Anglo-Saxon England: Volume 28 Michael Lapidge, Malcolm Godden, Simon Keynes, 2000-06-22 This volume is framed by articles that throw interesting light on the achievement and reputation of the greatest of Anglo Saxon kings Alfred Archaeology of Mediterranean Prehistory Emma Blake, A. Bernard Knapp, 2008-04-15 This book offers a comprehensive introduction to the archaeology of Mediterranean prehistory and an essential reference to the most recent research and fieldwork Only book available to offer general coverage of Mediterranean prehistory Written by 14 of the leading archaeologists in the field Spans the Neolithic through the Iron Age and draws from all the major regions of the Mediterranean's coast and islands Presents the central debates in Mediterranean prehistory trade and interaction rural economies ritual social structure gender monumentality insularity archaeometallurgy and the metals trade stone technologies settlement and maritime traffic as well as contemporary legacies of the region s prehistoric past Structure of text is pedagogically driven Engages diverse theoretical approaches so students will see the benefits of multivocality Archaeology of the 11th Century Dawn M Hadley, Christopher Dyer, 2017-02-10 The Archaeology of the 11th Century explores this formative period of English history and in particular the impact of the Conquest of England by the Normans The volume examines how the Normans contributed to local culture religion and society through a range of topics including food culture funerary practices the development of castles and their impact and how both urban and rural life evolved during the eleventh century Through its nuanced approach to the complex relationships and regional identities which characterized the period this collection stimulates renewed debate and challenges some of the long standing myths surrounding the Conquest

Hatcher, Nick Battey, 2011-03-23 Biological Diversity takes a fresh innovative approach to the teaching of biodiversity Rather than detailing and cataloguing the major taxa and their evolutionary relationships the authors have selected 18 groups of organisms and used these as a framework in which to discuss the species and their interactions with man and each other There is a strong narrative theme throughout the exploited and the exploiters and in many cases there is emphasis on the historical context A wide range of organisms are covered from the unicellular to birds and mammals and with an equal consideration of plants and animals Species have been chosen for their ability to best illustrate particular biological principles and for their strong interaction with other species After an introduction the book is divided into two parts Exploited and Exploiters Each of the chapters although linked to each other forms a stand alone essay They are scientifically rigorous up to date and do not shy away from addressing some controversial issues Chapters have text boxes highlighting important issues and concepts lists of further reading and references In addition to tables and figures the book has a selection of original illustrations drawn by leading artist Steven Appleby This fresh approach will appeal to all those interested in the biological sciences and aims to be accessible to people with a diversity of backgrounds It will prove particularly useful to biology students enabling them to get to grips with important biological principles and concepts that underpin the diversity of life and the interrelationship of humans with other groups of organisms Current Geographical Publications University of Wisconsin--Milwaukee. The Forest, Park and Palace of Clarendon, C. 1200-c. 1650 Amanda Richardson, 2005 Reconstructing an actual conceptual and documented Wiltshire landscape The main argument of this thesis is that the landscape and locality of Clarendon Forest and Park some 6 km east of Salisbury Wiltshire England were strongly influenced by the presence or later absence of Clarendon Palace which fell into decay in the late fifteenth century The first sure evidence of a royal residence at Clarendon dates from the reign of Henry I 1100 1135 although the site may well have Saxon connections A primary aim of this work is to restore the wider conceptual landscape by considering the forest alongside the relict landscape of the park and it is argued throughout that because medieval forests are archaeologically elusive the best way to achieve this is through an intensive documentary methodology Attention is drawn throughout to the capacity of documents to illustrate how estates were managed over time The argument representing an unprecedented systematic study of manuscript sources for Clarendon Park and Forest held at central and regional record offices is supported by references to printed primary sources It has resulted in the compilation of a main computer database listing over 800 relevant documents held at the Public Record Office alone from which those that might prove most useful were selected and transcribed The transcriptions arranged by subject form several substantial and searchable electronic databases facilitating cross checking and comparison The written sources themselves have informed the structure of the work and help to illustrate that this unique landscape and locality was indeed profoundly influenced by the existence of a royal park and palace at its centre Nevertheless what has emerged strongly in the course of the study are the myriad ways in which the forest in turn shaped the lifecycle of the palace
