explicitly referring to psychology The second part considers psychology in terms of the German Enlightenment including Kant's rejection of psychology as a science The third part discusses how to understand Kierkegaard's psychology today calling attention to his continuing impact on modern psychology and modern science Kierkegaard's conception of psychology remains relevant for any discussion of the role of today's psychology In tracing psychology's evolution after Kant and Kierkegaard the author finds the discipline has followed two main paths The dominant path follows Kant's ideals about science while the other much narrower trail has its origin in Kierkegaard the Logische Untersuchungen I phenomenology has been conceived as a substratum of empirical psychology as a sphere comprising immanent descriptions of psychical mental processes a sphere comprising descriptions that so the immanence in question is understood are strictly confined within the bounds of internal experience It would seem that my protest against this conception has been of little avail and the added explanations which sharply pinpointed at least some chief points of difference either have not been understood or have been heedlessly pushed aside Thus the replies directed against my criticism of psychological method are also quite negative because they miss the straightforward sense of my presentation My criticism of psychological method did not at all deny the value of modern psychology did not at all disparage the experimental work done by eminent men Rather it laid bare certain in the literal sense radical defects of method upon the removal of which in my opinion must depend an elevation of psychology to a higher scientific level and an extraordinary amplification of its field of work Later an occasion will be found to say a few words about the unnecessary defences of psychology against my supposed attacks

Hegel's Philosophical Psychology Susanne Herrmann-Sinai, Lucia Ziglioli, 2016-03-31

Hegel's Philosophical Psychology draws attention to a largely overlooked piece of Hegel's philosophy his substantial and philosophically rich treatment of psychology at the end of the Philosophy of Subjective Spirit which itself belongs to his main work the Encyclopaedia of the Philosophical Sciences This volume makes the case that Hegel's approach to philosophy of mind as developed within this text can make an important contribution to current discussions about mind and subjectivity and can help clarify the notion of spirit Geist within Hegel's larger philosophical project Scholars from different schools of Hegelian thought provide a multifaceted overview of Hegel's Psychology Part I begins with an overview of Hegel's Philosophy of Subjective Spirit which outlines both its historical context and its systematic context within Hegel's philosophy of subjective spirit Parts II and III then investigate the individual chapters of the sections on psychology the theoretical mind and the practical and free mind The volume concludes by examining the challenges which Hegel s Psychology poses for contemporary epistemological debates and the philosophy of psychology Throughout the volume brings Hegel s views into dialogue with 20th and 21st century thinkers such as Bergson Bourdieu Brandom Chomsky Davidson Freud McDowell Sellars Wittgenstein and Wollheim Psychology as the Discipline of Interiority Jennifer M. Sandoval, John C. Knapp, 2017-02-03

Youth Nora Wiium, Laura Ferrer-Wreder, Jennifer E. Lansford, Lene Arnett Jensen, 2023-06-15 In this Research Topic our aim is to examine how personal resources related to competencies skills and self perception as well as environmental contextual and relational features of the social contexts of diverse youth directly or indirectly are important to mental health and psychological well being As previous research on young people has mainly focused on youth s weaknesses rather than their strengths our use of Positive Youth Development PYD in working with culturally diverse youth and their well being in this Research Topic is novel We invite contributions from researchers that were initially presented their papers in a meeting that was held by research partners of the Cross National Project on Positive Youth Development CN PYD and who represent an international and multidisciplinary panel of experts on PYD The CN PYD was initiated in 2014 at the University of Bergen and has an ongoing data collection that involves approximately 10 000 minority and majority youth and emerging adults ages 16 to 29 living in Africa Asia Australia Europe New Zealand and South America CN PYD uses a strengths based approach to the conceptualization of youth as resources and agentic which is in opposition to the view of the developmental period of adolescence as being a period inherently fraught with problems and risks The goal of the cross national project is to assess personal strengths and contextual resources considering how these resources come together to facilitate youth thriving and to document how young people make positive and valued contributions to themselves and others We also advance research on the complex interplay between personal and contextual resources and their connections with risk behaviors and problems in essence taking a perspective of the whole child both in terms of strengths and problems
