Decker,2016-11-01 Victorian Literary Cultures Studies in Textual Subversion provides readers with close textual analyses regarding the role of subversive acts or tendencies in Victorian literature By drawing clear cultural contexts for the works under review including such canonical texts as Dracula Jane Eyre Middlemarch and stories featuring Sherlock Holmes the critics in this anthology offer groundbreaking studies of subversion as a literary motif For some late nineteenth century British novelists subversion was a central aspect of their writerly existence Although or perhaps because most Victorian authors composed their works for a general and mixed audience many writers employed strategies designed to subvert genteel expectations In addition to using coded and oblique subject matter such figures also hid their transgressive material in plain sight While some writers sought to critique and even destabilize their society others juxtaposed subversive themes and aesthetics negatively with communal norms in hopes of quashing progressive agendas

Proust, the One, and the Many Erika Fulop, 2017-12-02 One of the many aspects that make Marcel Proust's A la recherche du temps perdu such a complex and subtle work is its engagement with metaphysical questions. The disparate nature of the narrators' experiences, hypotheses, and statements has generated a number of conflicting interpretations based on parallels with the thought of one or another philosopher from Plato to Leibniz, Spinoza, Schopenhauer, Nietzsche, Bergson, or Deleuze. Through the analysis of the narrators' two seemingly incompatible perceptions of the world which reveal reality to be either one or infinitely multiple, Erika Fulop proposes a reading of the novel that reconciles the opposites. Rather than being undecided or self-contradictory, the narrative thematizes the insufficiency of the dualist perspective and invites the reader to take a step beyond it. Erika Fulop is an independent researcher whose doctoral thesis completed at the University of Aberdeen is at the basis of this monograph.

Through the Poet's Eye Bozena Shallcross, 2009-02-20 Though best known as poets, Adam Zagajewski (born 1945), Zbigniew Herbert (1924-1998), and Joseph Brodsky (1940-1996) wrote some of the most original prose of this century. It is this prose, remarkable for its cross-cultural complexity and interdisciplinary richness, that concerns Bozena Shallcross in Through the Poet's Eye. The travels undertaken by these Eastern European poets, who each journeyed to the West under different circumstances, give Shallcross her point of departure as she explores the connections between the sensory experience of travel and the revelatory perception of the visual arts manifest in their writings.
