With much of both aspects prevailing at subliminal levels it is nearly impossible for the casual observer to think through the maze of contradictions and constitutive forces inherent in the imperial system. In her latest work of nonfiction Meditations on the Human Condition in an Imperial Age author and political philosopher Irina V. Boca uses her expertise and research to help readers analyze the presence of empire as an indelible contemporary political force. This intricate work unravels the Gordian knot of imperial politics and allows the reader to consider overlapping concepts from multiple perspectives, finally making it possible for the general audience to get all the facts. From post-Hegelian philosophy to political science and popular culture, the author has identified the intricately woven forces of imperial politics and invites readers to reconsider any easy location of power and any clear cut path to resistance or liberation.

Reflections on George F. Kennan F. Joseph Dresen, 2008

Melancholy and the Otherness of God Alina N. Feld, 2011-12-16 An impressive study that prompts the reader toward philosophical reflection on the hermeneutics of melancholy in its relation to maturing theological understanding and cultivation of a profound self-consciousness. Melancholy has been interpreted as a deadly sin or demonic temptation to non-being; yet its history of interpretation reveals a progressive coming to terms with the dark mood that ultimately unveils it as the self's own ground and a trace of the abysmal nature of God. The book advances two provocative claims: that far from being a contingent condition, melancholy has been progressively acknowledged as constitutive of subjectivity; as such, a trace of divine otherness and pathos; and that the effort to transcend melancholy like Perseus vanquishing Medusa is a necessary labor of maturing self-consciousness. Reductive attempts to eliminate it besides being dangerously utopian risk overcoming the labor of the soul that makes us human. This study sets forth a rigorous scholarly argument that spans several disciplines including philosophy, theology, psychology, and literary studies.
