Networked Adrienne Russell, 2013-04-24 Journalism what happened In the last decade the industry and the profession have been rocked to the core Newspapers as consumer product are as ripe for comic mocking and satire as are the techniques of the journalism profession The contemporary death and life of journalism is the story of an historic cultural transition We have lived through the end of the mass media era and the beginning of the networked media era We took in news one way for a century and we simply don't do it like that anymore Networked A Contemporary History of News in

Transition examines this moment in journalism the conditions that brought it about and the characteristics that have shaped it and will shape its future In crafting this sophisticated yet accessible study new media scholar Adrienne Russell draws on personal interviews with journalists and analysts at the center of the shift examines innovative and revealing digital news projects and underlines larger cultural changes that reflect the new news reality Networked also examines emergent journalism practices that suggest the forces at work and the stakes involved in developments we have all experienced but caught up in the rush of change have had limited perspective to interpret

History and Future of Mass Media David Demers, 2007 This book argues that the no Marxists mostly have it wrong Although corporate media are structurally organized to maximize profits and produce content that generally helps elites achieve their goals this does not mean corporate media have less capacity to facilitate social change than entrepreneurial or other forms of media In fact historical evidence and comparative critical studies presented in this book show that mass media become more not less critical of dominant power groups institutions and value systems as they become more corporatized This proposition is part of a larger theoretical model that integrates the role of both social structure and human agency in explaining the persistence of modern capitalism The structural part of the theory also enables scholars to make predictions about the future of mass media including the ideas that the Internet is stealing some of the mediating power of traditional mass media and the market power of global media will grow in absolute terms but will shrink in relative terms because of increasing competition from new and traditional media
