Regional Security Structures In Asia:

Regional Security Structures in Asia Ashok Kapur, 2003 Ashok Kapur argues that explanations of international relations in Asia in the post Second World War period have relied too much on the Cold War as a key explanatory factor and outlines alternative concepts that may have wider explanatory powers

Regional Security Structures in Asia Ashok Kapur, 2018-10-24 Kapur argues that explanations of international relations in Asia in the post Second World War period have relied too much on the Cold War as a key explanatory factor and have not given enough emphasis to the useful concepts of regional power formation conflict formation and conflict resolution The author outlines these concepts and goes on to elaborate on them and to apply them to three key Asian regions northeast southeast and south Asia discussing practical strategic issues in an historical perspective and arguing that these concepts and other concepts which he discusses are extremely helpful in making sense of the complex pattern of international relations in Asia

Regionalism and Multilateralism Amitav Acharya, 2003 These essays written between 1990 and 2000 cover the most significant phase of multilateral institution building in the Asia Pacific region They deal with the emergence of regionalism in Southeast Asia ASEAN's transition to the post Cold War era the role of the ASEAN Regional Forum the engagement of China the changing relationship between sovereignty and regionalism and prospects for the regional institutions such as ASEAN APEC and the ARF after the Asian economic crisis The essays address the most challenging issues of regional order and articulate an institutionalist understanding of international relations in the region This updated second edition includes four new chapters and two revised chapters

Regional Security in Southeast Asia Mely Caballero Anthony, 2005 The book examines ASEAN's mechanisms in managing challenges and threats to regional security Its extensive analyses of the ASEAN story of managing regional security cover the different phases of ASEAN's development as a regional organization and explore the perceptible changes that have occurred in regional mechanisms of conflict management The book also examines the roles of relevant actors beyond the states of ASEAN and the key interactions that have evolved over time which have been instrumental in moving regional mechanisms beyond the ASEAN way The book argues that the ASEAN way has not been impervious to change As the association finds its way through periods of crises and continues to confront the many challenges ahead ASEAN and its mechanisms are already being transformed beyond the narrow confines of the modalities associated with the ASEAN way The changes in the political and security landscape of the region as well as the democratic transitions taking place in some member states have set the stage for a much more dynamic set of regional actors and processes that bring into question the kind of regionalism that is now taking place in the region the way regionalism is changing in Southeast Asia

Central Asia and Regional Security Mr P L Dash,Ms Anita Sengupta,Mr Murat M Bakhadirov,2014-02-15 While security concerns have assumed salience across the globe Afghanistan s proximity to Central Asia has meant that security or perceptions of insecurity dominate the strategic discourse in the region Issues that stand out include the challenges that the Central Asian states will face in terms of stability ethnic tensions radicalization of youth destabilization of commodity flows and energy security and the impact that these could have on Central Asian society However security cannot just be defined in terms of security at the borders It needs to be defined in cosmopolitan terms through an array of issues like movements across borders radicalism within states the sharing of water and various multilateral attempts at combating insecurity This volume is an attempt to focus on some of these issues that reflect on perceptions of security principally from Indian and Uzbek positions It examines shifts over the last two decades from debates on the geopolitical importance of the region from a great game perspective to the salience of new engagements within the international arena

William T. Tow,2009-10-15 In this book leading experts present research on the evolution of key issues in Asian security Northeast Asia Regional Security and the United States Military,2002 This is the 47th volume in the Occasional Paper series of the United States Air Force Institute for National Security Studies INSS Among its many contributions to United States security two noted repositories of strategic expertise within the United States Army are its foreign area officer cadre and the Department of Social Sciences faculty at the United States Military Academy This collection of papers on Northeast Asian regional security taps the combined strength of both its authors are four Army officers with demonstrated regional expertise all currently or formerly assigned to West Point's Department of Social Sciences. The combined set of papers covers a broad and relevant swath of territory both geographic and conceptual. The first paper by Jay Parker addresses the regional security context with special emphasis on that strategic landscape as viewed from the perspective of Japanese security and the United States role both in Japanese security and within the broader region. Sue Bryant then fits the Korean peninsula into that regional security context adding special emphasis on the Korean road toward unification and on the continuing U.S. military presence in Korea both for peninsular and regional security reasons. Finally Russ Howard and Al Wilner add China to the mix and also add the third level of analysis: their focus is on post September 11, 2001 issues and opportunities and the specific military to military dimension of the United States overall military presence and policy. Together the papers cover the region as well as policy recommendations from macro U.S. security and military policy to force presence to the significant roles of individual service members.

Asia-Pacific Security Cooperation: National Interests and Regional Order See Seng Tan, 2014-12-18. New developments in the Asia Pacific are forcing regional officials to rethink the way they manage security issues. The contributors to this work explore why some forms of security cooperation and institutionalisation in the region have proven more feasible than others. This work describes the emergence of the professions in late tsarist Russia and their struggle for autonomy from the aristocratic state. It also examines the ways in which the Russian professions both resembled and differed from their Western counterparts.
