Farewell to Visual Studies James Elkins, Gustav Frank, Sunil Manghani, 2015-10-28 Each of the five volumes in the Stone Art Theory Institutes series brings together a range of scholars who are not always directly familiar with one another's work. The outcome of each of these convergences is an extensive and unpredictable conversation on knotty and provocative issues about art. This fifth and final volume in the series focuses on the identity, nature and future of visual studies, discussing critical questions about its history, objects and methods. The contributors question the canon of literature of visual studies and the place of visual studies with relation to theories of vision, visuality, epistemology, politics and art history, giving voice to a variety of inter and transdisciplinary perspectives. Rather than dismissing visual studies as its provocative title might suggest, this volume aims to engage a critical discussion of the state of visual studies today, how it might move forward and what it might leave behind to evolve in productive ways. The contributors are Emmanuel Alloa, Nell Andrew, Linda Bezub, Ruben Martin, A. Berger, Hans Dam Christensen, Isabelle Decobecq, Bernhard J. Dotzler, Johanna Drucker, James Elkins, Michele Emmer, Yolaine Escande, Gustav Frank, Theodore Gracyk, Asbjørn Grønstad, Stephan Günzel, Charles W. Haxthausen, Miguel Hernández Navarro, Tom Holert, K. van Kesteren, Charlotte Klonk, Tirza True Latimer, Mark Linder, Sunil Manghani, Anna Notaro, Julia Orell, Mark Reinhardt, Vanessa R. Schwartz, Bernd Stiegler, Yvind Vignès, Sjoukje van der Meulen, Terri Weissman, Lisa Zaher and Marta Zarzycka.

The Geometry of Christian Contemplation David Albertson, 2025-05-16 The writings of ancient and medieval Christian mystics were rediscovered in the twentieth century and today they are read more widely than ever before. But do modern assumptions about religious experience influence how we hear those premodern voices? Do we do them justice by thinking of mysticism as interior and ineffable? Or can mystical experience intersect with the natural environment and indeed the cosmos which science calculates with precise quantities? David Albertson's The Geometry of Christian Contemplation Measure without Measure suggests a fresh approach to the history of mystical theology that is oriented toward exteriority more than interiority and toward the measurable world outside more than the invisible world within. The ancient Greek philosopher Plotinus had taught contemplatives to close their eyes and withdraw into the soul. Most Christians followed his directions but others dissented. In three critical episodes an alternative model of Christian contemplation began to emerge from Dionysius the Areopagite to the Byzantine monks John of Damascus and Theodore the Studite to eccentric humanists in medieval Paris. Together these episodes add up to a very different theological aesthetics, one that can enliven the modern study of mysticism and correct some of its imbalances. For in the centuries before the scientific revolution and the secularization of nature, Christians still saw God in the exterior world, not only the interior soul. God was not an ineffable and formless Absolute, immeasurable as the soul but an infinite Measure who leaves behind geometrical traces in the figures of the world. The God who became a human body in the Incarnation not only entered time and matter but also spatial extension and with it the conditions of measure: points, lines, curves, shapes, planes, dimensions and magnitudes. Today the wisdom of this counter tradition can strengthen the study of mysticism not only by supplementing our contemporary fascination with negative theology by redefining what it means to name God positively but by suggesting a new connection between Christian mysticism and the hyper measured hyper technologized world that surrounds us Postdigital Aesthetics D. Berry,M. Dieter,2015-05-26 Postdigital Aesthetics is a contribution to questions raised by our newly computational everyday lives and the aesthetics which reflect both the postdigital nature of this age but also critical perspectives of a post internet world

