

Regionalism vs. Multilateralism:

This question remains unanswered

- Regionalism
 - Countries lower trade barriers only for a small group of partner or neighboring countries and discriminate against the rest of the world
 - For example, EU and NAFTA
- Multilateralism
 - Non-discriminatory basis of the World Trade Organization (WTO)
 - Trade liberalization policies by any member countries are extended to all other members

Regionalism, Multilateralism, and Deeper Integration Robert Z. Lawrence, 2000-07-26

Over the past decade international economic liberalization has been pursued through both multilateral and regional arrangements In the Uruguay Round more than one hundred governments pledged their commitment to greater open trade in goods and services and established new rules under the enforcement of the World Trade Organization At the same time however many regional arrangements have been negotiated including the European Union and the North American Free Trade Agreement Nonetheless controversy still rages about these arrangements Are regional arrangements stumbling blocks or in fact building blocks for a more integrated and successful international economy In this book Robert A Lawrence addresses this question and explains both sides of the debate A volume of Brookings Integrating National Economies Series

Multilateralism and Regionalism after the Uruguay Round Riccardo Faini, Enzo R. Grilli, 1997-07-13 The book deals with both the short and the long run effects of the Uruguay Round the reduction in the obstacles to trade the enlargement of the multilateral system the new institutional framework and the balance between regionalism and multilateralism in world trade relations Its conclusions are based on theory political economy and empirical analysis Multiregionalism and Multilateralism Sebastian Bersick, W. A. L. Stokhof, Paul Velde van der, Benedikt Seemann, 2006 The sovereign power of the nation state has been steadily eroding for decades under the pressure of multilateral organizations such as the United Nations and multiregional organizations such as the European Union The increasing prominence of non governmental organizations such as Greenpeace and Human Rights Watch in times of crisis has also contributed since the problems such groups address often extend beyond national borders and are thus difficult for national governments to manage alone Multiregionalism and Multilateralism investigates these forces as they factor into political and economic relations between Asia and Europe Banking Law and Regulation, 2nd Edition Malloy, 2019-02-22 Employment Law Update 2019 Edition analyzes recent developments in case law of interest to employment law practitioners representing plaintiffs defendants and labor unions and comprehensively covers recent developments in the rapidly changing employment and labor law field Comprised of ten chapters each written by an expert in employment law this updated edition provides timely incisive analysis of critical issues Employment Law Update 2019 Edition provides where appropriate checklists forms and guidance on strategic considerations for litigation and other forms of dispute resolution Some of the new material discussed in this 2019 Edition includes How the U S Department of Labor enforces federal whistleblower statutes Recent case law circumscribing arbitration which can potentially deprive non union workers of fundamental statutory and constitutional rights Recent German embrace of minimum wage law Efforts by legislatures administrative agencies courts and public interest groups to transform the soft law of the U N Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights into hard law binding multinational corporations Special problems relating to aviation personnel who blow the whistle Protection for disabled veterans under the ADA and the USERRA Evolving framework for enforcing the rights of the LGBT population Transnational labor law applicable to expatriates Application of multinational firms codes of conduct across national borders Application of differing systems of Regionalism versus Multilateralism L. Alan Winters, 1999 November 1996 Do the forces that regional integration arrangements set up encourage or discourage a trend toward globally freer trade We don't know yet The literature on regionalism versus multilateralism is growing as economists and political scientists grapple with the question of whether regional integration arrangements are good or bad for the multilateral system Are regional integration arrangements building blocks or stumbling blocks in Jagdish Bhagwati's phrase or stepping stones toward multilateralism As economists worry about the ability of the World Trade Organization to maintain the GATT's unsteady yet distinct momentum toward liberalism and as they contemplate the emergence of world scale regional integration arrangements the EU NAFTA FTAA APEC and possibly TAFTA the question has never been more pressing Winters switches the focus from the immediate consequences of regionalism for the economic welfare of the integrating partners to the question of whether it sets up forces that encourage or discourage evolution toward globally freer trade The answer is We don't know yet One can build models that suggest either conclusion but these models are still so abstract that they should be viewed as parables rather than sources of testable predictions Winters offers conclusions about research strategy as well as about the world we live in Among the conclusions he reaches Since we value multilateralism we had better work out what it means and if it means different things to different people make sure to identify the sense in which we are using the term Sector specific lobbies are a danger if regionalism is permitted because they tend to stop blocs from moving all the way to global free trade In the presence of lobbies trade diversion is good politics even if it is bad economics Regionalism's direct effect on multilateralism is important but possibly more so is the indirect effect it has by changing the ways in which groups of countries interact and respond to shocks in the world economy Regionalism by allowing stronger internalization of the gains from trade liberalization seems likely to facilitate freer trade when it is initially highly restricted The possibility of regionalism probably increases the risks of catastrophe in the trading system The insurance incentives for joining regional arrangements and the existence of shiftable externalities both lead to such a conclusion So too does the view that regionalism is a means to bring trade partners to the multilateral negotiating table because it is essentially coercive Using regionalism for this purpose may have been an effective strategy but it is also risky This paper a product of the International Trade Division International Economics Department was prepared for a conference on regional integration sponsored by the Centre for Economic Policy Research La Coruña Spain April 26-27 1996 and will appear in the conference proceedings

