Making Changes How Adult Children Can Have Healthier Happier Relationships:

Making Changes Amy E. Dean, 1988 Working with Children of Alcoholics Bryan E. Robinson, J. Lyn

Rhoden, 1997-12-18 Working with Children of Alcoholics was originally published when the plight of children of alcoholics was just beginning to gain widespread public attention. It was the first book to provide professionals with a direct step-by-step approach that shows them not only what to look for when working with children but what they can do to help them. Some of the critical topics covered include identifying children of alcoholics, establishing effective children's programs, treatment strategies for children of alcoholics, life and survival in an alcoholic home, the intergenerational transmission of alcoholism, the psychological adjustment of children of alcoholics, health and safety hazards, and academic and behavioral concerns. Working with Children of Alcoholics includes extensive resources such as names of helpful organizations, periodicals, therapeutic games, and curriculum materials. The book will be of interest to social workers, public health workers, psychologists, school administrators, drug and alcohol counselors, pastoral counselors, teachers, and treatment centers. It makes an excellent supplemental text for graduate and undergraduate courses in family and community adjustment, problems of children and youth, substance abuse, human services, and community problems. Morning Light Amy E. Dean, 2011-09-28

A book of fresh meditations, Morning Light offers beautifully written bursts of inspiration to help you begin each day with renewed self-confidence and serenity. Author Amy Dean brings the comfort and courage offered in her top-selling meditation book Night Light to this companion for the morning hours, helping devoted fans and new readers start their day on a bright and positive note. Written in her signature personable style, these sensitively chosen quotations, inspiring reflections, and simple prayers work together to make each day of the year one to look forward to. Old Patterns, New Truths Earnie

Larsen, Earnest Larsen, 1988 Do you respond to situations and relationships in your life today with behavior patterns learned during childhood? Are today's responses causing negative consequences? Is it time to examine yourself, your adult child, group, and your recovery program? Earnie Larsen provides help to all of us who are seeking new directions in our life of recovery. Step by step, he helps adult children identify the problem areas in their programs, grasp the patterns of their present dysfunction, learn to alleviate feelings of fear and powerlessness, and take personal responsibility for their recovery. Back cover How to Really Love Your Adult Child Gary Chapman, Ross Campbell, 2011-03-01

More than 10 years after Parenting Your Adult Child was published, much has changed, including young adults themselves as well as their parents. Economic upheavals, challenges to traditional values and beliefs, the phenomenon of over-involved helicopter parenting, all make relating to grown children more difficult than ever. Yet at the same time, being a parent of an adult child can bring great rewards. This revised and updated version of Dr. Gary Chapman's and Dr. Ross Campbell's message will help today's parents explore how to really love their adult child in today's changing world. The book includes brief sidebars from parents of adult children and adult children themselves with their own stories. An online study guide will also be available. Design for Growth

The Development of Persistent Criminality Joanne Savage, 2009-02-03 The Development of Persistent Criminality addresses one of the most pressing problems of modern criminology Why do some individuals become chronic persistent offenders Because chronic offenders are responsible for the majority of serious crimes committed understanding which individuals will become chronic offenders is an important step in helping us develop interventions This volume bridges the gap between the criminological literature which has recently focused on the existence of various criminal trajectories and the developmental psychology literature which has focused on risk factors for conduct problems and delinquency In it chapters by some of the most widely published authors in this area unite to contribute to a knowledge base which will be the next major milestone in the field of criminology The authors of this volume represent a unique gathering of international interdisciplinary social problem so that we can prevent the enormous human and economic costs associated with serious crimes these authors share their insights and findings on topics such as families and parenting poverty stressful life events social support biology and genetics early onset foster care educational programs for juvenile offenders deterrence and chronic offending among females Significant attention is paid throughout to longitudinal studies of offending Several authors also share new theoretical approaches to understanding persistence and chronicity in offending including an expansion of the
