Laurillard,2013-06-19 Teaching is changing It is no longer simply about passing on knowledge to the next generation Teachers in the twenty first century in all educational sectors have to cope with an ever changing cultural and technological environment Teaching is now a design science Like other design professionals architects engineers programmers teachers have to work out creative and evidence based ways of improving what they do Yet teaching is not treated as a design profession Every day teachers design and test new ways of teaching using learning technology to help their students Sadly their discoveries often remain local By representing and communicating their best ideas as structured pedagogical patterns teachers could develop this vital professional knowledge collectively Teacher professional development has not embedded in the teacher s everyday role the idea that they could discover something worth communicating to other teachers or build on each others ideas Could the culture change From this unique perspective on the nature of teaching Diana Laurillard argues that a twenty first century education system needs teachers who work collaboratively to design effective and innovative teaching The SAGE Handbook of Gender and Education Christine Skelton,Becky Francis,Lisa Smulyan,2006-10-23

The Handbook of Gender and Education brings together leading scholars on gender and education to provide an up to date and broad ranging guide to the field It is a comprehensive overview of different theoretical positions on equity issues in schools The contributions cover all sectors of education from early years to higher education curriculum subjects methodological and theoretical perspectives and gender identities in education Each chapter reviews syntheses and provides a critical interrogation of key contemporary themes in education This approach ensures that the book will be an indispensable source of reference for a wide range of readers students academics and practitioners The first section of the Handbook Gender Theory and Methodology outlines the various feminist perspectives on researching and exploring gender and education The section critiques the notion of gender as a category in educational research and considers recent trends evident especially in the gender and underachievement debates to locate gender difference solely within biology This section provides the broad background upon which the issues and debates in the other sections can be situated Section two Gender and Education considers the differing ways in which gender has been shown to impact upon the opportunities and experiences of pupils students teachers and other adults in the different sectors of education It also includes a chapter on single sex schooling Section three Gender and School Subjects comprises chapters that cover gender issues within the teaching and learning of particular school subjects for example maths literacy and science It also includes topics such as sex education and assessment The chapters in section four Gender identity and educational sites address up to date issues which have a long history in terms of explorations into gender and educational opportunities. More recent inclusions in the debates such as disability, sexuality and masculinities are discussed alongside the more traditional concerns of race, social class and femininities. The final section, Working in Schools and Colleges, illuminates the working lives of teachers and academics. The chapters cover such topics as school culture, career progression and development and the gendered identities of professionals within educational institutions. The contributors to this book have been selected by the editors as authorities in their specific area of gender and education and are drawn from the international scholarly community.

Education in a Catholic Perspective John Sullivan, 2016-04-29

A distance is opening up between Catholic education and the rich intellectual heritage of the Catholic Church. Education in a Catholic Perspective explores Catholic philosophical and theological foundations for both education per se and for Catholic education in particular. With contributions spanning the theological foundations of Catholic education, the interplay of theology and education and discussions of the social and missional dimensions of education, this book will be of considerable interest to educators and students of Catholic education, to academics in the fields of applied theology and philosophy and to those with an interest in the foundations of education.