Regionalism and Multilateralism After the Uruguay Round Paul Demaret, Jean-François Bellis, Gonzalo García Jiménez, 1997 Analyses the relationship between regional trade agreements and multilateral trade regulation in the wake of the Uruguay Round held in Liege October 1996 The first part of the book is devoted to a comparative analysis of the major trade agreements in Europe the Americas and the Asia Pacific Area Covers also an emerging new form of inter regionalism The second part presents a comparative analysis of the treatment of selected issues under the major regional trade agreements in the world and their relation with existing or emerging multilateral rules Finally discusses the extent to which multilateral rules acted as a constraint on regional trade arrangements under the GATT or the new WTO North American Regionalism and Global Spread I. The Politics of Economic Regionalism K. Cai,2010-01-20 While major theories of economic regionalism in the existing literature are primarily constructed to explore institutionalized regional integration European integration in particular the analytical framework developed in this work explains the unique process and pattern of regional integration in East Asia Regionalism versus Multilateral Trade Arrangements Takatoshi Ito,Anne O. Krueger,2007-12-01 There is no doubt that the open multilateral trading system after World War II was a key ingredient in the rapid economic development of the entire world Especially in Hong Kong Korea Singapore and Taiwan exports increased dramatically both in absolute terms and as a percentage of GNP In the 1980s however preferential trading arrangements PTAs began to emerge as significant factors affecting world trade This volume contains thirteen papers that analyze the tensions between multilateral trading systems and preferential trade arrangements and the impact of these tensions on East Asia The first four chapters introduce PTAs conceptually and focus on the unique political issues that these agreements involve The next five essays present more direct empirical analyses of existing PTAs and their economic effects

Regional Economic Integration and Dispute Settlement in East Asia Anna G Tevini, 2018-06-28 The accession of the People's Republic of China to the World Trade Organization WTO in 2001 significantly transformed the global economy both de facto and de jure At the regional level China's WTO accession served as an important catalyst for the establishment of Regional Trade Agreements RTAs in East Asia This was a novel development for the region since East Asian States had previously followed a largely informal market driven approach to regional economic integration By contrast rules based economic integration involving East Asian States was traditionally limited to multilateral integration under the GATT WTO framework This book systematically analyses and explains the development nature and challenges of rules based regional economic integration in East Asia with particular attention to the region's first four RTAs While also addressing the socio economic historical and political factors influencing the development of RTAs in East Asia the book focuses on the legal institutions governing economic integration in the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN as well as under the ASEAN China Comprehensive Economic Co Operation Agreement ACFTA the Japan Singapore New Age Economic Partnership Agreement JSEPA and the Mainland China Hong Kong Closer Economic Partnership Arrangement CEPA The book provides a systematic comparative account of the scope depth and hard law versus soft law quality of rules based economic integration achieved under these four RTAs in the areas of trade in goods and services investment liberalisation and protection labour mobility and dispute settlement
