Making Of A Poem:

Making of a Poem Mark Strand, Eavan Boland, 2001-05-01 Concise learned revisionary should enrich the passionate conversation about poetic forms for years to come Edward Hirsch author of How to Read a Poem and Fall in Love with Poetry Two of our foremost poets provide here a lucid straightforward primer that looks squarely at some of the headaches and mysteries of poetic form a book for readers who have always felt that an understanding of form sonnet ballad villanelle sestina among others would enhance their appreciation of poetry Tracing the exuberant history of forms they devote one chapter to each form offering explanation close reading and a rich selection of exemplars that amply demonstrate the power and possibility of that form Making Poems Todd F. Davis, Erin Murphy, 2010-02-02 This diverse collection of poems and companion essays by forty nationally and internationally known poets allows readers to experience the creative process through the eyes and voice of each poet No matter how often we are told that revision is an essential component of poetic composition it can be difficult to resist the temptation to think of the poem as having sprung spontaneously Athena like from the writer's head By exposing readers to the finished product as well as the poet's own account of the poem's creation Making Poems offers a behind the scenes perspective on the poetic process that will fascinate both beginning and established writers The book also affords poetry instructors an opportunity to demonstrate to their students the ways in which poems can originate from seemingly mundane and unlikely sources Poem Central Shirley McPhillips, 2023-10-10 In everything we have to understand poetry can help Tony Hoagland Harper's April 2013 In Poem Central Word Journeys with Readers and Writers Shirley McPhillips helps us better understand the central role poetry can play in our personal lives and in the life of our classrooms She introduces us to professional poets teachers and students people of different ages and walks of life who are actively engaged in reading and making poems Their stories and their work show us the power of poems to illuminate the ordinary to nurture inspire and stand alongside us for the journey Poem Central is divided into three main parts weaving poetry into our lives and our classrooms reading poems and writing poems McPhillips has structured the book in short sections that are easy to read and dip into Each section has a specific focus provides background knowledge shows poets at work highlights information on crafting defines poetic terms features finished work includes classroom examples and lists additional resources In Poem Central a place where people and poems meet teachers and students will discover how to find their way into a poem have conversations around poems and learn fresh and exciting ways to make poems Readers will enjoy the dozens of poems throughout the book that serve to instruct to inspire and to send us on unique word journeys of the mind and heart The Making of a Sonnet Edward Hirsch, 2008 Traces the development of the sonnet through more than five centuries evaluating its rise and fall throughout history as well as the numerous ways in which esteemed poets interpreted the sonnet form Making Poems Todd F. Davis, Erin Murphy, 2010-02-02 Contemporary poets offer behind the scenes perspectives on the poetic process Teaching Poetry in the Primary School David Carter, 2013-11-26 First