TRANSPOSITIONES 2024 Vol. 3, Issue 2: Queer Animalities Gabriela Jarzębowska,Justyna Schollenberger,2024-10-07 This issue explores two distinct yet deeply interconnected areas of academic debate animal studies and queer studies The concept of queer ecology has gained a growing interest in the academia highlighting the importance of intersectional understanding of ecological multi species and sexual exclusions and entanglements The authors gathered in this issue engage with the connections between animalities and queerness in a way that casts a new light on these concepts They do so in a variety of ways in which entanglements between them may occur while providing in depth theoretical analyses of what implications arise from bringing them under one umbrella Women Filmmakers and the Visual Politics of Transnational China in the #MeToo Era Gina Marchetti,2025-10-01 Manoeuvring around mainland China s censors and pushing back against threats of lawsuits online harassment and physical violence MeToo activists shed a particularly harsh light on the treatment of women in the cinema and entertainment industries Focusing on films from the People s Republic of China Hong Kong Taiwan and the Chinese diaspora this book considers how female directors shape Chinese visual politics through the depiction of the look the stare the leer the glare the glimpse the glance the queer and the oppositional gaze in fiction and documentary filmmaking In the years leading up to and following in the wake of MeToo these cosmopolitan women filmmakers offer innovative angles on body image reproduction romance family relations gender identity generational differences female sexuality sexual violence sex work labor migration career options minority experiences media access feminist activism and political rights within the rapidly changing Chinese cultural orbit Digital Childhoods Susan J. Danby,Marilyn Fler,Christina Davidson,Maria Hatzigianni,2018-04-03 This book highlights the multiple ways that digital technologies are being used in everyday contexts at home and school in communities and across diverse activities from play to web searching to talking to family members who are far away The book helps readers understand the diverse practices employed as children make connections with digital technologies in their everyday experiences In addition the book employs a framework that helps readers easily access major themes at a glance and also showcases the diversity of ideas and theorisations that underpin the respective chapters In this way each chapter stands alone in making a specific contribution and at the same time makes explicit its connections to the broader themes of digital technologies in children s everyday lives The concept of digital childhood presented here goes beyond a sociological reading of the everyday lives of children and their families and reflects the various contexts in which children engage such as preschools and childcare centres      The Foxite Whigs and Visual Culture, 1780-1810 Callum D. Smith, 2025-08-22 This book offers a comprehensive exploration of the intricate relationship between radicalism and sociability in late Georgian parliamentary and extra parliamentary politics focusing on the Foxite Whig faction Re evaluating the significance and tactical use of sociability and radicalism in late eighteenth and early nineteenth century British politics the book charts not only the rise and fall of a leading and neglected British political faction but through its interdisciplinary and thematic focus it seeks to intervene in the field and situate sociability as a key driver and facilitator of late Georgian politics By utilising original research into contemporary newspapers letters diaries legal records parliamentary accounts and especially political caricature the author offers a new methodological approach in the study of sociability and radicalism and presents original categorisations of contemporary sociability The book examines how sociability was strategically employed by the Foxite Whigs and argues for the existence of two primary forms of sociability insular and porous Insular sociability manifested itself through dining drinking to excess or gambling in a private setting with members of the same aristocratic or political order Porous sociability however was the extra parliamentary mechanism by which Fox and his faction tactically opened their insular Whig World to forge connections with the lower orders French revolutionary leaders popular radicals and Irish rebels The author provides a detailed analysis of Foxite sociability within the context of distinct radical themes including plebeian radicalism French Revolutionary radicalism and Irish radicalism Beyond its innovative methodological approach to sociability studies the book foregrounds visual culture as a lens through which to study and enter the wordless experience of the eighteenth century and to view the themes of sociability and radicalism from within In doing so the it reveals the inconsequential or informal dynamics of the Foxites political and extra parliamentary career from their origin in c 1780 to their decline in the early nineteenth century      British Film Institute Film Classics Rob White, Edward Buscombe, 2003      A Million Pictures

