Organizing And Managing Information Resources On Your Campus:

Understanding and Using Social Media on College Campuses Brandon C. Waite, Darren A. Wheeler, 2016-08-08 The purpose of this book is to help higher education professionals approach social media initiatives strategically. It presents a framework for systematically thinking about the Internet Technology Environments (ITE) in which faculty staff and administrators operate. By foregoing a one size fits all approach to social media use on campuses for one that is based upon structured inquiry, individuals can discern their unique campus environment and prepare for the challenges and opportunities they are likely to encounter. In addition to explaining why social media use on college campuses is glaringly inconsistent, the book highlights the approaches faculty and staff might take when designing and implementing social media initiatives given the type of environment in which they work. It also introduces strategies these actors and administrators can utilize to strengthen their ITEs, ultimately facilitating the successful incorporation of social media technology into campus communications.

Human Benefit through the Diffusion of Information Systems Design Science Research Jan Pries-Heje, John J. Venable, Deborah Bunker, Nancy Russo, Janice DeGross, 2010-03-04 This book constitutes the proceedings of the 2010 Joint International Working Conference of the International Federation for Information Processing Working Groups 8.2 and 8.6. Both working groups are part of IFIP Technical Committee 8, the technical committee addressing the field of Information Systems. IFIP WG 8.2, the International Federation of Information Systems and Organizations, was established in 1977. IFIP WG 8.6, Diffusion, Transfer and Implementation of Information Technology, was established in 1994. In accordance with their respective themes, both IFIP WG 8.2 and IFIP WG 8.6 have long had an interest in the human impact of information systems. In December 1998, they held a joint working conference in Helsinki, Finland, on the theme Information Systems: Current Issues and Future Challenges. The two working groups' joint interest in and collaboration on research concerning the human side of IS is continued and extended through this joint working conference held on the campus of Curtin University of Technology from March 30 to April 1, 2010, in Perth, Western Australia. This conference, Human Benefit Through the Diffusion of Information Systems Design Science Research, combines the traditional themes of the two working groups with the growing interest within the IS research field in the area of design science research.

Decision-Making in the Absence of Certainty, Convergence of Libraries and Technology Organizations Christopher Barth, 2011-06-15 This book describes and discusses the convergence of library and technology support in higher education. Over the past 15 years, a number of institutions have pursued merging library and technology services into a single information support organization. These mergers have taken different forms but all seek to redefine information support in a 21st century model that promotes the interdisciplinary use of information. The coming years will see significant change affect libraries with the continuing disruption of the Internet and digitally based services. Coupled with economic pressures, libraries and technology organizations will increasingly be forced to look closely at long held assumptions of how their teams are organized and how work is divided and shared. Convergence of Libraries and Technology Organizations provides useful and practical guidance on converged information organizations as an effective response to change in the information profession One of the most complete assessments of converged support models available Designed to both allow assessment of the application of a converged model and discussion of successful implementations Includes experiences perspectives and examples from many leaders in converged information support organizations Managing Information Resources in the 1990s Information Resources Management Association.

International Conference,1990-01-01 This collection highlights why IRM is an approach to the overall utilization and management of information resources as a mainstream organizational resource This book helps you stay up to date on the changes within information technology management Practitioners and academicians at the forefront of this fast paced field address timely and important issues in information resources technology management The authors focus on the increasingly important role of IT in providing a competitive advantage in today's changing environment Institutional Literacies

Stuart A. Selber,2020-09-04 Information technologies have become an integral part of writing and communication courses shaping the ways students and teachers think about and do their work But too often teachers and other educational stakeholders take a passive or simply reactive role in institutional approaches to technologies and this means they are missing out on the chance to make positive changes in their departments and on campus Institutional Literacies argues that writing and communication teachers and program directors should collaborate more closely and engage more deeply with IT staff as technology projects are planned implemented and expanded Teachers need to both analyze how their institutions approach information technologies and intervene in productive ways as active university citizens with relevant expertise To help them do so the book offers a three part heuristic reflecting the reality that academic IT units are complex and multilayered with historical spatial and textual dimensions It discusses six ways teachers can intervene in the academic IT work of their own institutions maintaining awareness using systems and services mediating for audiences participating as user advocates working as designers and partnering as researchers With these strategies in hand educators can be proactive in helping institutional IT approaches align with the professional values and practices of writing and communication programs Cases on Distance Delivery and Learning Outcomes: Emerging Trends and Programs Gearhart, Deb,2009-10-31