Published in 1999 Based on the author's experience of teaching poetry to children for more than thirty years this book offers guidance on engaging young children's minds in poetry in line with the Literacy Hour The American House Poem, 1945-2021 Walt Hunter, 2024-01-11 This book explores the politics of American housing from the perspective of poets Hunter follows the emergence of an American house poem which offers uniquely vivid expressions of the expansion of homeownership as a core tenet of American prosperity and democracy POEMS 1950-2009 Douglas Browning, 2010-01-08 Included herein are four collections of my poems I put together including those in the publication of Poems and Visions in 1968 None of the visions from that collection is included each is poetry in some broad sense but not poems lacking the intransitive and self-limiting nature I take my trials at writing poems to attempt achieving Though I compiled the second of the included collections Successes and Failures in 1989 it includes a number of poems completed prior to those in Poems and Visions the oldest of which and still one of my favorites having been written in 1950 The third collection entitled simply Five contains poems written between 1993 and 2004 The fourth collection Riding the Moons contains poems written in the seven years prior to 2009 some of which are found in one or other of the six volumes of the Ysstrhm series Douglas Browning December 2009 Poem-making Myra Cohn Livingston, 1991 Introduces the different kinds of poetry and the mechanics of writing poetry providing an opportunity for the reader to experience the joy of making a poem One Poem in Search of a Translator Eugenia Loffredo, Manuela Perteghella, 2009 Translation is a journey a journey undertaken by the text hopping around the world and mischievously border crossing from one language to another from one culture to another For a translator this journey can become a truly creative engagement with the otherness of the source text an experience of self-discovery leading to understanding and enrichment and ultimately towards a new text This singular literary experiment intends to magnify the idiosyncrasy of this translational journey In the process translation reveals itself as an increasingly creative activity rather than simply a linguistic transfer This volume consists of twelve translations of one poem Les Fen tres by the French poet Apollinaire The translators embarking on this project all from different backgrounds and working contexts poets professional translators academics visual artists were asked to engage with the inherent multimodality of this poem inspired by Robert Delaunay's Les Fen tres series of paintings The result is a kaleidoscopic diversity of approaches and final products Each translation is accompanied by self-reflective commentary which provides insight into the complex process and experience of translation enticing the reader to join this journey too William Carlos Williams and the American Poem Charles Doyle, 1982-08-26 A Survey of Modernist Poetry Laura (Riding) Jackson, Laura Riding, Robert Graves, 1929 The Long Public Life of a Short Private Poem Peter Murphy, 2019-08-27 Meticulously maps the eddies and currents that have defined this vexing poem's vexed history of neglect rediscovery and canonization grippingly unusual Renaissance Quarterly Thomas Wyatt didn't publish They Flee from Me It was written in a notebook maybe abroad maybe even in prison Today it is in countless poetry anthologies How did it survive That is the story Peter Murphy tells in vivid and compelling detail of the accidents of fate that kept a great poem alive across five hundred turbulent years Wyatt's poem becomes an occasion to ask and answer numerous questions about literature culture and history. Itself about the passage of time it allows us to consider why anyone would write such a thing in the first place and why anyone would care to read or remember the person who wrote it. From the deadly fascinating circles of Henry VIII's court to the contemporary classroom The Long Public Life of a Short Private Poem also introduces us to a series of worlds. We meet antiquaries editors publishers anthologizers and critics whose own life stories beckon. And we learn how the poem came to be considered after many centuries of neglect a model of the best English has to offer and an ideal object of literary study. The result is an exploration of literature in the fine grain of the everyday and its needs in the classroom in society and in the life of nations. R. S. Thomas to Rowan Williams M. Wynn Thomas, 2022-11-15 This study places the internationally renowned poetry of two major figures R S Thomas and Rowan Williams in a new and illuminating context. It demonstrates how theological convictions are embodied in the very form and texture of poems. The book draws attention to a cultural phenomenon of European resonance because it runs counter to established secular practice in the UK in Western Europe and in the US. Spiritual Capital Samuel D. Rima, 2017-07-05 Presenting a thorough comprehensive theory of spiritual capital based on solid academic research Spiritual Capital serves to reinforce and amplify the notion of a moral economic core that is beginning to feature in contemporary economic arguments. In this rare major work wholly dedicated to the subject of spiritual capital Sam Rima explains the desperate need for revolutionary and transformational thinking in the area of economic policy and practice and makes the case for a new moral foundation to business and economics that directly addresses today's financial and business crisis. Writing in an accessible style and drawing on examples from several continents Rima explains spiritual capital theory in terms of the resources needed for its creation how it is formed how it can be invested and what the return on investment can be. The book provides practical tools for measuring a personal or organizational store of spiritual capital along with clear guidelines on how to engage in spiritual capital formation. These will benefit business leaders interested in developing viable and sustainable enterprises capable of avoiding the disconnection between economic policy and social reality. There are also recommendations here for policy makers regarding the macro application of spiritual capital theory. This important contribution to Gower's Transformation and Innovation Series will appeal to business leaders and policy makers academicians and students in the fields of sociology theology and economics and anyone interested in social and economic justice issues social innovation and corporate social responsibility. Spiritual Capital Dr Bernadette Flanagan, Dr Michael O'Sullivan, 2012-10-28 Spiritual capital is a concept that is being embraced by a range of theorists in response to the great destruction being wrought by the global economic crisis. Spiritual Capital seeks to re-focus discussion on core social values on individuals value systems and the internal dynamics that impel human beings to live by truth goodness and love. Genuine social capital requires the cultivation of spiritual capital. While some scholars approach spiritual capital from the perspective of the beneficial social influence of religious belief and practice others approach it more broadly as the value of transcendent or artistic human activities which foster contemplative living stimulate creativity encourage moral behaviour and motivate individuals This book defines refines and disseminates the concept of spiritual capital Contributions by practitioner scholars in applied spirituality who have practical experience of spiritual capital at work in diverse human situations provide accounts of concrete expressions of spiritual capital and create an interdisciplinary discussion between spirituality practitioners artists ecologists sociologists and others on the frontiers of change in contemporary culture

Joy (Or Something Darker, but Like It) Nathaniel Perry, 2024-07-09 Joy Or Something Darker but Like It the first book of nonfiction by poet Nathaniel Perry is a group of essays that considers poetry in the context of parenting what poems and poets might teach us about parenting what parenting might teach us about poetry and also what either of those things might have to teach us about simply being a relatively successful human being While other poets have written about parenthood few books consider how parenthood and poetry themselves intersect The essays are affable and never technical but take seriously the idea that thinking about poems might help us all think about our other roles in life as parents lovers citizens and friends The book in the end imagines that this kind of insight is maybe one of the things most useful about poetry It isn't or at least doesn't have to be always about itself it can instead surprisingly and wonderfully be about us Each of the twelve essays considers a different poet Edward Thomas Henry W Longfellow George Scarbrough Elizabeth Bishop Geoffrey Hill Primus St John Robert Hayden Elizabeth Coatsworth Gwendolyn Brooks Robert Frost E A Robinson and Belle Randall and alongside them different concerns of parenting and living Organized in chronological order they track the growth of Nathaniel Perry's own children who pop up from time to time in a believable way Essays consider the idea of devotion and belief the idea of imperfection the small details we can focus on as parents and the conceptions of the world we pass along to our children Together these essays not only represent the author s personal canon of poets who have been important to him in his life and work but also present a diverse slice of American poetry in voice form identity origin and time period
