Neurological Rehabilitation Michael P. Barnes, David C. Good, 2013-01-10 Neurological Rehabilitation is the latest volume in the definitive Handbook of Clinical Neurology series It is the first time that this increasing important subject has been included in the series and this reflects the growing interest and quality of scientific data on topics around neural recovery and the practical applications of new research. The volume will appeal to clinicians from both neurological and rehabilitation backgrounds and contains topics of interest to all members of the multidisciplinary clinical team as well as the neuroscience community. The volume is divided into five key sections. The first is a summary of current research on neural repair, recovery and plasticity. The authors have kept the topics readable for a non-scientific audience and focused on the aspects of basic neuroscience that should be most relevant to clinical practice. The next section covers the basic principles of neurorehabilitation including excellent chapters on learning and skill acquisition, outcome measurement and functional neuroimaging. The key clinical section comes next and includes updates and reviews on the management of the main neurological disabling physical problems such as spasticity, pain, sexual functioning and dysphagia. Cognitive, emotional and behavioural problems are just as important and are covered in the next section with excellent chapters, for example, on memory and management of executive dysfunction. The final part draws the sections on symptom management together by discussing the individual diseases that are most commonly seen in neurorehabilitation and providing an overview of the management of the disability associated with those disorders. The volume is a definitive review of current neurorehabilitation practice and will be valuable to a wide range of clinicians and scientists working in this rapidly developing field. A volume in the Handbook of Clinical Neurology series which has an unparalleled reputation as the world's most comprehensive source of information in neurology. International list of contributors including the leading workers in the field. Describes the advances which have occurred in clinical neurology and the neurosciences, their impact on the understanding of neurological disorders and on patient care.

Rehabilitation in health financing

World Health Organization, 2024-01-16. Health financing is a core pillar of health systems and encompasses the three functions of how revenues for health are collected, pooled and paid out to providers of health care services. It can be leveraged to pursue key universal health coverage goals of enhancing access, ensuring quality and financial protection against catastrophic or impoverishing out-of-pocket expenditure. But knowledge on how health financing practices can be harnessed to promote the delivery of rehabilitation services is limited. This document is the first WHO resource on health financing for rehabilitation. It considers current practices for financing rehabilitation services, frames major challenges and opportunities and offers guidance to decision makers engaged in strengthening rehabilitation within health systems.

Effective Strategies To Develop Rural Health Workforce In Low and Middle-Income Countries (LMICs) Belinda Gabrielle O'Sullivan, Pratyush Kumar, Ian Couper, Matthew Richard McGrail, 2021-07-29. Moving from Residential Institutions to Community-based Social Services in Central and Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Union David Tobis, 2000. One of the most harmful, costly and intractable legacies of the command economies of Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union is the reliance on residential institutions for the care of children, the elderly and the people with disabilities. As a result, there are almost no community based alternatives to care for large and growing numbers of vulnerable individuals Other industrial nations have experienced similar periods of economic and social upheaval and also relied on residential institutions to care for vulnerable and marginalized groups However most of these nations have switched from residential care to community based social services The question for the countries of Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union is how they can make the same transition Moving from Residential Institutions to Community Based Social Services in Central and Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Union examines the use of residential institutions for vulnerable groups past and present and proposes strategies for the future The study focuses on five countries Albania Armenia Latvia Lithuania and Romania where the World Bank is helping develop community based social services to reduce the reliance on residential institutions

Disability and Rehabilitation in Rural Jamaica Ronnie Linda Leavitt, 1992 Although negative conditions exist it appears that disabled children are not particularly stigmatized at the household level Nevertheless societal stigmatization and apathy do exist As a result disabled children are not being prepared to fully integrate into Jamaican society 2 There is a range of variation of beliefs and behaviors with regard to disability and rehabilitation The concept of intracultural diversity is supported 3 This population has adapted their cultural belief systems and actual behaviors to match their material realities That is it would appear that people who have a disability and their caretakers have demonstrated contextual accommodation 4 Community based rehabilitation programs based on the primary health care and community participation principles enumerated by the WHO are theoretically sound and practically attainable in Jamaica
