biography by Neil Powell looks at the music the life and the legacy of the greatest British composer of the twentieth century Benjamin Britten was born on November 22 1913 in the East Suffolk town of Lowestoft Displaying a passion and proficiency for music at an early age to the delight of his mother Edith a talented amateur musician herself he began composing music when he was only five years old After studying at the Royal College of Music Britten went on to write documentary scores for the General Post Office Film Unit where he met and collaborated with the poet W H Auden Of more lasting importance was Britten's introduction in 1937 to the tenor Peter Pears who was to become the inspirational center of his emotional and musical life Their partnership lasted nearly four decades during a dangerous time when homosexuality was illegal in England Conscientious objectors Britten and Pears followed Auden to America before the war began in 1939 While there they joined the extraordinary Brooklyn ménage of George Davis Louis MacNeice and Paul Bowles Eventually intense homesickness provoked in part by George Crabbe's poem Peter Grimes drove the pair home to East Anglia in 1942 and gave Britten the inspiration for his finest opera Throughout his career Britten did not want modern music to be just for the cultured few and instead always composed his music to be listenable to The shared quotidian lives of Britten and Pears unfold in this intimate biography and the story of two men who created a truly remarkable legacy Roy Fuller Neil Powell,1995 When Roy Fuller died in 1991 there was general agreement he was among the finest poets of his time a novelist of importance a man whose multi-stranded career literary cultural professional was exemplary And he had been undervalued he never quite in his self-deprecating phrase caught on Uncommon Readers Christopher J. Knight,2003-01-01 Impressive in scope and erudition Christopher Knight's Uncommon Readers focuses on three critics whose voices mixing eloquence with pugnacity stand out as among the most notable independent critics working during the last half century The critics are Denis Donoghue Frank Kermode and George Steiner and their independence a striking characteristic in a time of corporate criticism is reflective of both their backgrounds Donoghue's Catholic upbringing in Protestant ruled Northern Ireland Kermode's Marxist beginnings and Steiner's Jewish upbringing in pre-Holocaust Europe and their temperaments Each represents a party of one a fact that has on the one hand made them the object of the occasional vituperative dismissal and on the other contributed to their influence and remarkable longevity Since the 1950s Steiner Donoghue and Kermode have each maintained a highly public profile regularly contributing to such influential publications as Encounter New Yorker New York Review of Books Times Literary Supplement and the London Review of Books This aspect of their work receives particular attention in Uncommon Readers for it illustrates a renewed interest in the role of the public critic especially in relation to the genre of the literary review essay and signals a sustained conversation with an educated public namely the common reader Knight makes the argument for the review essay as a serious and still viable genre and he examines the three critics in light of this assumption He expounds upon the critics' separate interests Kermode's identification with discussions of canonicity Steiner's with cultural politics and Donoghue's with the persistent claims of the imagination while also revealing the ways in which their work often reflects theological interests Lastly he attempts to adjudicate some of the conflicts that have arisen between these critics and other literary theorists especially the post-structuralists and to discuss the question of whether it is still possible for critics to work independently Original and deliberative Uncommon Readers presents a renewed defense of the tradition of the common reader From the Joke Shop Roy Fuller,1975 International Who's Who in Poetry 2005 Europa Publications,2004-08-02 The 13th edition of the International Who's Who in Poetry is a unique and comprehensive guide to the leading lights and freshest talent in poetry today Containing biographies of more than 4 000 contemporary poets world
