were opened up to them many also qualified as doctors At every stage medicine proved an important field for cross cultural contacts Jewish historians and scholars of folk medicine alike will discover here fascinating sources never previously explored manuscripts printed publications and memoirs in Yiddish and Hebrew but also in Polish English German Russian and Ukrainian Marek Tuszewicki s careful study of these documents has teased out therapeutic advice recipes magical incantations kabbalistic methods and practical techniques together with the ethical considerations that such approaches entailed His research fills a gap in the study of folk medicine in eastern Europe shedding light on little known aspects of Ashkenazi culture and on how the need to treat sickness brought Jews and their neighbours together      Jews in Russia and Eastern Europe ,2004      International
