Christianity, Patriotism, and Nationhood Julia Stapleton, 2009-01-16 This book links the concepts of patriotism Christianity and nationhood in the journalistic writings of G K Chesterton and emphasizes their roots within the English attachments that were central to his political and spiritual persona It further connects Chesterton to the vibrant debate about English national identity in the early years of the twentieth century which was instrumental in shaping not only his political convictions but also his religious convictions Christianity Patriotism and Nationhood explores his changing conception of the English people from an early menacing account of their revolutionary potential in the face of plutocracy to the more complex portraits he drew of their character on recognizing their political passivity after the First World War As Chesterton was above all a journalist the study considers some of the varied outlets in which he expressed his ideas as a distinctly Edwardian man of letters of a strongly patriotic persuasion His connection with The Illustrated London News over more than three decades proved pivotal in strengthening his patriotism and discourse of nationhood vilified elsewhere not least in advanced Liberal organs such as The Nation Julia Stapleton shows that he was increasingly distanced by fellow Liberals before 1918 on account of the priority he gave nationhood over the state and patriotism over citizenship But she argues that his English loyalties were the last echo of an aspect of Victorian Liberalism that had been progressively eroded by loss of confidence among elites in the democratic aptitude of the English people Christianity Patriotism and Nationhood emphasizes that Chesterton upheld a cultural rather than racial conception of national homogeneity in keeping with the Victorian sources of his thought and the popular patriotism of Edwardian England It argues that his anti semitism was ancillary rather than integral to his understanding of England and that it was matched by a similar conception of the antithesis between Islam and the patriotic ideal Stapleton relates his abiding concern for national authenticity to global imperialism enhanced international co ordination of states and civil society after 1918 and the increasing role of the British state in defining the nation This book will be valuable to intellectual and political historians of early twentieth century England as well as to scholars and students of English national identity in the twenty first century The author gratefully acknowledges the permission of A P Watt Ltd on behalf of the Royal Literary Fund to quote unpublished material in the Chesterton Papers British Library
