Making Adjustment Work For The Poor A Framework For Policy Reform In Africa:

Making Adjustment Work for the Poor World Bank Publications, 1990 Making Adjustment Work for the Poor World Bank, 1990 Making Adjustment Work for the Poor, 1990 This document was written as part of the work undertaken under the Social Dimensions of Adjustment SDA Program in Africa The program aims at thoroughly integrating social dimensions into economic and financial decision making To do so it pursues several parallel tracks 1 within each country a special institution building effort is being launched to strengthen national capability for policy analysis and project identification preparation and implementation 2 country specific studies dealing with poverty alleviation and economic policy are being undertaken 3 developing an adequate data base for analysis of social issues and formulating socioeconomic policy through monitoring surveys and integrated household surveys 4 improving the understanding of the links among conceptual empirical and policy issues involved in the integration of social and economic policies and programs This report deals mostly with the last track The objective is to provide guidance to researchers and practitioners in assembling and analyzing the necessary data in order to achieve the objectives of the SDA initiative It then explores the major policy issues that must be faced by governments to integrate social dimensions in the design of their structural adjustment programs and development plans

Rent-Seeking, Institutions and Reforms in Africa Pius Fischer, 2007-12-03 This book identifies rent seeking behaviour as one of the main causes of poor economic performance observed among other places in many countries of Africa Rent seeking describes the ability to capture incomes without producing output or making a productive contribution Since rent seekers are often an integral part of an ailing economy and resist the adoption of reforms understanding and anticipating rent seeking behaviour is crucial for designing more adequate and effective policy reforms Following a comprehensive theoretical elaboration of the causes properties and consequences of rents and rent seeking strategies in the context of economic reforms and development cooperation this book presents a detailed case study on rent seeking within the civil service parastatal sector and business community It demonstrates how rent seekers in Tanzania have systematically delayed or undermined reforms such as tax reforms trade liberalisation privatisation or any reforms that aim to restrain corruption and embezzlement The case study quantifies and evaluates the rent seeking behaviour of more than 300 parastatal companies considering their profits and losses the quality and timeliness of their accounting and the magnitude of support they obtained from 16 different sources

Structural Adjustment and Socio-economic Change in Sub-Saharan Africa Peter Gibbon, Adebayo O. Olukoshi, 1996 This report summarises the results of work at the Nordiska Afrikainstitutet Nordic Africa Institute NAI on the impact of structural adjustment implementation on the economies states and societies of sub Saharan Africa It consists of two essays and an appendix listing research projects which have been or are being carried out under the auspices of NAI The first essay raises a series of conceptual and methodological questions in the context of a presentation of some of the main empirical results obtained from extended field work carried out during the course of 1992 and 1993 in Kenya Tanzania and Zimbabwe The second essay presents the three main themes private trading networks and structures the changing political economy of land and popular forms of social provisioning that constitute the core of the second phase of NAI s structural adjustment research and in so doing provides a review of aspects of the adjustment literature This report is therefore an attempt both at stock taking and agenda building as part of a wider quest for deepening our understanding of the structures and processes of socio economic change associated with the crisis and adjustment years in contemporary Africa African Voices on Structural Adjustment Codesria,International Development Research Centre (Canada),2003 African Voices on Structural Adjustment presents 14 in depth studies on the history and future of structural adjustment in Africa Each study appraises the performance of structural adjustment policies SAPs with respect to a particular sector or issue Each evaluates the compatibility of SAPs with the requirements for long term development in Africa And most importantly each presents a truly African perspective The contributors represent an outstanding collection of leading African economists and development experts This volume is intended as a companion to Our Continent Our Future It will appeal to students professors academics and researchers in development economics and African studies professionals in donor organizations around the world and economic policymakers in both the governmental and non governmental sectors

U.S. Economic Policy Toward Africa Jeffrey Ira Herbst,1992 A summary of American aid policy toward Africa since the Kennedy administration a comparison of U S policies and those of multilateral organizations and a proposal for the best way to help Africans address their continent s economic plight

Stabilization and Structural Adjustment Finn Tarp,2002-09-11 This book reveals and examines the relevance of the macroeconomic theory and models behind recommendations for stabilization and structural adjustment Alternative analytical approaches are discussed This is done on the basis of an up to date review of developments in sub saharan Africa during the 1980 s and within a common analytical framework

Adjustment and Social Sector Restructuring Jessica M. Vivian,1995 Social policy in developing countries has been substantially affected in recent years by economic crisis and structural adjustment and perhaps more importantly by the ascendance of neo liberal ideology By the late 1980s the adverse effects of adjustment had become clear and the resulting political opposition led many governments and their external supporters to design programmes meant to mitigate the social costs of adjustment The most visible of these are the social fund or safety net measures intended not only to address the social impacts of adjustment but also to improve their social and political acceptability In addition they are seen by some as providing a model for new more efficient and effective means of providing social service This volume examines the goals assumptions impacts and possible long term outcomes of social policy trends in developing countries

Rethinking African Development Lual Acuek Lual Deng, 1998 The Evolution of Poverty and Welfare in Nigeria, 1985-92 Sudharshan Canagarajah, John Ngwafon, Saji Thomas, 1997 Making Adjustment Work for the Poor Banco Mundial, 1990 Development Stuart Corbridge, 2000 Brings together more than one hundred articles dealing with the discipline of development in all its diversity Key topics include the transformation of peasant economies agriculture rural urban relations markets industrialization workers trade aid and structural adjustment A unique set in its comprehensiveness and diversity it also considers four key challenges for development theory and practice relating to capabilities ethics sustainability and regulation World Bank Anne C. M. Salda, 1995 Implications of Economic Policy for Food Security Anne Margaret Thomson, Manfred Metz, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 1999-01-01 A manual aimed at helping policy analysts improve their understanding of the concept of food security and the problems related to it Food security is defined as having an available stable and accessible food supply for each human being The food system including the production and transformation of food is studied to show the causes of food insecurity how international macro level and agricultural sector policies affect the food system and how national and international policies that could improve food security can be identified The Countrywide Effects of Aid Howard White, Joke Luttik, 1994 A Gateway to Biomedical Research in Africa Takafira Mduluzi, 2007 This book reveals the necessary steps required by researchers from both developing and industrialised areas to conduct biomedical research in resource poor communities This book goes beyond the ethical consideration and concentrates on issues considered minor by many researchers during planning of their research conduct The communities considered are diverse both culturally and geographically The communities are exposed by the authors with several years experience working in the area on hierarchy beliefs and fears the economical and social aspects Probably the education levels and how this is developing impacting on research have been discussed The boundaries and religions that make each community as an important aspect demarcating Africa into the social structures Planning and preparing to undertake biomedical research in resource poor communities of Africa goes even deeper than the normal ethical considerations Development as Theory and Practice David Simon, Anders Narman, 2014-09-25 The first book in the DARG series Development as Theory and Practice provides the only student textbook which addresses broad contemporary perspectives and debates on development and development cooperation It introduces the notions of development and what it means from different perspectives i.e. from the point of view of academics in the wake of the New World Order regional specialists detached from the field Third World students of development and development practitioners The second part of the book focuses on development aid and examines the changing relationship between donors and recipients and the effects of these relationships on the wider communities in these countries and current re-evaluations of aid in principle and practice Development as Theory and Practice is an ideal course text for advanced undergraduate and postgraduate courses in development aid as part of degree programmes in Development Studies Geography Politics Sociology and Anthropology It
