Exploiting Intellectual

Property To Promote Innovation And Create Value Joe Tidd, 2017-10-05 There are two traditional views of the role of intellectual property IP within the field of innovation management in innovation management research as an indicator or proxy for innovation inputs or outputs e.g. patents or licensing income or in innovation management practice as a means of protecting knowledge Exploiting Intellectual Property to Promote Innovation and Create Value argues that whilst both of these perspectives are useful neither capture the full potential contribution of intellectual property in innovation management research and practice The management of IP has become a central challenge in current strategies of Open Innovation and Business Model Innovation but there is relatively little empirical work available Theoretical arguments and empirical research suggest that from both an innovation policy and management perspective the challenge is to use IP to encourage risk taking and innovation and that a broader repertoire of strategies is necessary to create and capture the economic and social benefits of innovation This book identifies how intellectual property can be harnessed to create and capture value through exploiting new opportunities for innovation It is organized around three related themes public policies for IP firm strategies for IP and creating value from IP and offers insights from the latest research on IP strategies and practices to create and capture the economic and social benefits of innovation

Huberman, Matthew B. Miles, 2013-06-29 School improvement like motherhood has many advocates Everyone is for it without having to campaign actively on its behalf And just as the 100% of people who have had mothers think they know how mothering could be done better so the nearly 100% of people who have been pupils in schools or have even taught in or managed them think they know how schools can be improved More precisely they are sure that schools ought to be improved The trouble is that they propose a staggering conflicting range of methods of improving the schools from back to the woodshed to teacher merit pay a stiffer curriculum a stronger tax base reorganization a more humane climate teacher proof innovations community involvement the list is nearly endless Furthermore the issues are not merely technical but normative and political The term improvement is itself problematic One person's version of improvement is another's version of wastefulness or even of worsening the schools Furthermore the versions that win out in any particular school are not Improvement sometimes turns out to be merely a necessarily technically best code word for the directives that administrators have successfully put into place or for the agreements that teachers have lobbied into being How much do we really know about school improvement The available research literature is quite substantial but not as helpful as it might be