On Arrows Laurent Stalder, 2025-01-21 A series of original essays on the history of British postwar architecture through the concept of performance and the ubiquitous but elusive image of the arrow In the 1950s the figure of the arrow had a strange kind of ubiquity in architectural drawings publications and advertisements symbolizing everything from the circulation of cold and warm air in a kitchen fridge to the flow of traffic in assorted New Towns Twenty five years earlier there were barely any arrows within architectural publications and 15 years later they had all but disappeared In On Arrows Laurent Stalder looks back at the near past to trace the idea of performance in architecture by following this pervasive yet relatively unnoticed figure within the history of British architecture During its short intense period of use the arrow pointed beyond any one singular author typology or scale to the operative dimension of architecture and its environments working both as an appropriate representational technique and a concrete tool for design Stalder uses the arrow to move through the different dimensions of performance mapping out the changing set of constellations that made up postwar British architecture and its environments the constructive aspects structural properties infrastructural innovations spatial challenges as well as their aesthetic and practical consequences It is the arrow he writes that brings together debates from within different disciplines from building physics to sociology structural design and historiography inscribed as they are in the materials spaces and buildings that are all too often considered in isolation from one another

The Media, Animal Conservation and Environmental Education John Blewitt, 2013-10-31 Natural History filmmaking has a long history

but the generic boundaries between it and environmental and conservation filmmaking are blurred Nature environment and animal imagery has been a mainstay of television campaigning organisations and conservation bodies from Greenpeace to the Sierra Club with vibrant images being used effectively on posters leaflets and postcards and in coffee table books media releases short films and viral emails to educate and inform the general public However critics suggest that wildlife film and photography frequently convey a false image of the state of the world's flora and fauna The environmental educator David Orr once remarked that all education is environmental education and it is possible to see all image based communication in the same way The Media Animal Conservation and Environmental Education has contributions from filmmakers photographers researchers and academics from across the globe It explores the various ways in which film television and video are and can be used by conservationists and educators to encourage both a greater awareness of environmental and conservation issues and practical action designed to help endangered species This book is based on a special issue of the journal Environmental Education Research

The Gender of Suicide Katrina Jaworski, 2016-03-09 Drawing on diverse theoretical and textual sources The Gender of Suicide presents a critical study of the ways in which contemporary society understands suicide exploring suicide across a range of key expert bodies of knowledge With attention to Durkheim's founding study of suicide as well as discourses within sociology law medicine psychology knowledge and newsprint media this book demonstrates that suicide cannot be understood without understanding how gender shapes it and without giving explicit attention to the manner in which prevailing claims privilege some interpretations and experiences of suicide above others Revealing the masculine and masculinist terms in which our current knowledge of suicide is constructed The Gender of Suicide explores the relationship between our grasp of suicide and problematic ideas connected to the body agency violence race and sexuality As such it will appeal to sociologists and social theorists as well as scholars of cultural studies philosophy law and psychology

Art, History, and Postwar Fiction Kevin Brazil, 2018-10-24 Art History and Postwar Fiction explores the ways in which novelists responded to the visual arts from the aftermath of the Second World War to the present day If art had long served as a foil to enable novelists to reflect on their craft this book argues that in the postwar period novelists turned to the visual arts to develop new ways of conceptualizing the relationship between literature and history The sense that the novel was becalmed in the end of history was pervasive in the postwar decades In seeming to bring modernism to a climax whilst repeating its foundational gestures visual art also raised questions about the relationship between continuity and change in the development of art In chapters on Samuel Beckett William Gaddis John Berger and W G Sebald and shorter discussions of writers like Doris Lessing Kathy Acker and Teju Cole this book shows that writing about art was often a means of commenting on historical developments of the period the Cold War the New Left the legacy of the Holocaust Furthermore it argues that forms of postwar visual art from abstraction to the readymade offered novelists ways of thinking about the relationship between form and history that went beyond models of reflection or determination By doing so this book also argues that attention to interactions between literature and art can provide critics with new ways to think about the relationship between literature and history beyond reductive oppositions between formalism and historicism autonomy and context
